New Work Boycott Looms In S. Africa

Outlawed Negro Group Makes Four Demands

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The outlawed African National Congress called on Negroes Thursday to boycott work again next week in the fight against the government's racial policies.

Trouble could come from revival of the work boycott, a powerful economic weapon in this land where 10 million Negroes provide most of the labor for the farms, factories and homes of three million whites.

The first phases of the stay-at-home movement, crushed by police raids on African settlements last week, showed the nation's vulnerability. Industry slowed. Meat supplies dwindled. Housework suffered.

Four Demands Made

Pamphlets signed by the emergency committee of the African National Congress and circulated throughout the African settlements of Johannesburg asked all Negroes to join in a one-week work boycott starting next Monday.

The pamphlets made four major demands as "our answer to the savage attack the government has made on us and our leaders" in efforts to quell the racial turmoil.

The demands:

1. "Abolish the passes, which the law requires that all Negroes carry."
2. "Free our leaders."
3. "End the state of emergency."
4. "Lift the ban on our organization."

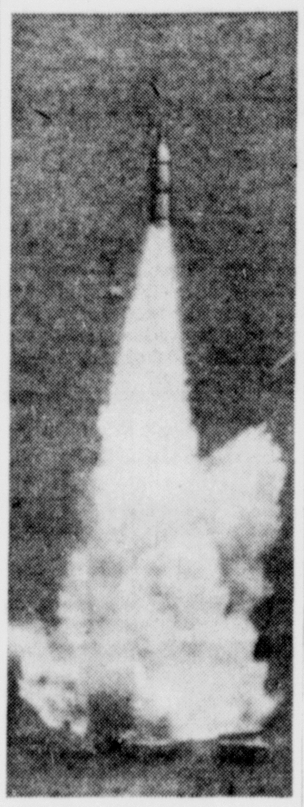
Negro Leader On Trial

President Mangaliso Sobukwe of the militant Pan-Africanist Congress which is also outlawed, told a Johannesburg court his organization aims at government of Africans by the Africans for the Africans and the complete overthrow of white domination. Sobukwe and 22 aides are on trial on a charge of inciting Africans to disobey the pass law.

The government's information office in Cape Town announced that 86 Africans—83 civilians and 3 Negro policemen—were killed in the racial strife between March 21 and April 9. That covers the period between the controversial Sharpeville shooting and the unsuccessful attempt of a white farmer last Saturday to kill Verwoerd. The office said 391 Africans and 62 white persons were wounded.



UP SHE GOES — A Polaris missile, propelled by compressed air out of an underwater launch tube, begins a powered flight under the impetus of its first stage rocket engine in a test off San Clemente Island, Calif., yesterday. The missile was driven upward for 1,800 feet during the five seconds the engine burned; then it fell back into the sea. (AP Photofax)

U.S. Considers Arming NATO With Polaris

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is giving thought to arming the North Atlantic Alliance with its promising submarine-launched Polaris missile.

A State Department spokesman said Thursday discussions of this possibility began at the Atlantic Pact defense meeting in Paris two weeks ago. He stressed the talks are in a very early stage.

Word of this came a day after Britain junked a major part of its military rocket program and decided to rely on the United States for missiles which would be fired from mobile rather than more vulnerable fixed bases.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said Britain—which already has been furnished 60 U. S. land-based intermediate-range ballistic missiles—has indicated it would like to get Polarises.

But White said British needs "would necessarily have to be considered in the light of" overall NATO needs.

If it was decided to go ahead, the Polaris rockets would be assigned to the high command of the alliance. This command would deploy them where it thought they would be most effective.

The nuclear warheads would be kept under U. S. control, but White said he understands Britain—an atomic power in its own right — wants to build its own warheads.

The sketchy announcement left open the question of who would build the specially designed submarines to fire any Polarises handed over to NATO.

Most of the NATO nations are maritime powers, but nuclear-powered Polaris subs cost more than 100 million dollars each and there is doubt many could afford a sizable fleet of them.

Underwater Polaris Shot Successful

SAN CLEMENTE ISLAND, Calif. (AP)—The Navy Thursday fired a Polaris from an underwater launch tube in a test officers said brought the submarine missile closer to combat readiness.

It was the first time a Polaris had been fired successfully in an underwater launch. An attempt to do this last March 27 failed because of malfunction of external equipment.

The 28-foot-long bottle-shaped missile popped up above the ocean surface at 2:21 p.m. after a delay of more than three hours in the countdown.

Its solid fuel first-stage engine burned for five seconds as planned, driving the missile to a height of 1,800 feet. After a flight of 19 seconds the yellow bird then fell back into the ocean and disintegrated on impact some 500 feet away.

Navy officers said the test demonstrated the ability of Polaris to accomplish the transition from underwater launch to powered flight. They said it was a great forward step in the development of the missile scheduled for operational service aboard nuclear-powered submarines later this year.

Frank White, underwater launch project director, said the success of the shot brought closer the day when a live Polaris missile could be fired from a submarine. Latest live firings of the missile have been from surface ships.

Christmas, Airplane Pioneer, Dies At 94

NEW YORK (UPI) —Dr. William Whitney Christmas, 94, the third American ever to fly an airplane, died early Thursday in Bellevue Hospital of pneumonia following a pelvic fracture.

Christmas, an eminent scientist and contemporary of the Wright brothers, was credited with building and flying the first plane equipped with ailerons. He made this pioneering flight at Fairfax County, Virginia, in 1907 — four years after Wilbur and Orville Wright made man's first flight in a heavier-than-air craft.

Blast Injuries Fatal

BALTIMORE (AP)—An explosion and fire that wrecked five row houses March 23 claimed its first fatality Thursday.

Mrs. Emma Johnson, 47, one of four persons hurt in the disaster, died in Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Mother And Son Beaten To Death

CHATTAHOOCHEE, Fla. (AP) —The badly beaten bodies of a white mother and her 3-year-old son were found near here Thursday after an all-night search. A 4-year-old son had been clubbed on the head but was still alive.

They were in the family station wagon which had been driven into the woods about five miles from this north Florida town.

A Negro, Sy Dawson, about 50, who helped in the search for Maggie Mae Clayton, 36, and her children, was held for investigation. He denied any knowledge of the killings. No formal charges were filed.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Martin said there were indications the woman had been raped.

Dawson was taken first to Tallahassee, 50 miles east of here, then was moved to an undisclosed jail for safekeeping. The Negro, a well-digger, has only one leg and walks with crutches.

Martin said the surviving boy, Alva, told him that "Sy beat me and mama."

New System Promises To Erase Air Collisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army said Thursday it has designed a low-cost radio apparatus that promises to eliminate 99 per cent of all air collisions.

Three Ordnance Corps scientists studied the feasibility of various collision-avoidance ideas and came up with one which they said could pave the way for complete automation of flight control.

One of the scientists, M.D. Reed of the Diamond Ordnance Fuse Laboratories here, said the concept still exists only on paper. He said his group had no funds to build a working model but is convinced the idea is entirely practical.

The proposed system, according to the Army report, would have avoided the Grand Canyon collision of two airliners which claimed 128 lives in June 1956.

In addition to warning pilots of collision hazards, the system would be designed to perform navigation and traffic control jobs.

Reed and his colleagues, R. T. Fitzgerald and H. C. Brown, said the apparatus would be able to operate in all types of weather.

After flashing a warning to the pilot, the system would indicate the proper manuever to avoid a collision. The report said any pilot who ignored a warning and was involved in a near-miss would be known at once to traffic controllers on the ground and could be disciplined.

West United On German, Arms Issues

Big 3 Ministers End Presummit Harmony Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Britain Thursday sidetracked French pleas they join the Soviet Union in stepping up economic aid and cutting back weapons shipments to underdeveloped countries.

Foreign ministers of the Big Three Western Allies disagreed on the issues as they wound up a presummit harmony conference.

The dispute somewhat dulled their success in forging an otherwise solid front on the Berlin-German and disarmament problems their chiefs will discuss with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at next month's summit conference in Paris.

Final Statement Issued

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter teamed with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd to block approval of the French proposal advanced at the last session by French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

After some discussion, all three agreed to hand over the controversial proposition, favored by French President Charles de Gaulle, to a committee of Allied diplomats for further study.

Allied spokesmen said disagreement on what they called fringe issues was unimportant compared to their success in bridging differences on key issues the West will discuss with Khrushchev.

Agreements Reached

In previ..s sessions the foreign ministers had unanimously agreed to recommend that their chiefs:

1. Press the Soviet Union to negotiate a single German peace treaty based on a free vote by the 70 million Germans in the Western and the Communist sectors of the divided land.

2. Search for a stopgap settlement of their Berlin dispute with the U.S.S.R. if, as seems likely, the Kremlin rejects a solution within the framework of German unity.

3. Offer the Soviet Union "quickie" partial disarmament measures as a means of reducing world tension, if the Soviet Union continues to spurn their sweeping plan for controlling nuclear weapons, missiles and conventional forces.

4. Meet in Paris May 14 with West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for a final strategy huddle before the summit conference begins.

Zwicker Will Retire May 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a key figure in the Army-McCarthy hearings of 1953, will retire from active duty May 1.

Zwicker, 57 this Sunday, was once described by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) as "unfit to wear the uniform." That heated outburst by McCarthy came during hearings of a Senate Investigating Committee which he headed.

At the time, McCarthy was hunting Communists in government and elsewhere. He accused the Army of "coddling" Communists.

Zwicker was called as a witness during the hearings, and a Senate committee later recommended censure of McCarthy for "intemperate abuse" of the general.

Zwicker is presently commander of the 20th Army Corps which is quartered at Ft. Hayes here.

Zwicker, was commander at Camp Kilmer, N. J., when he was called before McCarthy's committee.

McCarthy's clash with Zwicker centered around the promotion and eventual honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, a dentist at Camp Kilmer, who McCarthy labeled a "Fifth Amendment Communist." Peress had refused to answer questions about communism in an appearance before McCarthy's committee.

Kidnaped Boy Restored To Father

$8,146,167,400 Money Bill Gets House Unit OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $8,146,167,400 money bill carrying funds for new federal buildings in 18 cities, among other things, cleared the House Appropriations Committee Thursday.

It will be considered next week by the House.

Despite a $270,729,600 cut from appropriations requested by President Eisenhower, the measure provides $1,108,360,200 more than was provided this year for more than a score of government agencies.

The largest allotment was $5,323,587,000 for the Veterans Administration, which had requested $5,397,976,000. Funds approved included $39,100,000 for construction of hospital and domiciliary facilities and $3,800,000,000 for pension and compensation payments.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration was given $876,015,000 of the $915,000,000 it wanted, including more than 900 new jobs and authority to transfer to its own payrolls an estimated 5,400 employes now financed in the army's budget.

The Federal Aviation Agency request for $713,000,000 was trimmed to $671,925,000, the funds approved including $80,000,000 for grants to states and cities for airport construction.

On the President's over-all request for 7,900 new jobs, the committee approved 4,700 spread among the various agencies.

Funds for new government buildings in 18 locations were included in the $462,537,500 earmarked for the General Services Administration. This was $41,454,500 less than the President had requested.

The 18: Camden, Ark.; San Francisco; Hartford, Conn.; Miami, Fla.; Thomasville, Ga.; Jacman, Maine; Van Buren, Maine; Vanceboro, Maine; Detroit; Sweetgrass, Mont.; Albuquerque, N.M.; Bismarck, N. D.; Toledo, Ohio; Philadelphia; Memphis, Tenn.; El Paso, Tex.; Dayton, Wash., and Washington, D.C.

Actor Gary Cooper Undergoes Surgery

BOSTON (UPI) — Actor Gary Cooper, 58, underwent a prostatectomy at Massachusetts General Hospital Thursday.

Dr. Dean A. Clark, general director of the hospital, said the surgery was successful and that the two-time Academy Award winner was doing well. Dr. Clark said the surgery was necessary because of an enlarged prostate gland.

Cooper was admitted to the hospital Tuesday.

Supersonic Sled Kills Employe At Test Station

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (UPI)—A civilian employe at the China Lake naval ordnance test station was struck and killed by a supersonic test sled travelling perhaps up to 2,500 miles an hour, the Navy reported Thursday.

The victim was identified as Jesse A. Thomas, 59, who was bent over the sled track, apparently not hearing a warning signal, when the unmanned vehicle hit him at a speed in excess of sound.

The sled ran more than a mile after striking Thomas, officers said.

Soviets Spurn Disarm Offer

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union slammed the door Thursday on a fresh Western bid to get the 10-nation disarmament conference down to brass tacks.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin rejected offhand a U. S. offer to negotiate a quick ban on production of fissionable materials for military purposes.

Under the Western plan, the ban was to be followed by gradual dismantling of existing nuclear warheads and conversion of their atomic charges to exclusively peaceful uses.

U. S. Ambassador Fredrick M. Eaton introduced the proposal in a final Western attempt to break the disarmament deadlock before the conference adjourns for Easter. He coupled it with an offer to let Soviet inspectors roam freely in U. S. nuclear materials plants in return for Western inspection of similar Soviet plants.

Zorin brushed it all off by saying Eaton's proposal "implies more control than disarmament."

Eaton told the meeting the Western plan was introduced "in the hope that we might be able to pass beyond generalities and move into the real purpose of our conference."

Pope Washes Feet Of 13 In Rebuke To Intolerance

ROME (AP)—Pope John XXIII washed and kissed the feet of 13 student priests in a ritual highlighting Holy Thursday ceremonies in Rome and Vatican City.

For the first time in the 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic Church, the young priests included African Negroes, a Japanese, West Indians and a Polynesian.

Thousands thronged Rome's basilica of St. John Lateran—the Pope's See as bishop of Rome—for the ceremony. They were silent as the 78-year-old supreme pontiff bent low, a towel around his waist, washed, dried and then kissed the right foot of each of the young priests.

Twenty-six cardinals, numerous archbishops and bishops and thousands of pilgrims from many lands were in the packed basilica. The pontiff's action commemorated Christ's washing of the feet of his apostles and the Last Supper, when He instituted the sacrament of the Holy Eucharist.

Vatican sources said Pope John chose this means of rebuking current racial intolerance.

His decision to wash the feet of 13 young priests instead of 12—the number of the apostles—stems to Gregory the Great. That Pope had washed the feet of 12 beggars—then the custom—and was surprised to note that a 13th person waited. Then, according to legend, the Pope realized that the 13th was Jesus Himself and bent to wash His feet.

Similar rituals were being observed at the Vatican and in many of Rome's nearly 300 churches.

Family Easter Plans Are Made By Eisenhowers

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower made plans Thursday for a family observance of Easter in the midst of a languid, low-pressure vacation in the southern springtime.

Eisenhower put in a couple of hours at his temporary White House office signing bills, accepting a resignation and taking care of odds and ends of routine.

Then he started on his fourth round of golf in four days at the Augusta National Golf Club.

The only bill of major substance provided an additional $12,200,000 to be pumped into Project Mercury—the man in space project—in the next 2½ months.

The resignation was that of William J. Holaday as chairman of a liaison committee which was established to promote closer cooperation on space and missile development between civilian and military agencies of the government.

In accepting the resignation, effective April 30, Eisenhower told Holaday he had helped solve in this field "many of the intricate problems for which no precedents existed." Holaday noted that legislation awaiting action in Congress would dissolve the liaison committee.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower have arranged to attend Easter services Sunday at Reid Memorial Presbyterian church, their customary place of worship in Augusta.

The First Lady was getting ready for the Eisenhower grandchildren Wednesday, touring a suburban store in quest of candy eggs and Easter baskets.

Parliament Recess

LONDON (AP)—Parliament adjourned Thursday for the Easter recess. It will reconvene April 26.

Boy Found Abandoned Outside Bar

Father Discloses He Paid Ransom But Not How Much

PARIS, Friday (UPI) — Little Eric Peugeot was released alive and well by his kidnapers less than three blocks from home Friday after his wealthy parents had paid an undisclosed ransom for his return. The kidnapers had demanded $100,000.

The 4½-year-old boy, son of Roland Peugeot, vice-president of an automobile and steel empire, was found weeping on a sidewalk in front of a bar across the Seine River from the Eiffel Tower. His kidnapers had fled.

The boy had been held for more than two days. He was brought into the bar by a man who said he had found him on the sidewalk. The tavern patrons broke into cheers when little blond Eric blurted his name.

"I'm Eric Peugeot," he said.

The father told United Press International he had paid a ransom for the boy's return. But said he had promised the kidnapers not to disclose the amount. Even after his son was safely in his arms he kept his pledge not to reveal how much ransom was paid.

Father "Obliged To Pay"

The kidnapers who seized the boy Tuesday afternoon from the plush Saint Cloud Country Club in suburban Paris had demanded a $100,000 ransom for his return in a note which called Eric's parents members of the "filthy rich."

After recovering his son in a tearful reunion at a police station, the father said, "I was obliged to pay money to the kidnapers, but I cannot tell you how much because I promised them I would keep all our dealings a secret."

"It was five minutes before 1 o'clock. A man came in holding a child by the hand. The child was blond, dressed in a red sweater and gray shorts.

"I thought of little Eric immediately, so I looked at the picture in the newspaper which was beside me and I recognized him positively."

"The man holding the child by the hand also looked at the newspaper. Then all the customers crowded around the little boy, asking him what his name was.

Explosion Of Joy

"He seemed a little bothered by it all, but he answered, "'I'm Eric Peugeot.'

"And there was an explosion of real joy in the bar. Everyone patted him on the head, and asked him if he had been treated all right. Eric nodded his head 'yes' to all the questions."

The man who had led Eric inside explained that he had found him on the sidewalk in front of the bar, crying.

He had asked the boy what was wrong, he said, and the child said he had been brought there in an automobile and left by two men.

The elder Peugeot, vice president of the 300-million dollar - a-year Peugeot automobile enterprises, was prepared to pay the $100,000 ransom under any terms the kidnapers proposed. But more than 48 hours had passed since the child was seized at the exclusive Saint Cloud Country Club in suburban Paris Tuesday without any word from the abductors as to how to deliver the ransom.

The kidnapers had left a note demanding that the ransom somehow be paid and the police not notified on pain of death for little Eric.

The search for the kidnaped child had ranged from Italy to the Brittany coast of France on reports that he had been seen there. But apparently his kidnapers never took him out of Paris.

Ex-President Pension Funds Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Eisenhower leaves office next January, the House Appropriations Committee wants to be sure his pension money is ready.

It recommended in a catch-all money bill Thursday an appropriation of $250,000 for pensions and office facilities allowed for three former presidents and two widows of former presidents under a law enacted several years ago.

Currently only two men are eligible for the $25,000 annual pension and $50,000 annual office allowance, while widows of two former presidents are eligible for $10,000 yearly pensions. The former presidents are Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman. The widows are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Engineer Emerges After Week's Stay In Sealed Capsule; Test Hailed By AF

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The American-manned space flight effort took another forward step Thursday when an engineer emerged from seven days and nights in a sealed capsule where his oxygen supply came entirely from a "miraculous chemical."

The test, the Air Force said, also marked the longest sustained trial in a manned capsule of other self-contained, life-sustaining equipment, including a process enabling a man to reuse the water from his own exhaled breath and urine for drinking water.

Hailing the trial as an important step toward the objective of maintaining men for indefinite periods in space, the Air Force said that the system including seven different devices "is believed to be the first complete one of its type ever to be tested."

The system was engineered, the Air Force said, to operate in the weightless, airless environment of orbital flight. Under weightlessness or "zero gravity" conditions, for example, body waste and food and drink would float inside the space cabin unless means were provided to control them.

While the weightless state cannot be duplicated on earth, scientists of the project said the equipment was all based on "zero gravity principles," and that they planned in the near future to test the equipment in rockets, and still later with a man abroad.

At 11 a.m. the land-locked spaceman—Courtney A. Mezger, 40, of Springfield, Ohio, emerged from the airtight capsule which resembled the nose cone of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

Grinning broadly from behind a seven-day growth of beard, and reporting he was "feeling fine," he kissed his wife and seven of his eight children. Then, after a quick medical check during which Air Force doctors pronounced him okay, he told newsmen this story:

He experienced no real discomfort "except a slight backache from lack of exercise" in his cone-shaped capsule which was about nine feet tall and measured about seven feet in diameter at its base.

Just before he emerged, he took a swig of water, distilled from his own urine, and found "it tasted better than other ordinary water that had been stored aboard for the past week."

He said, however, that because of orders before hand, he drank only about six ounces in all of the urine-derived water during his week aboard.

Col. John Stapp, chief of the aerospace medical laboratory of the Wright Air Development Division, indicating that he himself had also sampled urine-derived water of the same type, grinned to reporters: "It doesn't taste any worse than some of the things you get at cocktail parties."

'Deterioration' Of Rosewood School Noted

BALTIMORE (AP)—The state's Committee on Medical Care criticized sharply Thursday the Rosewood State Training School and recommended speedy construction of an institution for 1,000 mentally retarded children near Washington.

The committee's report released by Gov. Tawes said that Rosewood at Owings Mills in Baltimore County has "deteriorated" since it was surveyed two years ago.

The committee reported that many of its recommendations at that time have "not been implemented" even though the institution was described as "seriously deficient."

The school is under administration of the Department of Mental Hygiene. The Committee on Medical Care suggested it might be better under the Department of Health.

It strongly advised in any event closer coordination among the departments of health, education and mental hygiene on expansion of services for mentally retarded children.

The need for a new 1,000 bed institution is critical, the report stated.

It also proposed planning for two more institutions in other sections of the state. However, it said these might not be necessary if day care centers proposed at Hagerstown or Frederick, Annapolis and Salisbury come up to expectations.

The committee urged that the state and local departments of education take over the schools at institutions for the retarded.

Murder Conviction Is Reversed Again

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Thursday reversed for the second time the first-degree murder conviction of Johnny Brown, 38-year-old Negro, in the 1958 slaying of a Salisbury policeman.

The high court said the prosecuting attorney prejudiced the Dorchester County Circuit Court jury by reading part of the appeals court opinion in the first reversal of his murder conviction. In Brown's first appeal, the high court said the jurors were not properly questioned to determine any racial bias.

He was sentenced to die after both convictions for the killing of Officer Henry T. Stephens who was escorting Brown to the Salisbury police station after arresting him on charges of passing bogus checks.

Truman Counts Self Out As Dark Horse

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry S. Truman doesn't have any personal dark horse notions at the Democratic convention.

Asked by a reporter if he might be available in event of a deadlock over the presidential nomination, he said: "There's an old woman who keeps following me. Her name is Anno Domini, and she is going to count 76 on me this May.

"If she'd only turn the clock back 15 years!"

Thai Air Commander, 17 Others Die In Plane Crash

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — A royal Thai air force passenger plane crashed and burned Thursday on a fog-shrouded hill near Taipei's International Airport, killing the Thai air commander and 17 other persons.

The pilot had just radioed that everything was all right seconds before he plowed into the 1,000-foot tree covered hill that rises abruptly from the plains a mile from the Taipei Airport.

The control tower was radioing him at the time to turn right to avoid the hill but he did not get the message in time. When Mount Wu Tze loomed out of the mist it was too late.

The plane was returning to Bangkok following the bi-annual Pacific Air Force Commanders Conference in Formosa. The victims included air marshal Chalermkiat Watanangura, air commander since 1957, and his wife.

By nightfall all bodies had been recovered except for that of the 20-year-old daughter of a Thai diplomatic official and the 18-month-old daughter of a Chinese Nationalist diplomat assigned to the embassy in Bangkok.

Adlai Floored Twice But Not Counted Out

By ARTHUR EDSON

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) —In all the history of politics, it would be hard to match the career of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Twice he has run for the presidency. Twice he has been soundly beaten.

Normally in presidential politics nothing is so fatal as defeat. Maybe the candidate is floored by a lucky punch, but when he's counted out he's through for keeps.

Stevenson seems to be an exception.

He's 60 years old. He hasn't been in public office for eight years. Yet the Adlai Stevenson Fan Club is still faithfully in business.

For comparison: Whatever became of those who were so violently for Thomas Dewey, for Harold Stassen, for Estes Kefauver?

Well, Stevenson wound up a two-day stay in Virginia Wednesday, sticking to his statement that he neither seeks nor expects the Democratic party to nominate him for a third time.

But his speech at the University of Virginia Tuesday night sounded like that of a man who would be willing, if someone forced it on him. He must have been pleased that so many voters, despite his two lickings, loyally insist he's the ideal candidate.

You can spot a Stevenson fan easily. He will be standing under a small cloud of hope, faintly overcast with zistfulness. Without urging, he will advance this argument:

Stevenson ran against Dwight D. Eisenhower both times, which is something like running against George Washington.

A Stevenson fan states as an unquestioned fact what any neutral observer might find highly debatable: His tiger, he will say, could beat Vice President Richard M. Nixon into a hopeless pulp.

The problem is to get the man nominated. What would happen, the Stevenson fan asks, if the Democratic front-runner, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, should fall flat in the West Virginia primaries? Wouldn't that mean that Protestants won't vote for Kennedy, a Roman Catholic? And that Stevenson therefore will again be very much in the thinking?

Nor is this reasoning confined to the all-out Stevenson supporter.

Twenty-five or 30 political writers, none renowned for his devotion to nostalgia, made the trip here to cover Stevenson's speech.

Those who were with Stevenson the whole time found voters hurrying up to tell Stevenson they were still for him. They were a minority, of course. Even in 1952 and 1956 Stevenson couldn't carry Virginia.

If Stevenson should surmount the astronomical odds and win the nomination, he certainly will have done it the easy way.

NEW YORK (AP) — The seesawing stock market appears to be "a prisoner of a trading range" and will have to go through a consolidation stage before resuming its advance, financial experts said Wednesday.

W. E. Hutton & Co. noted that although last week's rally was encouraging and made people feel better, it lacked the follow-through to put the Dow Jones industrial average up through the 635-640 area.

"When one looks over several hundred charts showing the behavior of individual issues, he discovers a decidely mixed situation," Hutton says. "Some of the charts are good and others are bad but most of them are too neutral to read a definite interpretation.

"However, in spite of all the irregularity, the public is more friendly to the buying side. There is a better demand for buying ideas and more willingness to accept them."

"Although the business news is negative," says A.M. Kidder & Co., "we see no reason to change the opinion that the market will in due time resume its quiet and selective advance without too much damage to the price structure in the meantime."

E. F. Hutton & Co. says it expected a further retreat by the market and advises that "prudence suggests continued switching out of cyclical issues."

Auxiliary 1125 To Visit Handicapped Veterans

Delegates to the state convention were elected and plans for a trip to Baker VA Center were announced at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary 1125 of World War I Barracks Wednesday evening in the VFW home. Mrs. Ina Smith presided.

Mrs. Chloe Reynolds announced a trip to Ward 20-B at Baker VA Center, to take treats and visit with 27 handicapped World War I veterans. It will be made May 8. Anyone wishing to go is to be at the home at 10 a. m., when cars will leave.

A white satin memorial altar cloth, presented to Mrs. Reynolds, during her presidency, by Mrs. Marie Weipert, Baltimore, department secretary, in memory of her father and mother-in-law, was presented to the auxiliary.

Delegates were elected to the state convention, which will be June 3-5, at the Alexandria Hotel, Hagerstown, are Mrs. Myrtle Brode, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Helene Bujac, Mrs. Pearl Darling and Mrs. Catherine Wilson. Alternates are Mrs. Daisy Buskey, Mrs. Emily Miller, Mrs. Alice Lancaster, Mrs. Margaret Baker and Mrs. Betty Knipple. The group discussed a ham supper to be held April 21 at the VFW home from 5 until 7. Mrs. Bujac is chairman. A report was made of sick members.

A social hour followed with members of the barracks as guests. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Rosalie Everstine and Mrs. Buskey. Forty members attended.

Alumnae Hears Talk

Members of Cumberland Alumnae Chapter, Alpha Sigma Alpha, were entertained by Mrs. Beulah Montesant at her home in Frostburg. The hostess gave an illustrated talk of her South American trip and cruise on the SS. Brazil. She also displayed souvenirs.

During a brief business session the group discussed the constitution, by-laws and budget for next year.

The final meeting before the summer recess will be held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Kessell, Keyser, May 3.

Others present were Mrs. Robert Platt, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. Edgar Reynolds and Mrs. Harry Cornelius.

Rita Madden Entertained

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given by Mrs. William McCleary and Mrs. Joseph Kenney, in compliment to Miss Mary Rita Madden earlier in the week in St. Patrick's Social Center.

The marriage of Miss Madden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Madden, 194 North Centre Street, to Dan L. Beck, son of Mrs. Helen Bone, Wills Creek Avenue, and Marion Beck, Long Hill, will be performed Sunday at 2 p.m. in St. Patrick's Church, with Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny officiating.

Spring flowers, a pink parasol and wedding bells were used in the decorations. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. John J. Kenney, Mrs. Helen Monahan, Mrs. Mary Freyer and Miss Loretta Kenney. Sixty guests attended.

Book Group Discusses James Work

Novels and short stories written by Henry James, 1843-1916, were discussed by the Great Books Group of the Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. William A. Frailey, The Dingle. Mrs. William F. Durland was cohostess and Mrs. G. Morgan Smith was discussion leader.

Although Henry James was born in Albany, New York, and is classified as an American novelist, he lived most of his life in England and, shortly before his death, became a British subject. It is said that it was his ambition to write fiction in such a way that the reader would be unable to recognize whether he was an American writing about England or an Englishman writing about America.

This unfortunate ambiguity made many of his American readers feel that he was criticizing them by English standards, and English readers feel that he was ridiculing them. For this reason he did not enjoy great popularity during his lifetime, and it is only within recent years that James has been recognized as having achieved a cosmopolitan view without sacrificing his Americanism.

The favorite situation in most of his novels is the wealthy American and the problems encountered when he—or she—is exposed to the older, richer European culture. Many of the Europeans are impoverished aristocrats of taste and sensibility, imbued with the subtleties of European civilization. This is true in "The Ambassadors," which James considered his best novel; in "The Wings of the Dove," which the critics generally consider his best, in "Portrait of a Lady," and in others, such as "The American," "The Golden Bowl," and "Daisy Miller," all of which were briefly reviewed in the general discussion.

Henry James was a conscientious craftsman who never yielded to the temptation to give the public what it wanted. It was pointed out that he approached fiction from the standpoint of a scientist, analyzing his characters in their social relations, dissecting motives with minute care, and giving the thought to the reader with pertinent detail. His plots are very slowly unveiled. He shows an intense interest in the psychological effect of one character upon another and of the power of the supernatural, as portrayed in "The Turn of the Screw," which has always been one of his most popular works.

Members of the group who had read some of the short stories of Henry James felt that they were better than the novels because they were not so involved with long conversations and contemplations on motive. The consensus was that the current revival of James is an appreciation of his careful use of the language, of his attention to prose style, and of the success of his use of psychological realism.

Members who attended the meeting were Mrs. John J. Hafer, Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer, Mrs. Milton Beneman, Mrs. George M. Griffith Jr., Mrs. J. Russell Cook, Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, Mrs. Max Bastian, Mrs. Ralph Webster, Mrs. William C. Walsh, Mrs. C. Amer Suter, Mrs. John A. Cupler, Mrs. Paul Castelle, and Mrs. W. Royce Hodges.

Mrs. Webster announced that the next meeting will be held May 10 at the home of Mrs. Castelle, LeFevre Road, with a discussion on modern poetry led by Mrs. VanOrmer, Mrs. Walsh, and Mrs. L. W. Brown.

HEAD ALL-STARS—Allegany County's nominations for 1960 All-Star membership were discussed at a meeting held at the extension office. Those accepted will be announced at Club Week. Shown above are, Louis Miltenberger, president; Lois Miltenberger, secretary, and Patricia King, vice president.

Seven Xi Beta Members To Receive Order Of Rose

Xi Beta Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi packed gift items, Easter baskets and food donations for its adopted family at a meeting Tuesday at the home of Miss Dorothy Lee Campbell, Hill Top Drive. They will be delivered by Miss Martha Lee Heron tomorrow.

A short business session was conducted by Miss Helene Schutz. Routine reports were given. It was announced that the Order of the Rose resolutions had been received from international office for seven members. They are Miss Margaret Lester, Mrs. Elizabeth Chaney, Mrs. Jean Rice, Mrs. Ann McKenzie, Miss Schutz, Miss Campbell and Mrs. Eleanor Albright. Each has been an active member in Beta Sigma Phi for 15 years or more.

City Council minutes were read and discussed. Council representatives were reminded the next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Betty Barnes, April 21.

Miss Ruth Lester took reservations for the Ritual of Jewels dinner, to be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club April 28. The annual dance sponsored by City Council was discussed. This event will be May 7 at the Cumberland Country Club. Proceeds are for Friends Aware. Members offered prizes for the dance. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Josephine Pfeiffer, Willowbrook Road, April 26.

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served. Other members present were Mrs. Albright, Miss Heron, Miss Margaret Lester, Miss Catherine Coleman, Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Chaney and Mrs. Betty Frantz.

Most Reservations Taken For Fantasy

Although not on the parish mailing list, anyone interested in attending the "Arabian Fantasy" annual Friars Guild benefit dance, April 23, may make reservations with Mrs. Fay Stillwagon. Admission to the dance, at the Ali Ghan Country Club, is by advance reservation only. No tickets will be sold at the door. In the past week, 125 reservations have been made, Mrs. Stillwagon reports, leaving 75 available.

Music from 9 until 1 will be by Happy Laughner's Orchestra, from Youngstown, Pa., with "The Sheik of Araby" as the theme song. Entertainment will be by the Steckman Dance Studio pupils.

A "flying carpet" Arabian headdress and favors will carry out the "Arabian Fantasy" motif.

Third Order To Meet

The monthly meeting of the Third Order of St. Francis will be held Sunday.

Instruction for novices will be held at 3 in the school cafeteria, followed by services in SS. Peter and Paul Church at 3:30, during which profession of novices will be conducted by Rev. Sylvan Fondriest, O.F.M. Cap., director.

Society Makes $200 Donation

Melvin WSCS donated $200 to the expansion fund and to purchase rugs for the parsonage at a meeting Wednesday evening. Plans also were made for a "Fellowship Supper" to be held May 20 for the church membership.

The theme of the worship program was "New Light for Town and Country." Mrs. Jane Fier was the leader and also read the Scripture and offered prayer. A panel consisting of Mrs. Catherine Sampson, Mrs. Ronald Brannon, Mrs. Frances Atkinson and Mrs. Blanche Speir with Mrs. Fier as moderator discussed "Town and Country Missions." The latter spoke on "Town and Country Work in the Methodist Church." The group sang "For the Beauty of the Earth."

A ceremony dedicating the offering of "World Banks" was presented by Mrs. Charles Kennard assisted by Mrs. Eleanor DelaGrange, Mrs. Dorothy McDonald and Mrs. Speir. A candle was lighted and allowed to burn for 1¼ minutes, designating the time the offering taken would support the missionary program of the whole world.

Mrs. Speir presided at the business session. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Fier and Mrs. Millie Alderton. Mrs. Kennard requested all officers met with her to complete report blanks to be sent to conference secretary. Mrs. Robert Streett gave information on missionaries Ellen Atkinson and Marilyn Tipton and announced that the study course on the Gospel of St. Luke would begin April 21 at 7:30. Mrs. Gladys May announced the meeting of the Prayer Group on April 20. Mrs. Dorothy McDonald urged members to attend the Asbury Guild spring rally to be held at Kingsley church April 27. She reported that 23 of the group held membership in the guild and the group voted to pay $10 maintenance to the Asbury Home. Mrs. Fier and Mrs. DelaGrange reported on the zone meeting held at Centre Street church. Mrs. Leona Miller received subscriptions to "The Methodist Woman."

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Opal Cooper and Mrs. Ronald Brannon. Table decorations were in keeping with the Easter season.

Student Receives 'Excellent' Rating

Mrs. George M. Lang, Baltimore judge for the Junior Festival of the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs, has reported one student received an "excellent" rating and the others "very good."

Participants were Barbara Simmons, Brenda Lambert, Susan Johnson, Charlotte Leese, Marsha Hutt, Beverly Fazenbaker, Kathy Verdery, Ruth Fredman, Bruce Irwin and Russell White.

The state federation convention will be in Hagerstown April 22-23.

Social Chart

The Cumberland Country Club will have an Easter buffet Sunday from 5:30 until 8 p. m. for members and guests.

A skating party will be held at Moon Glo April 18 at 7:30 sponsored by Mapleside Senior MYF.

McKinley Chapter OES will have an Easter program tonight at 8 at the Temple.

Ladies Auxiliary and Canton Allegany 4, IOOF, will meet at 8 tomorrow at IOOF Hall, Virginia Avenue.

Skurzynski Discusses Satellite

An explanation of the three-stage rocket, illustrated with a model, was given by Edward Skurzynski, group supervisor in the rocket development department of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, at the men's night dinner meeting of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women Sunday at the Woman's Civic Club house.

With "Rocketry" as his topic, Mr. Skurzynski showed that the satellite itself is round. He showed graphically the engine in the bottom of each section of the rocket. He said that after the rocket leaves the ground the first section separates and drops into the sea; then the second section takes over and two and one half seconds later it drops off. At the breaking point when the third section is ready to separate, the nose also drops off, and the satellite is in orbit. Away from the force of gravity on its mission around the earth, its instruments give back the information on its orbit.

Mr. Skurzynski gave one other demonstration. Walking around a table to illustrate his point, he explained how a picture of the "dark side" of the moon was taken. The speaker pointed out that the same side of the moon faces the earth at all times. When the moon is dark to the earth, the sun is shining on the other side of the moon, so it is possible to take the picture of the "back" of the moon.

May 11 the University Women are invited to a demonstration of recipes for working women, to be given by the Potomac Edison home demonstration department. It will be at 8 p. m. The June meeting will conclude activities for the summer.

Girl Lectures On Anatomy At Age Of 7

BALTIMORE (AP)—Like most 7-year-old girls, Donna Karpiak likes to play with dolls. But you might just as likely find her examining her own model of the human skeleton.

Donna can identify and explain the function of all the organs. She often gives lectures on anatomy to her own third grade class as well as to high school biology classes.

When Donna wants to read, she may take Einstein's "Evolution of Physics" or a volume on obstetrics from her 400-book library.

She has a 1-year-old brother and became interested in medicine when her mother was pregnant.

"I wanted to go into obstetrics," Donna said. "But now I want to be a psychiatrist and my first patient will be a beatnik."

Officials at Notre Dame Preparatory School decline to discuss this exceptional child's I.Q. but put her in the child prodigy class.

"She is a sweet little girl with an avid mind, interested in everything, but she doesn't try to impose her knowledge on others," said Sister Mary Virginia, headmistress at the school.

Donna has about 25 hobbies in all, ranging from astronomy to chess. She plans to begin flying lessons next month under the guidance of her father, Donald Karpiak, an engineer at the Martin Co.

She takes the regular courses in school, although she skipped most of the second grade, and adds French on her own. She does her advanced studying for about an hour each night after polishing off her regular homework in 15 minutes.

But Donna isn't bogged down in book learning. She likes to swim and play in the backyard with her friends, and she has taught some of them to play poker and blackjack—but not for money.

She collects bugs, new pennies, model airplanes, stuffed dinosaurs and first editions for her library.

"Donna is interested in horses, space ships, the ice age, volcanoes and atomic weapons," her father said proudly.

"Really, father, let's not over do it," said Donna.

"Dead Season" In Cuba, Danger To Castro Regime Approaching

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

CAMAGUEY, Cuba (AP)—Soon comes the "dead season." Before it is over, some Cubans fear serious trouble, perhaps even bloodshed.

For the sugar industry, backbone of Cuba's economy, the dead season begins toward the end of May, when all the cane is cut and mills finish grinding. From then until year's end there is little to do save cultivate, carry out three hoeings in June, August and October, and clean up in fields and mills.

The campesino whose machete cuts the cane, the ordinary worker in the mill, the white collar people up to levels of clerk and bookkeeper, still for the most part unquestionably support Fidel Castro's government and are excited by the promises made by the Havana regime.

But even among these there are beginnings of gnawing doubts. Sugar men say that in the past month or so the attitude of many in these groups in Camaguey and Oriente, Cuba's richest agricultural provinces, has been changing slowly. Some edge reluctantly away from unquestioning support of the regime.

The dead season is much in these people's minds.

The question facing the National Institute of Agrarian Reform (INRA) in the coming months is what to do to keep the campesinos going. The government is short of money. INRA has not yet said whether it will extend credit to the farmers to bridge this long gap—but it surely must do something about it.

In the past it has worked this way: Mills have issued "anticipos" to workers—credits up to about 40 per cent of what they expected to earn in the next cutting and grinding season. These, plus odd jobs, would keep the campesino families going.

For a while, the campesino under the Castro regime was making some extra money. It had no noticeable effect on his living standard. The campesino—many live in incredibly tumble-down, thatch-roof shacks—spent the money as quickly as he got it, flushed with a new feeling of power and promise. Fidel had told him he was the most important man in Cuba and he believed.

Soon he will have reason to wonder. INRA has been intervening, at a furious rate, in the agricultural side of the sugar industry. One result has been a decrease in the campesino's take-home pay. Deductions, "voluntary" and otherwise, have sharply cut his already meager income so that he gets to keep only about 65 cents of each dollar he earns.

Mill managements, no longer able to borrow to extend credit to workers, have notified INRA they cannot give "anticipos" this year. The government already is deeply in debt to merchants for supplies still unpaid for. It is an open secret that the Havana regime is hard-pressed for cash. Merchants, battered by new regulations which have drastically cut their incomes, cannot afford to extend credit.

When the campesino gets hungrier than he is accustomed to being, he may become troublesome—even violent. INRA may be forced to do more intervening and requisition, this time of merchants' stores, to bridge the gap. That will lead to new resentment in the towns.

Cuba has 161 sugar mills, 27 of them American owned.

It costs 4 cents a pound to produce sugar. The regime has been selling as low as 2¾ cents. But the arrangement which the National Bank's pro-Communist president, the long-haired, ailing Argentine named Ernesto Guevara, calls "enslavement" saves the situation.

The United States takes a fixed quota of Cuban sugar—about 3½ million tons—at 5.06 a pound, or about 2 cents above the world market price. Cuba has been selling the rest at a loss to other countries including the Soviet Union and Communist China. Cuba herself consumes about 350,000 tons.

Thus, the U.S. price support is extremely important to Cuba's economy. It has been important to the United States too as an effort in stabilizing a commodity price.

The United States could end the price support or the quota of Cuban sugar imports. The quota could, though not without trouble and dislocation, be distributed among other sugar-producing countries more friendly to the United States. Once that was done the former situation probably never could be restored. The Cuban people would be hurt. The United States would be unable to extend much of a helping hand to even a friendly Cuban regime.

Some Women Grow Fat On Despondency

CHICAGO (AP)—Boredom and sadness often lead women to grow plump, but with fat men it's mostly a desire to eat.

At least that is indicated by a study on obesity made by Drs. Anna-Marie Chirico and Albert J. Stunkard of the Departments of Medicine and Psychiatry, University of Pittsburgh.

They determined the physical activity and mental attitudes of groups of overweight and non-obese men and women.

In general the investigators found that fat men are somewhat less active than lean men but fat women take far less exercise than lean women.

Fat women also tend to react to situations of despondency and boredom by cutting down their physical activity—but not the lean women or either of the male groups.

The researchers made their report to the American Physical Society, a member group of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, meeting in Chicago.

The egg came long before the chicken. Birds are an offshoot of reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first bird flew.

Baltimorean Heads Korea Armistice Unit

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Col. Harry S. Messec, of Baltimore, Md., has replaced Col. Raymond B. Firehock, of Arlington, Va., as chief of armistice affairs division, and secretary of the Military Armistice Commission.

In making the announcement Thursday, the U.N. command said Firehock left Korea Monday for his new assignment with the office of chief of research and development, U.S. Army, Washington, D.C.

TERRIBLE TIM TRANQUILIZED — Terrible Tim, the tiny gorilla that turned timorous at the sight of his brides-to-be, looks lovingly at his "mama" to whom he fled. The 13-month-old animal, which had been living at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Deets Pickett, was sent to Swope Park Zoo in Kansas City to be with two baby girl gorillas, but he got homesick in a hurry, especially when one of the girls socked him. He kept bawling until the zoo director returned him to the Picketts—and now he's happy again in his living home. (AP Photofax)

12 Horses Perish In Baltimore Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Twelve horses rented out to street hucksters burned to death in their stalls Wednesday night.

The animals had been locked in for the night at the stable on North Amity Street. The attendant, William Fowles, said he left about 6 p.m.

Fire broke out after 7:30 p.m. and destroyed 16 wooden stalls in the one-story frame building. Firemen tried unsuccessfully to unlock the door to free the horses.

The horses were owned by Homer Smith, who rented them by the day to street produce peddlers and junk men. Eight or nine wagons at the place were not burned. Smith said the loss in animals, feed and the building would be $2,500.

Cause of the fire was not learned.

Car Insurance Check Set

BALTIMORE (AP) — When State Police start checking drivers on car insurance, in connection with possible driving violations, they'll probably go by the insurance company identification cards.

These are cards which most insurance companies issue and which can be carried in a wallet. They usually give the name of the insured, the policy number and a set of printed instructions telling a motorist what to do in case of accident.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner John R. Jewell said earlier this week that Col. Carey Jarman, superintendent of State Police, had agreed to have troopers make routine check of insurance status when drivers are stopped for other reasons.

Presumably, State Police will use a printed form which could be forwarded to the DMV. If a driver could not produce evidence he had insurance or did not satisfy police of it, he would be subject to a check by the DMV.

The inspection would be made in connection with the state's Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund for motorists. Those drivers who don't carry a minimum of "5-10-20" are required by law to pay $8 into the fund yearly. The fund is to provide financial protection to insured motorists involved in an accident with a financially irresponsible driver who is at fault.

The minimum insurance required is $5,000 property damage coverage, $10,000 for death or injury to one person and $20,000 for death or injury to more than one.

The DMV says some drivers falsely stated they have minimum insurance. Many have come in to settle since the DMV issued a warning several days ago.

The police lineup was originated by Francois Eugene Vicocq, a French detective, early in the Nineteenth Century.

Man Stabbed When He Goes To Dog's Rescue

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Michael A. Feld, 27, of Langley Park was stabbed in the abdomen after he went to the rescue of a dog being beaten by two teen-age boys.

Feld was admitted to Washington Sanitarium and Hospital after the stabbing Wednesday. He suffered a wound just above the liver. his condition was reported today as satisfactory.

Two youths, one 16 and the other 17, were picked up later by police and held for juvenile authorities.

Feld told police he looked out the window of his home about 4 p.m. and saw the youths beating a neighbor's poodle. He was stabbed, he said, after he grabbed the older boy.

Motel Sued In Death Of Boy By Drowning

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP) — The drowning of a 3-year-old Washington, D.C. boy in an Ocean City motel swimming pool last summer has resulted in a $100,000 damage suit against the motel.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell M. Lowry of Washington brought the action in the Worcester County Circuit Court against the Sea Scape Motel, charging it was negligent and careless in the operation of the pool.

Their son, Ronald, drowned last June 20 while he and his parents were staying at the motel.

State Liquor Tax Take Shows Decline

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The state has collected more than 6½ million dollars in revenue from alcoholic beverage taxes and license fees for the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

The comptroller's office said receipts are running nearly 2 per cent behind those for the corresponding period last year but that official estimates for the current fiscal year probably will be reached.

Robbery Victim Reports Shooting

FREDERICK (AP)—A victim of the $10,300 club robbery here early Monday told police Thursday someone shot at the trailer in which he lives.

Ellis McDonough, who testified at a hearing for the five defendants charged in the robbery, also told authorities he had gotten an anonymous telephone call, warning him not to testify further.

Man Found Guilty Of Raping Girl, 11

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Criminal Court jury Thursday convicted a 42-year-old man of raping a young girl whom he accosted while she was on the way to Sunday school.

James L. Presley, the defendant, could get a penalty up to death or life imprisonment. Judge James K. Cullen deferred sentence for a possible new-trial motion.

Presley made a statement to police which he later denied, saying authorities forced him to confess through threats and mistreatment.

The 11-year-old girl who was attacked told of how she was threatened by a man with a penknife. She said he drove her in his car before assaulting her in a cemetery Jan. 3.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son is a high school senior and is now looking over various universities and colleges. He's a good student and could probably get into any school he selected.

The thing that bothers me is he judges schools by their athletic achievements. If a college doesn't have a red-hot football team he's not interested.

I've tried to explain this is a poor criterion but he says it's the best way to tell if an institution is "on the stick."

The sharp schools, according to him, pay a lot of attention to their athletic program and get a winning team at all costs. It's smart public relations, he says, which influences the entire program. What do you say about this?—KNOW-NOTHING POP.

DEAR POP: Robert Hutchins said it better than anyone—and I quote: "Football has the same relation to education that bull fighting has to agriculture."

DEAR ANN: I'm planning to break my engagement to a fellow who monopolized my life for five years. We started to go steady when I was 15 and became engaged three years later I've never had a date with anyone else.

I won't go into detail but I'm sure he's a confirmed alcoholic and a pathological liar. I don't want to spend my life listening to lies and nursing hangovers.

Everyone thinks of me as Mickey's girl and I know it will take a long time before the word gets around that I'm available for dates. Could I hurry things along by placing a small ad in the newspaper? — NICK OF TIME.

DEAR NICK: I dislike spoiling a sale for the classified ad department but I cannot, in good conscience, advise you to place an ad in the paper announcing a broken engagement.

I hate to resort to this very tired joke, but if you want the word to get around fast—telephone, telegraph and telawoman.

DEAR ANN: I'm a middle aged business man and a widower. In my younger days I worshipped a young girl from afar but was too shy to make my feelings known. She married and so did I.

Twelve years ago my wife died. I'm still in love with the idol of my dreams and always will be.

Three years ago her husband died. She travels, entertains and is invited everywhere. Her husband's picture is in every room. She refuses to give him up.

She's still beautiful and desirable and could give a man great happiness, but she won't even accept a dinner date.

I know another widower who has tried to interest her but has failed, too. She loves to help others so if you could make her realize how much happiness she could bring to some lonely man if she married again I'm sure it would bring her happiness, too. —L. W.

DEAR L. W.: Why don't YOU marry one of the thousands of eager widows who are searching frantically for a man and bring some happiness into HER life? I'm sure the idea doesn't appeal to you and I don't blame you.

Marriage should be mutually rewarding. You wouldn't want a woman to marry you as a favor — in much the way she might lend you her car, would you? Well, get off your knees and find a woman who wants you at least as much as you want her.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Maary—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

The poodle is an aristocrat among dogs. But in truth his ancestors probably were nothing but rough-and-tumble water dogs that crashed high society, the National Geographic Society says. Even his French ancestry is suspect: he became known as the French poodle because ladies like to get their dogs as well as their clothes from France.

Marriage should be mutually rewarding. You wouldn't want a woman to marry you as a favor — in much the way she might lend you her car, would you? Well, get off your knees and find a woman who wants you at least as much as you want her.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Maary—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

The poodle is an aristocrat among dogs. But in truth his ancestors probably were nothing but rough-and-tumble water dogs that crashed high society, the National Geographic Society says. Even his French ancestry is suspect: he became known as the French poodle because ladies like to get their dogs as well as their clothes from France.

15 Training School Escapees Captured

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifteen of 20 youths who escaped last Wednesday night from the National Training School for Boys are back in custody.

The youths made their escape by obtaining a key to their cottage, Louis Jacobs, director of the school said.

Though there were 70 in the cottage, only 20 fled.

Washington, Maryland, Baltimore and U.S. Park police assisted in capturing the 15. Those still at large are not considered dangerous, police said.

Jacobs said most of the youths are from the south. They average about 17 years of age. Most were held for automobile theft.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Freddie Brisson, who's back from Europe to start preparing his movie, "Five Finger Exercise," starring Rosalind Russell, told me that Khrushchev was in the Paris Opera House the night Freddie was there.

"Everybody was dressed to the teeth with the exception of the Khrushchev family," said Freddie. "He was the only man in the opera house not in dinner jacket, and his reception was very cool, and at no time did I see any mobs on the street trying to see him."

Freddie said that Haley Mills, the wonder child in "Pollyanna," is signed for "Five Finger Exercise." He had originally planned to use Haley's sister, Juliet Mills, who was in the New York play, but Juliet's too big now, and Haley is just perfect for the role. I agreed with him that she is a very special young girl.

Believe me, there's no truth to the talk that the Keely Smith-Louis Prima marriage is "all shook up." The two people in the world who should know—Keely and Louis—say nothing could be farther from the truth. Keely and Louis—say nothing could be farther from the truth. Keely leaves for Europe with her manager, Barbara Bell, and her brother "Piggy" (Norman) Smith, on a business trip for Dot records and a vacation as well.

Louis says he can't possibly go with her now. He has too much work to do and he doesn't like to fly. "I will stay home, write material for our act at the Desert Inn, and do some work on 'The Egg-Head', our independent picture for Paramount. Besides," added Louis, "we are building a new house which I must look after, and keep an eye on the children, too."

I don't know what has changed Rex Harrison. Maybe it was his association with the late Kay Kendall, his third wife, but he's certainly much nicer than he was when he hated everything and everybody in Hollywood. After he finishes "Midnight Lace," he says he's headed for London to confer with Terrence Ratigan, who is writing a stage comedy for him, which Terry will present first in London and then in New York.

Later, Rex will vacation with his two sons—Noel, by his first marriage, and Carey, by Lilli Palmer—in a villa in Portofino. This villa is owned jointly by Rex and Lilli, his ex, and they have an agreement that she'll have it one summer, and he the next. And 1960 is his year—maybe in more ways than one.

I was glad to get the first autographed copy of Patti Page's book, "Once Upon a Dream," and I put it on my nightstand. But my blonde singer friend took off on a short tour of autographing, and was back in town again before I cracked a cover. (What with the strike settled, and the Oscars, tell me what Hollywood columnist had time to read?)

Patti tells me she attended more literary teas and consumed more of the brew than a Chinaman. "But I love hitting Indianapolis, Cleveland, Chicago and other cities not as a singer but as an author," she laughed. Of course, her favorite man, choreographer Charlie O'Curran was held in Hollywood reading the new Elvis Presley movie "GI Blues" for Hall Wallis. This marks Charlie's third with Elvis so he should do right by Presley.

It can't be much of a secret that Dore Schary is eager to get "Sunrise at Campobello" started and completed as soon as possible. The story of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's struggle and triumph over polio is a "natural" around election time. As a front-running civilian Democrat Mr. S. probably realizes his movie can't hurt his party and may do some good.

Greer Garson has been on the Warner lot discussing her wardrobe as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and the newest member of the cast is 18-year-old Timmy Considine who will play James Roosevelt as a boy. Ralph Bellamy has been marking time all through the strike waiting to recreate his fine stage F.D.R.

Another reason why I believe that Frank Sinatra will not produce "The Execution of Private Slovik" for a long, long time, if ever, is because Steve McQueen, who was to star in the movie, will not be available. Steve and his wife, Neile Adams, have made plans to do stock together this summer, and are booked up for some months.

New! Regular-priced gasoline contains all the ingredients of a premium!

New Sunoco Blend 200X

with Sunoco's exclusive 3-way engine conditioner

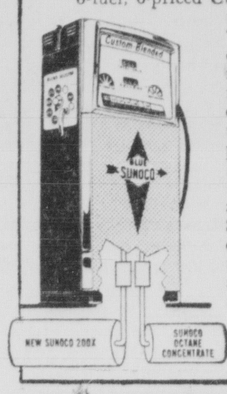
Exhaustive tests prove Sunoco's new multi-additive engine conditioner can noticeably improve performance 3 ways after just two tankfuls! Cleans, powers-up the engine of any car designed to run on "regular"!

BLUE SUNOCO

Now there's a regular-priced gasoline that gives you really significant increases in power, mileage and engine life! New Sunoco Blend 200X has proved its superiority beyond doubt in lab tests and road tests. That's because 200X contains a Sunoco-developed engine conditioner that protects the carburetor as premium gasolines do...keeps valves and cylinders free of power-robbing gum . . . prevents spark plug fouling and gas waste. And results improve with each tankful! Your Sunoco dealer has 200X today. Try a tankful and be thrilled!

Fuelpower to fit your car's horsepower!

INTRODUCTION OF NEW BASIC BLEND 200X BOOSTS TO NEW HIGHS THE PERFORMANCE OF ALL 6 FUELS IN SUNOCO'S FAMOUS CUSTOM-BLENDING SYSTEM.



New 200X is the basic fuel in Sunoco's 6-fuel, 6-priced Custom-Blending System—the system that delivers "Fuelpower to fit your car's horsepower!" The five higher octane fuels in the system are top-quality premiums and therefore already contain premium ingredients. But since they are also the result of precise automatic blending—in Sunoco's miracle pump—of 200X and Sunoco Octane Concentrate, they all share a big performance boost!

Safety Meet Will Attract Many Leaders

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Safety in manufacturing, mining, traffic and other fields will be discussed here this month at a three-day meeting of business, industrial and civic leaders from throughout West Virginia.

The sessions will be the 26th annual statewide Safety Conference, sponsored by the West Virginia Safety Council. Dates are April 25-27.

Speaker at a banquet April 26 will be Woods Talman, assistant vice president of the coal division of United States Steel Corp., Pittsburgh. The banquet program also will include presentation of safety awards.

Fire prevention will be discussed at a Monday afternoon session, April 25. There will be two Tuesday sessions, morning and afternoon, on coal-mining.

Paul C. Lingo, deputy state mines director, will report at the morning coal session on progress in a campaign to prevent roof fall accidents in mines.

Declarer came up for considerable criticism when he went set in today's slam contract, and yet we are not inclined to take issue with his line of play.

South had 19 high card points, a bit too much for one no trump, so he opened with one diamond, and, over North's one heart takeout, jumped to two no trump. North's hand was worth 15 points in support of diamonds and, sensing slam possibilities at a suit contract, he jumped to four diamonds. South could have bid a small slam directly at this point but, in an apparent effort to probe further, he showed the heart fit. North could do no more than return to five diamonds and South now contracted for slam.

West made the logical opening of a low heart knowing from North's bid and South's subsequent raise that his partner had at most one heart and could conceivably be void. Declarer played the jack from dummy noting the drop of East's nine. The jack of diamonds was led and, when East followed with the four, declarer went right up with the ace and in that moment sealed his doom.

North was quick to point out that a simple safety play in trumps would have assured the contract, for if declarer permits the jack of diamonds to ride, the defense can be restricted to one trick in the suit regardless of how it divides. South heatedly retorted that the play to this point had made it clear that East had a singleton heart. South could, therefore, not afford the luxury of a safety play since West might win the trump lead with a lone honor and return a heart for his partner to ruff.

While declarer's argument appeared to be faultless, it should be noted that the entire tragedy might have been averted had he displayed more subtlety in the management of the auction. Inasmuch as a grand slam depended on finding North with just the exact cards, South would have been better advised to take a sure profit by bidding six diamonds directly over North's raise. If he hadn't shown the heart fit there is a great likelihood that that suit would not have been chosen for the initial attack.

Iraq Pays Britain

LONDON (AP) — Iraq recently paid Britain 120,000 pounds — $336,000 — compensation for British losses in the Baghdad uprising of July 1958. The disclosure was made in the House of Commons. In the rioting, King Faisal and Premier Nuri Said were killed and there was widespread damage to foreign-owned property.

Deaths And Funerals

WILLIAM F. DUNLAP

William Franklin Dunlap formerly of 416 Maryland Avenue, died yesterday in the Allegany County Infirmary where he was admitted March 2 following an extended illness.

The body will be brought here to the Hafer Funeral Home.

GILBERT A. SAVILLE

LEVELS, W.Va. — Gilbert Arthur Saville, 80, of here, died yesterday in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Mr. Saville was a native of Hampshire County and was a member of the LOO Moose at Romney.

Surviving are his widow, Ada (Croston) Saville; a son, Kenneth Saville, at home, and a grandchild.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Wesley Chapel Church near Points. Rev. Donald Wright will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery.

The body is at the McKee Funeral Home, Augusta, and will be taken to the church at 1 p.m.

MRS. EDWIN TAYLOR

Mrs. Mary Blanche (Ross) Taylor, 87, of 715 Palisades Drive, Akron, Ohio, died there Wednesday.

Mrs. Taylor was born in Belmont County, Ohio, and was the widow of Edwin D. Taylor. She was a member of First Presbyterian Church, Akron, and was a charter member and past worthy matron of the Billow Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, in Akron.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. C. A. Porter, Akron, and Mrs. Porter Collins and Mrs. A. Klein Whitaker, both of Bradenton, Fla.; two brothers, Elmer and Carl Ross, both of Boise, Idaho; two sisters, Mrs. Ivor Higgs, Boise, and Mrs. William Irwin, Clarinda, Iowa; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Billow Funeral Home, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 1 p. m. Burial will be in Rose Hill Burial Park there.

KENNEY SERVICES

Services for Charles D. Kenney, 81, of RFD 1, Ridgeley, who died Wednesday in Memorial Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home by Rev. George H. Jeffrey. Burial will be in Fort Ashby Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Donald, Edward, Clarence and Bernard Kenney.

Man Is Killed Near Kingwood

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — A car-truck collision near here late Wednesday night claimed the life of Artie F. Metheny, 76, Kingwood. Robert Spear, 47, driver of a coal truck, said the Metheny automobile was in the wrong lane and he was unable to avoid a collision. Spear was not injured.

W.Va. Towns Adopt DST

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — The Preston County towns of Kingwood and Terra Alta have decided to adopt daylight saving time again this year for a six months period starting April 24. Wheeling, Weirton, Moundsville, Wellsburg, Morgantown, Keyser, Martinsburg, Berkeley Springs and Charles Town also will switch to "fast" time.

Design Sought For Trout Stamps

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The Conservation Department outlined Thursday details of a contest to obtain a design for the state's 1961 trout stamps, which will cost $1.

Fish Chief Ed Kinney said the contest will be open to West Virginia youngsters ages 6 through 18 and that entries may be either line drawings or paintings on 8½-by-11-inch paper or canvas.

All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight June 30, a $25 U.S. savings bond will go to the winner. Honorable mention awards will include 20 one-year subscriptions to the West Virginia conservation magazine.

Safety Meet Will Attract Many Leaders

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Safety in manufacturing, mining, traffic and other fields will be discussed here this month at a three-day meeting of business, industrial and civic leaders from throughout West Virginia.

The sessions will be the 26th annual statewide Safety Conference, sponsored by the West Virginia Safety Council. Dates are April 25-27.

Speaker at a banquet April 26 will be Woods Talman, assistant vice president of the coal division of United States Steel Corp., Pittsburgh. The banquet program also will include presentation of safety awards.

Fire prevention will be discussed at a Monday afternoon session, April 25. There will be two Tuesday sessions, morning and afternoon, on coal-mining.

Paul C. Lingo, deputy state mines director, will report at the morning coal session on progress in a campaign to prevent roof fall accidents in mines.

Opening lead: Three of ♥

Declarer came up for considerable criticism when he went set in today's slam contract, and yet we are not inclined to take issue with his line of play.

South had 19 high card points, a bit too much for one no trump, so he opened with one diamond, and, over North's one heart takeout, jumped to two no trump. North's hand was worth 15 points in support of diamonds and, sensing slam possibilities at a suit contract, he jumped to four diamonds. South could have bid a small slam directly at this point but, in an apparent effort to probe further, he showed the heart fit. North could do no more than return to five diamonds and South now contracted for slam.

West made the logical opening of a low heart knowing from North's bid and South's subsequent raise that his partner had at most one heart and could conceivably be void. Declarer played the jack from dummy noting the drop of East's nine. The jack of diamonds was led and, when East followed with the four, declarer went right up with the ace and in that moment sealed his doom.

North was quick to point out that a simple safety play in trumps would have assured the contract, for if declarer permits the jack of diamonds to ride, the defense can be restricted to one trick in the suit regardless of how it divides. South heatedly retorted that the play to this point had made it clear that East had a singleton heart. South could, therefore, not afford the luxury of a safety play since West might win the trump lead with a lone honor and return a heart for his partner to ruff.

While declarer's argument appeared to be faultless, it should be noted that the entire tragedy might have been averted had he displayed more subtlety in the management of the auction. Inasmuch as a grand slam depended on finding North with just the exact cards, South would have been better advised to take a sure profit by bidding six diamonds directly over North's raise. If he hadn't shown the heart fit there is a great likelihood that that suit would not have been chosen for the initial attack.

City Clean-Up Dates Are Announced

The Community Council and City of Cumberland will make a joint effort in this year's clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign, it was announced yesterday.

Details of the campaign will be announced in the next few days but it is planned to conduct Clean-up Week the week of April 18; Paint-up Week the week of April 25 and Fix-up Week the week of May 2, according to city Street Commissioner John J. Long and Mrs. Bruce Douglas, president of the Community Council.

Generally, the clean-up campaign is conducted in May but because of the Sports CARnival to be held the week of May 9-15, it was decided earlier dates would be desirable.

While a concentrated drive is made annually, city beautification is a year-around project under a plan introduced by Long some time ago, then undertaken by the Mayor and Council and Community Council as a joint effort.

Beautification projects planned for the spring and summer include Riverside Park, an area of Bedford Street and the Cumberland Free Public Library grounds. It is also hoped that some clubs or organizations will undertake playground beautification programs during the summer months.

Site For Underwater Warehouse Selected

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — A site was selected Wednesday in the Gulf of Mexico for the first underwater warehouse ever to be constructed in the United States.

When in operation, the warehouse will consist of huge containers of fabric impregnated and coated with rubber to store gasoline, oil, grains, other foods and even medical supplies from 40 to 200 feet below the surface of the ocean.

FOP Lodge To Make Anniversary Plans

A special meeting of Fort Cumberland Lodge 90, Fraternal Order of Police, has been called for 7:30 p. m. Sunday, April 24, according to John Daum, president, who said plans for an anniversary program will be formulated.

Daum said various committees will be appointed at the meeting which will be held in the lodge quarters at the Public Safety Building.

The Blue Ridge Parkway and Great Smoky Mountains National Park, which meet in North Caroline, were the most popular of all National Park Service units in 1959. There were 5,589,402 visitors to the parkway and 3,162,338 to the national park.

Fire Scorches 12 Acres In Westernport

Four Companies Answer Call

WESTERNPORT—Four volunteer companies and forestry personnel yesterday fought a wind-swept brush fire which scorched about 12 acres of land here and threatened a number of homes in the Greene's Addition section.

The fire started in the vicinity of William Rhodes home off Riordan Road and swept up over the hillside toward the residence of Donald McKenzie and threatened other homes.

About 11 a. m. volunteers from the Potomac Fire Company here, Tri-Towns Fire Company, Piedmont, Luke, and Barton were called and fought the stubborn blaze about two hours.

An hour later the blaze flared up and volunteers from here and Piedmont brought it under control. Water from the booster tanks was used to quench the flames. The two trucks of the local company were refilled with water in order to battle the blaze.

Trooper Robert Deshong of the Maryland State Police was on the scene to direct traffic. Fire wardens of the forestry department assisted the volunteers.

FSTC To Offer Art Workshop In Ceramics

FROSTBURG — Art workshop in Ceramics (401), a practical course in creative art, will be taught by William R. Stewart during the summer session at Frostburg State Teachers College, June 20-July 29.

Demonstration and studio work will help the student experiment with basic processes of developing forms with clay. Some of these will be: coil building; slab, throwing on the potter's wheel, turning, mold design and making, and modeling and sculpture.

Lectures will include information concerning design, chemistry of glazes, history of ceramics, and the educational implication of ceramics as a form of expression.

Mr. Stewart has studied ceramics at Maryland Institute of Art and Pennsylvania State University.

Advance registration for the summer session will be held in Allegany Hall, May 7 from 9 a. m. until noon. Early registration is advised since enrollment is limited in all courses.

Legion Sponsors Easter Egg Hunt

MIDLAND — The Midland American Legion, Post No. 169, will hold an Easter Egg Hunt Saturday for children of the Midland area. All Children from one year old to 12 years of age are invited to take part. Prizes will be awarded. Gene Dawson is the chairman for this event.

Physical Ed Review Slated At FST College

FROSTBURG — "A View of Physical Education 1960" a demonstration of physical education at the college level will be presented by the Department of Health and Physical Education of Frostburg State Teachers College at 8 p. m. May 4.

The program will feature an overview of all physical education activities included in the mens and womens instructional physical education programs. Activities such as volleyball, badminton, folk and square dance, soccer, tennis and the trampoline will be demonstrated.

Other highlights of the performance will include a demonstration of fencing fundamentals by Frostburg State Teachers College Fencing Club members and a lesson in tumbling for the elementary school as presented by Mr. Kenneth Babcock to the Thomas G. Pullen school students.

Underwood Says Nixon Is Man To Guide Nation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia said Thursday night that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is "the man who has the skill to continue our progress" toward providing opportunities for the individual.

The people have a right to opportunity and "now we are called upon...to preserve and enhance it through our political action," Underwood told a meeting of the National Republican Club.

He said social and economic ambition depends on educational opportunity and as knowledge becomes greater and society more complex, an increased growth in education is needed.

He advocated federal aid in this direction both to institutions and individual students.

Underwood also said the government should speed up research efforts in the field of medicine. "I believe it just as important for our country to discover the cure for cancer as it is for us to launch a man into outer space," he said.

Defending Eisenhower administration defense policies, Underwood said the development of a military arm takes time and "the capacity to retaliate and destroy becomes redundant beyond a point."

"Beyond annihilation, there is nothing. Elaborate concern with unreasonable destructive force is futile — one more missile, one more bomb can make no difference," he said.

UMW Not Part Of Drive To Stop Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Thomas Kennedy said Thursday the United Mine Workers Union is not taking part either officially or unofficially in any "Beat Kennedy" drive in West Virginia.

Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) are opponents in the May 10 Democratic presidential primary election in the nation's largest coal-producing state.

The UMW Kennedy is not related to Sen. Kennedy.

Kennedy told a reporter he doubted recent published reports that former UMW President John L. Lewis, whom Kennedy succeeded as UMW president about three months ago, has quietly passed word among UMW officials in West Virginia to work for Sen. Kennedy's defeat.

In a statement proclaiming UMW neutrality, Kennedy said that "our officers and members in West Virginia of course, have the right as free Americans to vote as they see fit and to express their political opinions."

Kennedy said the UMW traditionally stays out of primaries. He said the union may take a stand next October between the two party nominees at the UMW's regular convention at Cincinnati.

W.Va. Auto Tags On Sale May 10

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Motor Vehicles Commissioner J. Marshall Holcomb said Thursday West Virginia license tags will go on sale May 10.

Holcomb reminded motorists they must furnish a receipt with their application for licenses to prove payment of personal property taxes on the vehicle.

He said those who were not subject to the tax last year must present an affidavit to that effect.

Equitable Savings Elects Officers; Pays Dividend

FROSTBURG—The shareholders of the Equitable Savings and Loan Society of Frostburg met this week to hear the 69th annual report of the society and to elect directors.

The seven directors re-elected are J. Glenn Beall Jr., W. Earle Cobey, Joseph M. Condon, Herbert E. Loar, Charles G. Meehan, Ralph M. Race and Dr. I. L. Ritter. Dr. Ritter was active in the early establishment of the society and has been a member of the board for more than 44 years.

Following the shareholders meeting, the board met to organize and re-elected the following officers: Ralph M. Race, president; Herbert E. Loar, vice-president; Joseph M. Condon, treasurer; Charles G. Meehan, secretary and W. Earle Cobey, counsel.

The society was formed in 1891 by a group of civic minded businessmen for the purpose of encouraging home owning by wage earners through this mutual association owned by its investors and borrowers. Without interruption in the intervening years the society has aided hundreds of local persons to own their own homes.

For 68 consecutive years an annual dividend has been paid to the shareholders. During the past year a dividend of 4½ per cent was declared by the directors and checks were mailed to shareholders on March 31.

In view of the continued growth in the society, the directors voted to make shares available for purchase upon application to the office, at 10 Broadway, Frostburg.

Plans Reunion

LONACONING — The Central High School Class of 1950 is planning to hold a reunion. All questionnaires have been sent out and Mrs. Delores Nichols High asks members of the class to return these questionnaires as soon as possible for the reunion plans to be organized.

Donors Give 94 Pints Blood To Red Cross At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Ninty-four pints of blood were donated to the Red Cross Bloodmobile at the Moose Home. A total of 116 persons presented themselves as donors but 22 were rejected.

By post-offices, Moorefield had 101 donors; Old Fields, 4; Purgitsville, 3; Rio, 2; Bergton, Va., Fisher, Kessel, Kirby, Cumberland, Md., and Wardensville, one each.

Men exceeded women about two to one and repeaters predominated more than four to one over new donors.

The telephone committee, composed of Mrs. Ted Sager, Mrs Stanley Hawse, Mrs. LaMar Sager, Mrs. Aleck Welton, Mrs. Mae Charlton, Mrs. Irvin Bowman, Mrs. Harry Welton, Mrs. Duval Schell, Mrs. P. W. Clarke, Mrs. Ray Poling, Mrs. Frances Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wood, Mrs. Paul Talent and Mrs. Robert Marshall, secured the names of 141 persons who agreed to present themselves at the Moose Home. Only 66 of them appeared. The other 50 donors were unscheduled walk-ins.

Twenty volunteer workers gave approximately 80 hours of work. These workers are Mrs. Ed Baker, Mrs. R. E. Fisher, Mrs. Irvin Bowman, Mrs. A. C. McNeill, Mrs. Robert Baker, Mrs. Reginald Saville, Mrs. A. L. Scea, Mrs. John Harman, Mrs. Roland Cline, Mrs. James Tenny, Mrs. Ellis Hyre, Mrs. Guy Bean, Mrs. Thurmond Reynolds, Mrs. William Judy, Mrs. R. E. Williams, Mrs. Walter Southerly, Bill Murphy, Charlie Hefner and Dixie Shoemaker.

Most Of Preston Co. Will Go On DST

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — Most of Preston County is expected to observe daylight time this summer. The town councils of Kingwood, the county seat, and Terra Alta, voted to adopt fast time April 24.

The action conforms with daylight time observance by Morgantown in adjoining Monongalia County. Morgantown voted last year to continue observance of fast time through 1960.

Circle Schedules Bake Sale April 21

LONACONING — The Mary Martha Circle of the Presbyterian Church will hold a bake sale Thursday, April 21, from 12:30 until 4:30 p.m. in the educational building.

Orders for bread, rolls and tea rings may be placed by calling Homestead 3-2359 or Homestead 3-3253.

Troopers Transferred

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Transfer of three State Troopers was announced Tuesday. C. C. Oliver, stationed at Keyser, traded places with H. H. Lee, at Co. C. Elkins. R. G. Fink was transferred from Wayne to Weirton.

PARADE MARSHAL — Betty Madigan, songstress of radio, TV and stage, will be marshal of the firemen's parade at the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, Va., Thursday, April 28, at 6 p.m. As marshal of the blossom fete's first day parade, Miss Madigan will lead "the world's largest aggregation of volunteer fire fighters and fire-fighting equipment," plus bands, drum and bugle corps, marching groups, majorettes, riding groups, clowns and other units. The parade lasts more than two hours.

St. Peter's Church To Elect Board Members

LONACONING—Annual congregational meeting will be held Wednesday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Peter's Episcopal church. Reports will be given by the advisory board and organizations.

Election of two members to serve on the advisory board for three years will be held. The advisory board will act as nominating committee and nominations may also be made from the floor.

Aleck M. Sloan and James E. Snelson, elected last year to serve for a one-year period will retire from the board.

Rev. Leslee E. Schwindt, vicar, will be host at a dinner on Sunday, April 24, for the members of the advisory board and their wives.

6 Dams To Be Built On So. Fork River

Part Of 23 Planned Impoundments

FRANKLIN, W.Va. — Six dams will be under construction this summer in the flood control project on the South Fork of the South Branch of the Potomac River, according to H. D. McVey, Morgantown, West Virginia Conservation Service administrative officer.

The six dams will be among the 23 dams planned in the overall project, which is estimated to cost $4,290,000 and will require ten years to complete.

Site 27 on Dry Run and Site 13 on Hawes Run in Pendleton County near Brandywine are under construction.

More Bids Opened

The Site 27 job is being done by Buckley-Lages Inc., Winchester, and Site 13, by Lester B. Frank, Harrisonburg.

Last week bids were opened for Site 10 on Stony Run, also in Pendleton County, and the low bidder was Bernie Snyder of White Sulphur Springs with a figure of $118,588. He was awarded the contract.

Bidding was very close among several contractors but the range for the 15 bids went as high as $199,000.

Following Snyder closely was Elva C. Riggleman of Moorefield with $119,972; E. D. Plummer, Chambersburg, Pa., $120,103; Hodgins and Gilliam, Upperville, W. Va., $120,199; and Via Company, Richmond, $124,939.

Included among the bidders were E. O. Clower, Romney, $135,216; George F. Hazelwood Company, this city, $136,212; and Frank, of Harrisonburg, $132,208.

Covers 23 Acres

The Stony Run dam will have a 2.68 mile drainage area; will have a regular pool covering five acres and a capacity of 23 acre in a detention pool during high waters.

The dam will be 65 feet high and the fill will require 202,400 cubic yards of earth.

McVey said bids were opened on Site 12 at the soil conservation office in Morgantown and the successful bidder was Hott and Miller of Brandywine and Wardensville with a bid of $67,924.

Site 12 is on Detimer Run of South Fork and the dam will be 59 feet high, requiring 112,800 cubic yards of earthen fill.

It will have a sedentary pool of six acres and a detention pool covering 27 acres, and will handle a drainage area of 2.34 square miles.

To Ask More Bids

Bids will be advertised this spring for two more jobs—Site 11 on Rodd Run and Site 16 on George Run, both in Pendleton County.

Site 11 will handle a drainage area of 2.92 square miles, and the dam will be 69 feet high and with a sedentary pool of six acres and detention pool of 26 acres.

The George Run dam will handle a 3.78 square mile drainage area, will have a sedentary pool of 14 acres and a detention pool of 49 acres. The dam will be 49 feet high and will require 120,000 cubic yards of earthen fill.

The overall project is aimed at preventing the damaging floods of the past when the South Fork would rage through Pendleton County and Hardy County.

The prime mover in this project has been the Potomac Valley Soil Conservation District which is comprised of the Town of Moorefield and the Pendleton County Commissioners.

Barton Clergy Unite For Good Friday Service

BARTON — Good Friday services will be held from noon until 3 p. m. in a community union service at the Methodist Church, with Rev. Byron Keesecker, host minister.

NOW! THE TIRE THAT DOESN'T GET TIRED
1. Too much flexing wears out people...and tires!
2. The new "Low Profile" tire shape flexes less, reduces heat build-up, increases mileage!
Do a few quick, deep knee bends—and what happens? You heat up fast, soon feel real strain! Ordinary tires do 700 "deep knee bends" per mile... a flexing action that builds up heat, weakens rubber and fabric, increases blowout danger.
Now U.S. Royal drastically reduces the danger of tire failure with a revolutionary new tire—"Low Profile." These tires are lower, wider—flex less, run cooler, wear better.
Our stock is complete...all sizes available. And best of all, our prices for THE TIRE THAT DOESN'T GET TIRED will surprise you!

Site 11 will handle a drainage area of 2.92 square miles, and the dam will be 69 feet high and with a sedentary pool of six acres and detention pool of 26 acres.

The George Run dam will handle a 3.78 square mile drainage area, will have a sedentary pool of 14 acres and a detention pool of 49 acres. The dam will be 49 feet high and will require 120,000 cubic yards of earthen fill.

The overall project is aimed at preventing the damaging floods of the past when the South Fork would rage through Pendleton County and Hardy County.

The prime mover in this project has been the Potomac Valley Soil Conservation District which is comprised of the Town of Moorefield and the Pendleton County Commissioners.

Kitzmiller Firemen Order New Truck

KITZMILLER — The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department has ordered the purchase of a new truck, Carl Schell, president, announced.

Firemen ordered a 1960 GMC truck chaisis from the Ray Teets Garage in Oakland with a tilt cab. It is to be sent to the General Fire Truck Company of Mansfield, Mo., for a 750-gallon pumper with a 500-gallon booster tank.

Delivery date is expected to be about the last of June. Schell said the company planned to convert the present pumper truck into a tank truck, and that the new machine will be an additional piece of equipment.

NOW! THE TIRE THAT DOESN'T GET TIRED

1. Too much flexing wears out people...and tires!
2. The new "Low Profile" tire shape flexes less, reduces heat build-up, increases mileage!

Do a few quick, deep knee bends—and what happens? You heat up fast, soon feel real strain! Ordinary tires do 700 "deep knee bends" per mile . . . a flexing action that builds up heat, weakens rubber and fabric, increases blowout danger.

Now U.S. Royal drastically reduces the danger of tire failure with a revolutionary new tire—"Low Profile." These tires are lower, wider—flex less, run cooler, wear better.

Our stock is complete...all sizes available. And best of all our prices for THE TIRE THAT DOESN'T GET TIRED will surprise you!

Meeting Set On Survey

Milton B. Millon, director of the Municipal Technical Advisory Service of the University of Maryland, yesterday informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners he would come here to discuss the survey of the county employes classifications.

Millon said his agency had too many requests for wage and salary surveys and due to budget limitations could not undertake such a program for Allegany County.

He said the survey being made for the City of Cumberland will be completed by the end of May and the results would be supplied the county board for inspection. Millon said he would come here to explain the studies which are made and point up some matters which would aid the county.

The State Department of Employment Security is conducting a classification survey for the county at present. Millon is being invited to come here so the commissioners can have the information available.

Name Law Dean

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Allen F. Smith, 49, a native of Delgrade, Neb., and a graduate of the University of Nebraska, was named dean of the University of Michigan Law School Thursday.

He will succeed E. Blythe Stason, who plans to begin his retirement furlough next September. Smith has been on the law school faculty since 1947.

Former Local Man Promoted By Pa. Firm

Wade H. Carder Jr., formerly of Cumberland, has been promoted to the position of technical superintendent of the American Viscose Corporation plant at Lewistown, Pa.

Carder was previously process control supervisor and a staff assistant to the technical superintendent. His new assignment became effective April 1.

He was graduated from high school in Cumberland, and received his BS degree from Clemson College. While a student at Clemson, he was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic fraternity; Phi Psi, a textile fraternity of which he was president; Scabbard and Blade, a national military fraternity and was given recognition in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

He did additional work in advance quality control at Purdue University and has completed several courses conducted by the American Viscose Corporation, some of which he acted as a conference leader.

Prior to coming with the American Viscose Corporation in 1941, he was employed by the Celanese Corporation.

Carder has been active in community affairs. He has served as president of the Lewistown Lions Club and the American Viscose Corporation Foremen's Club, chairman of the Boy Scout troop committee of the Grove Memorial Methodist Church and also a trustee of the church. He is a director of the Lewistown Tennis Association and president of the Lewistown Chapter of American Field Service for Foreign Student Exchange.

During World War II he served as a captain in the Armored Infantry and was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic service in Germany.

He lives with his wife Hazel and son John at 126 East Fleming Avenue, Lewistown.

Randolph Approves Study Plan For Potomac River Basin

Flood control and recreation will be included in the Corps of Army Engineers' survey of the Potomac River basin after Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) said he was willing to include those two features.

The engineers' studies, for which $200,000 was authorized for fiscal 1960, are restricted to water supply impoundments and pollution control above Harpers Ferry.

This limitation was imposed by the Senate Public Works Committee at the insistence of Randolph and West Virginia's other Senator, Robert C. Byrd. They feared then that the Engineers "would come up again with their 1946 proposals," for a chain of high dams for power-generating purposes.

At a recent meeting, Engineers spokesmen assured the two Senators and other officials that they no longer contemplate high dams for hydro-electric power purposes. They do desire, however; to study the feasibility of smaller water storage dams in the headwaters, and recreational potential, in their long-range study.

These assurances were given by Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Lipscomb and Brig. Gen. Alvin C. Welling to Randolph, Byrd, Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) and to representatives of Senators Barry F. Byrd and Willis Robertson, Democrat of Virginia.

The West Virginian's modified position was made known last week to a House Appropriations subcommittee considering funds to continue the study. A Senate appropriations subcommittee was similarly advised last Tuesday.

Civic spokesmen appeared at both hearings to urge that $400,000 be authorized in fiscal 1961 for a stepped-up multi-purpose study.

Lipscomb was asked at the recent meeting to give his opinion of the engineers' 1946 plan.

"In the light of intervening developments, it would be disastrous," replied the General. "Too much emphasis was placed on hydroelectric power. Steam-generated electricity is now much cheaper and the cost of producing hydroelectric power has gone up."

In addition, he noted that the value of apple orchards and farmland has multiplied.

Marvin J. Minifee, aide to Byrd of Virginia, declared at the meeting that danger of floods "no longer exists" because thousands of farm ponds now prevent a great deal of water from reaching the main streams.

Randolph said there are many forested and untilled areas in the headwaters that could be used as dam sites without flooding rich agricultural land.

Can The Congolese Manage It Alone?

The fate of Belgian business holdings in the Congo will be discussed at an economic conference between Belgian officials and Congolese independence leaders beginning today at Brussels. The Congo receives independence from Belgium on June 30, but there is great uncertainty over the ability of the Congolese to run the new nation's finances and economy.

Even the proud Congolese leaders, many of them tribal chiefs, seem to recognize that the new state, one-third the size of the United States and rich in mineral resources, will need outside assistance. William A. M. Burden, U.S. Ambassador to Belgium, reported on April 4 after a three-week tour of the Congo that most of the native leaders wanted the Belgians to stay at posts in the administration after independence day. Belgium already has earmarked about $100 million in its 1960 budget for economic assistance to the Congo and its more than 11 million inhabitants.

Political instability, however, is giving rise to grave concern about the future, particularly among individual Belgian business men. Rivalry between the Conakat Party, which was victorious in provincial elections in December, and the rival Balubakat-Federa coalition of small parties erupted into rioting March 12, in which five Africans were killed and 145 injured.

In the central Kasai Province, clashes between Lulua and Baluba tribesmen caused a dozen or more deaths in January—evidence of the persistence of a way of life that will challenge leaders of a vast land that has been called the richest in Africa.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The China Lobby

Alfred Kohlberg was an American merchant who traded with Nationalist China. His specialty was textiles. His business grew to fair dimensions and he joined the various organizations which concerned themselves with Far Eastern affairs. Among others he joined the Institute of Pacific Relations and found therein something which contradicted his experience. He was not particularly interested in politics and his discoveries surprised him, for he had heretofore respected great names.

He thereupon set out to investigate the Institute of Pacific Relations not knowing especially what he would find. This one event set off a whole series of Congressional investigations including those of the McCarran Committee and the McCarthy Committee.

Kohlberg had stumbled on a truth, which rarely happens to any of us. He found that many public organizations of the American people, private organizations with high-sounding names and headed by distinguished men, were infiltrated by Communists, on the administrative level, who formed each organization's policies and determined its goals. Kohlberg took up the fight and never stopped until he died last week.

Naturally Kohlberg was called many ugly names. These he accepted as labels of distinction, but the one that pleased him most was "China Lobby." He proclaimed himself to be the "China Lobby," and challenged all and sundry to investigate him. I do not know how many thousands of dollars of his own money Kohlberg spent advertising himself as the "China Lobby" and demanding an investigation. A man of means and integrity, he, of course, would not have accepted a cent from Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tze-tung or anyone else to support his opinions. He was a man of strong convictions with enough cash on hand to back them up.

A merchant, not a scholar, he was without any interest in the sectarian attitudes of the various anti-Communists. He was really not so much a doctrinaire anti-Communist as he was pro-American. He did not split the fine hairs of definitions; it was sufficient for him that he had witnessed what the Communists did to China and he did not want them to do the same to the United States. For Kohlberg, it was sufficient that he regarded the Communists as indecent and profane.

A Jew, he organized the American Jewish League Against Communism. He insisted that he could not understand how a Jew could possibly be a Communist or sympathetic to Communism. He expected the entire Jewish people to rally to his organization. They did not.

This disappointed Kohlberg but until he moment he died, he continued to finance various organizations and groups in the battle against Soviet Russia. He must have spent a fortune of money; he gave of his health and even after he had had several coronary failures, he kept his work going. He retired from his business but he never retired from the cause which he had made his. He was a little David fighting a world of Goliaths and he fought well.

Where does the moral strength come from which transforms a merchant into a battling leader of men in a cause to which many devote their lives? Kohlberg reminded one of the prophets of old, the men who feared not the mighty, who rejected power, who never considered themselves. No great orator, no powerful writer, no organizer of movements, a man with a delightful sense of humor, whose wit led him into many arid fields, Kohlberg, with a profound sense of justice, developed an enormous and significant following of men and women, some publicly important in their own right, who turned to him for counsel and advice.

And it is one of those peculiarities of life that many who hated him as a fanatic who destroyed their short-cuts to the truth, in his last years recognized the intuitive patriotism of Kohlberg. He knew no divided loyalties. The United States was his country; he rejected affinity for any other. If he labored for Nationalist China, it was because he believed that was best for the United States.

And now Alfred Kohlberg is dead. He will no more trouble bureaucrats with his investigations or his wit. He, who burst the blubber of many puffed up officials is no more to plague them. But what Kohlberg started will never die. It caught the fancy of many younger men and women that truth is not a fallacy and courage is not a sin.

Bickering And Backstage Lobbying Delayed Gulf-To-Canada Pipeline

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Preliminary Congressional probing has only scratched the surface in digging into the operations of "Tommy the Cork" Corcoran and the Federal Power Commission.

In the background is the biggest pipeline in the history of North America and in some respects the basic question of whether the USA is going to win out against Khrushchev's challenge that communism will bury us.

What the Russians have done is to plan a 2,000-mile pipeline from the Black Sea to the Baltic and then, without any bickering or backstage manipulating, go ahead and build it.

What the United States and Canada did was to plan five years ago for a pipeline of about the same length from the gas-oil fields of the Gulf of Mexico to the rich fields of central Canada, and then proceed to bicker and backstage lobby so that it isn't built yet.

The Trans-Canada Transmission Company was the pet project of C. D. Howe, Massachusetts-born Canadian Minister of Defense Production, who dreamed of a gas-oil link insuring a stable supply to both Canada and the United States. However, when Howe's Liberal government was defeated, the new Diefenbaker government almost failed to renew the license. In fact, it was not renewed until two weeks ago.

Midcontinent Dream

The American link in this huge pipeline connection was the dream of Gardiner Symonds, head of Tennessee Gas Transmission and his Washington attorney, Tom Corcoran, who as a member of the Roosevelt brain trust had helped Harold Ickes pioneer the Big and Little Inch pipelines, then considered almost revolutionary.

Just as the Big and Little Inch pipelines were fought by John L. Lewis and the coal interests, so the Gulf-Canada pipeline was fought by rival gas interests. The backstage battle to stop this pipeline—or else share in it—included such powerful figures as the Tom Dewey law firm of New York, the Dulles law firm, plus some of the remnants of the old Insull utility empire in the midwest.

At one time the heads of three of those companies held a confidential meeting at the Chicago Club with Gardiner Symonds of Tennessee Gas demanding that he sell them three-quarters interest in the pipeline to Canada. They hadn't originated the dream, yet they wanted a piece of it. Another secret meeting took place in the Carlton Hotel in Washington, Jan. 3, 1957 to renew this demand—or else.

The three who participated were John Merriam of Northern Natural Gas, Ralph McElvenny of American Natural Gas, and James Oates of Peoples Gas Light and Coke. All three have since been indicted, and the man who is blamed by the gas industry for goading the Justice Department to bring the indictments—is Tommy Corcoran. That's why the gas industry leaked word of his huddles with FPC commissioners.

Lobbying For Gas Prices

At about the same time that gas distributors were manipulating backstage to block the Gulf-Canada pipeline, the oil-gas producers were manipulating backstage with Congress to pass a natural gas act removing the Power Commission's right to regulate the price of gas. That too failed.

However, the man who was president of the natural gas lobbying committee, Leonard F. McCollum, testified before a Senate committee June 14, 1956 that his group had spent $1,753,513 "to educate the public" on the dangers of Federal regulation.

This is the same Leonard McCollum who is president of Continental Oil, a member of the big four CATCO combine which tried to sell gas to Tennessee Gas Transmission for use in its Gulf-Canada pipeline at the high price of 22.4 cents per thousand feet. And despite McCollum's fears of Federal regulation, the Federal Power Commission OK'd this high price. It bowed to the gas industry.

Only commissioner William Connole, the consumers' champion, dissented.

In the end and after a long battle through the courts, McCollum's fears proved justified. For Connole's lone dissent served as a guide for the ringing opinion by Justice Tom Clark of the Supreme Court against the gas companies. He warned that the 22.4-cent price created dangerous price plateaus, and that 17.5 cents was enough.

It was following this that the White House refused to reappoint Commissioner Connole, champion of the consumer, to the Federal Power Commission.

Note—Final fact is that the five-year struggle to build a Gulf-Canada pipeline has not yet been quite successful. On April 2, the Canadian cabinet finally OK'd the sale of gas and the construction of a pipeline from Trans-Canada through Winnipeg to the U. S. border. And the Federal Power Commission has OK'd the construction of a line from Emerson, Manitoba to Marshfield, Wis., under the jurisdiction of Tennessee Gas. But they will not connect. There will be gap between Chicago and Wisconsin. Meanwhile the Russians are pushing their through pipeline from the Black Sea to the Baltic.

Under The Dome

Though the White House was smart in appointing Harold Baynton, Democratic counsel to Senator Magnuson's Commerce Committee to replace Commissioner Connole, it hasn't gone down well with a lot of people, including Baynton. He has a high respect for Connole, doesn't like the idea of pushing him out of a job . . . The Federal Power Commission will now be lopsided with westerners — Jerome Kuykendall of Washington state, Arthur Kline of Wyoming, and Baynton of Nevada. This leaves the heavy gas-consuming states of the east, which have to worry about the price of gas, with no voice on the commission . . . Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, Republican, plans to do battle at the White House over freezing Connole out of the FPC. He points out that New England, with rugged winter and no coal or gas of its own, is one of the heaviest gas consumers and deserves some say in fixing the price of gas. Instead, its lone commissioner, Connole of Connecticut, is being given the gate.

Sociologists And The 'Law Of The Land'

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It is a rare thing for a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to discuss publicity at any time afterwards a case in the decision of which he has participated. It has always been the custom for Justices to stand on what they wrote in the opinion itself no matter what criticism came later.

The address, therefore, that Justice William O. Douglas delivered before the Cornell Law School at Ithaca, N. Y., a few days ago has begun to attract attention, particularly because it reopens and, in a sense, supplements the text of the famous desegregation decision of May 17, 1954. It revives debate, too, on whether the Supreme Court in that case decided a question of constitutional law or a question of psychology.

"Judges," said Justice Douglas, "like the cases with which they deal, are more than statistics. The electronics industry — resourceful as it is — will never produce a machine to handle these problems. They are delicate and imponderable, complex and tangled. They require at times the economist's understanding, the poet's insight, the executive's experience, the political scientist's understanding, the historian's perspective."

This view will be disputed by those who feel that the founding fathers set up a Supreme Court to decide not what the law or the Constitution ought to be but what it really is, based on written acts of Congress and written provisions in the Constitution. This is why Judge Learned Hand, retired, America's most outstanding jurist, expressed in his famous lecture to the Harvard Law School two years ago the fear that the Supreme Court of today might become a "third legislative chamber."

But it is in relation to the desegregation decision that Justice Douglas's new comments will be widely debated. He gave to the Cornell law students this concept of the present-day court:

"There is the myth that has received great impetus since Brown v. Board of Education, 347 U.S. 483. It is that the court made an exception in those school segregation cases and picked them out as the occasion to rely on 'sociological' data, not on law or precedents. Yet those who work in constitutional law know that business facts, economic data, institutional practices, and social materials often are relevant to enlightened decisions on Constitutional issues. The Brandeis brief, filed in 1908 in Muller v. Oregon, 208 U.S. 412, and containing vast citations to economic and social data bearing on the hours of work by women, is the classical example."

But Justice Douglas missed the main point of the criticism that has been made about "sociological" data. Nobody has objected to the introduction of data of any kind in a formal brief filed prior to the argument before the court. What is objected to is the lack of an opportunity to the other side to present a rebuttal or ever to cross-examine the experts or "authorities" before they are cited for the first time in a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The 1954 desegregation cases, moreover, involved precedents that had allowed the states from 1868 to 1954 to establish schools with "separate but equal" facilities. Indeed, contrary to a general impression, the famous case of Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas, involved a state law, passed in 1949, that permitted but did not require cities of more than 15,000 population to maintain separate school facilities for Negro and white students. The Topeka board set up segregation only in elementary schools and operated all other public schools on a non-segregated basis. The lower court ruled that the facilities in both kinds of schools were equal and that the Fourteenth Amendment wasn't being violated.

The Supreme Court of the United States, however, based its judgment on a number of citations of a sociological nature, even though similar data were also available for use in the many cases decided in the period between 1896 and 1954 by eminent Justices, including Charles Evans Hughes and Oliver Wendell Holmes. Yet the 1954 decision said:

"Whatever may have been the extent of psychological knowledge at the time of Plessy v. Ferguson, this finding is amply supported by modern authority. Any language in Plessy v. Ferguson (1896) contrary to this finding is rejected."

When does authority become "modern"? The "separate but equal" doctrine was upheld by the Supreme Court as late as 1950. The very fact, that the Supreme Court did reverse decisions and precedents of long standing and base its judgment on "psychological" data is the reason why it has been severely criticized as having opened the way for a nine-man judicial autocracy to function. If there is to be a scrapping of the written Constitution and the substitution of an unwritten Constitution to be formulated out of the doctrines of poets, historians, economists and even business executives, there are many citizens who would favor a system such as prevails in Great Britain, where the parliament, elected by the people, is the body that writes the "law of the land."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ARTIFICIAL OCEAN — The Navy is building its own private, artificial ocean just outside Washington. Its purpose is to make better tests of ship-hull models in simulated wave and current conditions.

The "sea" will be housed indoors at the David Taylor model basin, an installation that has served ship designers for many years. Private designers have been permitted to use the facility and will receive the same privilege when the new installation is completed.

The new tank will be larger and wider than a football field. It will cover more than five acres, and measure 350 by 230 feet. It will hold 12 million gallons of water, which will be preheated to prevent damage to supporting walls by sudden changes in temperatures. The main body of the sea will be 20 feet deep with a 35-foot trench running down the center.

Cost will be about $12 million, or $1 for each cubic foot of water available for testing. However, experts calculate that the expenditure will actually save the government many millions by minimizing the chances of error in ship design.

Not only will the new basin be able to test surface vessels, it will be equipped with a circular tank deep enough to test the design of submarine hulls.

The entire installation will be equipped with wave-making apparatus to simulate anything from ripples to extreme storm and cross-current conditions, on order from an electronic brain.

As one example of how the basin will work, a ship designer thinking of building a vessel for the New York-to-Rio run will be able to have his test model experience all the oceanic conditions it will encounter on such a trip right at the basin.

Unneeded Daily Vitamins Are Waste Of Money

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Vitamins are needed by the body for the proper metabolism of food. They have no value unless consumed with food because they need something to work on. A barrel of multiple vitamin capsules would be virtually useless to a starving man on a desert island. Nature was plenty smart when she incorporated these substances in food as a package deal.

A person who consumes an adequate diet rarely needs additional vitamins. This applies to healthy persons and not to those suffering from disease, metabolic disorders, or injury. Individual variations occur in that some men and women require more vitamins whereas others could get along on less.

Many persons take a supplemental preparation daily, figuring it won't do any harm and might do some good. There is no objection to this practice except that it represents a waste of money, especially when excess vitamins are not needed and go in one end and out the other.

They might do some good, however, if the individual is under stress, eats erratically, or drinks a bit too much. Here the supplement is aimed at correcting nutritional deficiencies. Polyvalent products contain vitamins A. D. B6, B12, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, ascorbic and acid (C), pantothenic acid, and folic acid. They may or may not contain minerals and trace elements.

Supplemental vitamins are not to be confused with the therapeutic products containing much larger quantities per dose. They are of value in the treatment of deficiency states resulting from illness or general dietary inadequacies.

Most physicians prefer to treat a definite vitamin deficiency with the type that is lacking. In scurvy, for example, large amounts of vitamin C are used whereas vitamin B complex is utilized in certain types of neuritis and in alcoholism.

TOMORROW: Housewife's fatigue.

INFANT'S BAGGY LIDS

Mrs. M. P. writes: What causes my 3 months old infant to waken with puffy eyelids every morning? The swelling disappears by afternoon.

REPLY

Your physician should be consulted because examination will be needed to determine the cause. Eyelid puffiness occurs in normal infants but inflammation, allergy and kidney disease also must be considered.

GREASY FOODS

A. N. L. writes: If I eat fried or greasy food for dinner, I wake up in the night with heartburn and fluid backing into my mouth and nose. Can you make any suggestions in my problem?

REPLY

You could avoid fried foods but it is safer to pursue the problem more thoroughly to find the cause. X-rays of the gall bladder and stomach will show whether infection, ulcer, or hernia exists. The acid content of the stomach is determined by analyzing the secretions. Heartburn may stem from too little or too much acid or from an irritated esophagus (gullet) that is activated by fried foods or nervousness.

LOW PRESSURE IN AGED

L. P. writes: Is low blood pressure normal in a person pushing 80?

REPLY

Yes. Persons with high blood pressure seldom become octogenarians.

DENTED TIN CANS

J. J. W. writes: The Office of Civil Defense advises that no food in bent tin cans be stored in a shelter. I wonder what the reason is, as most stores sell dented cans.

REPLY

I assume this rule was made because there is a chance that a dented tin can may have a small break, through which contamination could reach the contents if stored for a long time.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A cute, little girl in Iowa was given a sizeable speech to memorize in time for the annual PTA meeting. Three days before the meeting, however, the elocution teacher received this note from the little girl's mother: "Dear Teacher. I'm sorry to say Audrey will not be able to recite Friday night. The goat ate her speech.

A gentleman farmer prepared a beautifully landscaped enclosure with an aluminum fence, a marble pool and a fountain in the center. Then he took his pigs out of their old sty and proudly prodded them into the new enclosure. A young sow grunted happily to her favorite hog, "Goody, goody! Just what I've always wanted! A fountain pen!"

Attributed to Red Skelton: "This morning I saw an automobile with a pair of old shoes hanging on the back. It was either a very fast wedding or a very slow pedestrian."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The difference between age 16 and age 52 is more than a matter of arithmetic. It is, I like to think, naivete vs. wisdom, experience vs. innocence, confidence vs. cowardice. Whatever it is, it is never more apparent than when Gayle and I leave home.

At home, I am vaguely conscious of her. She grows taller, a little more secretive, and conversely, a little freer with her advice to me. The morning and goodnight kisses used to be antiseptic pecks on the jowls. Now they last a whole half a second, and an arm around the neck goes with them.

Her room, sometimes, looks as though someone left the window open the night of the hurricane. At others, it is impeccably neat and I know then, without being told, that girl friends are coming. For her last birthday, she got her own telephone—for which she pays out of spending money and odd jobs around the house—and I wish that she would talk to me like she talks to it.

Now we are spending the Eastertide in Miami, and the difference between 16 and 52 becomes more apparent. Gayle wants to take a driver's test in Florida. My fears, she thinks, are a bit theatrical. She is ready to fly up Flagler Street at 15 miles per hour. So she says.

There are other signs. Many others. I've been using airplanes since 1929, but, when she gets in the big National Airlines DC-8, she checks my seat belt before takeoff and says: "Why don't you take a nap and I'll wake you up when we're coming in."

At Miami International she says: "Sit down and take it easy. I'll get the luggage." All of which is filial devotion at its finest, and most repulsive. Sometimes, when I am combing my hair, she says: "That's good. I can't even see the little bare spot in the back."

There must be a weapon with which to counteract this guff. Ginny, now an old lady approaching her 23rd birthday, has a different approach. Hers is one of genial camaraderie. She assumes now that both of us are adult and, in our bond of deepest affection, we kiss each other with our eyes even when we're talking about her youngsters, who now number three-and-a-half. A handshake between my son-in-law and me speaks volumes of understanding. He knows me. I know him.

Gayle sees herself as a shield of cast iron. She's going to protect the old man. At the Key Biscayne, she calls down for tea the moment we arrive, unpacks the typewriter, sets up the carbons, phones Robert Neal, the manager, to extend greetings, leaves a reminder note for me (in the tiniest script) to phone the Mackle Brothers, rents a car, and asks what day I have set aside to see Ray Stone.

Ray is her cousin and he sells lots up the coast at Port St. Lucie. While waiting for an answer, she is ready to hop into the swimming pool, advising me that it's a little too cool for old bones like mine, and that it would be better to toast myself in the sun. A good whack on the posterior might cure all this, but I doubt it.

Last year, she seemed surprised and a little hurt when I dressed in the evening to go out—alone. This year, she is pleased that she does not have to accompany me to the Barefoot Mailman, the Americana, and other such dens of the dissolute. She has her own crowd.

Gayle knows the rules, and the game. She and her girl friends giggle inordinately at the paddle-footed boys around the edge of the pool, swig colas, eat only between meals, and, with a smidge of lipstick, try to make themselves look like sophisticated women of the world.

That's another of the many differences. I watch them and all of it seems so stereotyped, so hackneyed. I remember the coltish games as though I wrote the script. There is no bashful move, no glance, no smile around the pool that I cannot see through squinting, half-closed eyes, and know exactly what it means.

She trades secrets with other girls and acts as though the whole purpose of life is to enslave the men. Perhaps that is the purpose. In any case, she has a lot of fun trying. Gayle is, on the surface, the complete extrovert — the laughing, joking, gay one.

Underneath, she seethes with hypersensitivity and the more she pretends not to be hurt by the slights of others, the more positive I become that she is wounded. This too is part of being 16, as opposed to 52. At the latter age, I can converse while the handles of two knives stick out of my back and, unless someone yanks them suddenly, I feel no pain.

Vive la difference! . . .

Can The Congolese Manage It Alone?

The fate of Belgian business holdings in the Congo will be discussed at an economic conference between Belgian officials and Congolese independence leaders beginning today at Brussels. The Congo receives independence from Belgium on June 30, but there is great uncertainty over the ability of the Congolese to run the new nation's finances and economy.

Even the proud Congolese leaders, many of them tribal chiefs, seem to recognize that the new state, one-third the size of the United States and rich in mineral resources, will need outside assistance. William A. M. Burden, U.S. Ambassador to Belgium, reported on April 4 after a three-week tour of the Congo that most of the native leaders wanted the Belgians to stay at posts in the administration after independence day. Belgium already has earmarked about $100 million in its 1960 budget for economic assistance to the Congo and its more than 11 million inhabitants.

Political instability, however, is giving rise to grave concern about the future, particularly among individual Belgian business men. Rivalry between the Conakat Party, which was victorious in provincial elections in December, and the rival Balubakat-Federa coalition of small parties erupted into rioting March 12, in which five Africans were killed and 145 injured.

In the central Kasai Province, clashes between Lulua and Baluba tribesmen caused a dozen or more deaths in January—evidence of the persistence of a way of life that will challenge leaders of a vast land that has been called the richest in Africa.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The China Lobby

Alfred Kohlberg was an American merchant who traded with Nationalist China. His specialty was textiles. His business grew to fair dimensions and he joined the various organizations which concerned themselves with Far Eastern affairs. Among others he joined the Institute of Pacific Relations and found therein something which contradicted his experience. He was not particularly interested in politics and his discoveries surprised him, for he had heretofore respected great names.

He thereupon set out to investigate the Institute of Pacific Relations not knowing especially what he would find. This one event set off a whole series of Congressional investigations including those of the McCarran Committee and the McCarthy Committee.

Kohlberg had stumbled on a truth, which rarely happens to any of us. He found that many public organizations of the American people, private organizations with high-sounding names and headed by distinguished men, were infiltrated by Communists, on the administrative level, who formed each organization's policies and determined its goals. Kohlberg took up the fight and never stopped until he died last week.

Naturally Kohlberg was called many ugly names. These he accepted as labels of distinction, but the one that pleased him most was "China Lobby." He proclaimed himself to be the "China Lobby," and challenged all and sundry to investigate him. I do not know how many thousands of dollars of his own money Kohlberg spent advertising himself as the "China Lobby" and demanding an investigation. A man of means and integrity, he, of course, would not have accepted a cent from Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tze-tung or anyone else to support his opinions. He was a man of strong convictions with enough cash on hand to back them up.

A merchant, not a scholar, he was without any interest in the sectarian attitudes of the various anti-Communists. He was really not so much a doctrinaire anti-Communist as he was pro-American. He did not split the fine hairs of definitions; it was sufficient for him that he had witnessed what the Communists did to China and he did not want them to do the same to the United States. For Kohlberg, it was sufficient that he regarded the Communists as indecent and profane.

A Jew, he organized the American Jewish League Against Communism. He insisted that he could not understand how a Jew could possibly be a Communist or sympathetic to Communism. He expected the entire Jewish people to rally to his organization. They did not.

This disappointed Kohlberg but until he moment he died, he continued to finance various organizations and groups in the battle against Soviet Russia. He must have spent a fortune of money; he gave of his health and even after he had had several coronary failures, he kept his work going. He retired from his business but he never retired from the cause which he had made his. He was a little David fighting a world of Goliaths and he fought well.

Where does the moral strength come from which transforms a merchant into a battling leader of men in a cause to which many devote their lives? Kohlberg reminded one of the prophets of old, the men who feared not the mighty, who rejected power, who never considered themselves. No great orator, no powerful writer, no organizer of movements, a man with a delightful sense of humor, whose wit led him into many arid fields, Kohlberg, with a profound sense of justice, developed an enormous and significant following of men and women, some publicly important in their own right, who turned to him for counsel and advice.

And it is one of those peculiarities of life that many who hated him as a fanatic who destroyed their short-cuts to the truth, in his last years recognized the intuitive patriotism of Kohlberg. He knew no divided loyalties. The United States was his country; he rejected affinity for any other. If he labored for Nationalist China, it was because he believed that was best for the United States.

And now Alfred Kohlberg is dead. He will no more trouble bureaucrats with his investigations or his wit. He, who burst the blubber of many puffed up officials is no more to plague them. But what Kohlberg started will never die. It caught the fancy of many younger men and women that truth is not a fallacy and courage is not a sin.

Bickering And Backstage Lobbying Delayed Gulf-To-Canada Pipeline

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Preliminary Congressional probing has only scratched the surface in digging into the operations of "Tommy the Cork" Corcoran and the Federal Power Commission.

In the background is the biggest pipeline in the history of North America and in some respects the basic question of whether the USA is going to win out against Khrushchev's challenge that communism will bury us.

What the Russians have done is to plan a 2,000-mile pipeline from the Black Sea to the Baltic and then, without any bickering or backstage manipulating, go ahead and build it.

What the United States and Canada did was to plan five years ago for a pipeline of about the same length from the gas-oil fields of the Gulf of Mexico to the rich fields of central Canada, and then proceed to bicker and backstage lobby so that it isn't built yet.

The Trans-Canada Transmission Company was the pet project of C. D. Howe, Massachusetts-born Canadian Minister of Defense Production, who dreamed of a gas-oil link insuring a stable supply to both Canada and the United States. However, when Howe's Liberal government was defeated, the new Diefenbaker government almost failed to renew the license. In fact, it was not renewed until two weeks ago.

Midcontinent Dream

The American link in this huge pipeline connection was the dream of Gardiner Symonds, head of Tennessee Gas Transmission and his Washington attorney, Tom Corcoran, who as a member of the Roosevelt brain trust had helped Harold Ickes pioneer the Big and Little Inch pipelines, then considered almost revolutionary.

Just as the Big and Little Inch pipelines were fought by John L. Lewis and the coal interests, so the Gulf-Canada pipeline was fought by rival gas interests. The backstage battle to stop this pipeline—or else share in it—included such powerful figures as the Tom Dewey law firm of New York, the Dulles law firm, plus some of the remnants of the old Insull utility empire in the midwest.

At one time the heads of three of these companies held a confidential meeting at the Chicago Club with Gardiner Symonds of Tennessee Gas demanding that he sell them three-quarters interest in the pipeline to Canada. They hadn't originated the dream, yet they wanted a piece of it. Another secret meeting took place in the Carlton Hotel in Washington, Jan. 3, 1957 to renew this demand—or else.

The three who participated were John Merriam of Northern Natural Gas, Ralph McElvenny of American Natural Gas, and James Oates of Peoples Gas Light and Coke. All three have since been indicted, and the man who is blamed by the gas industry for goading the Justice Department to bring the indictments—is Tommy Corcoran. That's why the gas industry leaked word of his huddles with FPC commissioners.

Lobbying For Gas Prices

At about the same time that gas distributors were manipulating backstage to block the Gulf-Canada pipeline, the oil-gas producers were manipulating backstage with Congress to pass a natural gas act removing the Power Commission's right to regulate the price of gas. That too failed.

However, the man who was president of the natural gas lobbying committee, Leonard F. McCollum, testified before a Senate committee June 14, 1956 that his group had spent $1,753,513 "to educate the public" on the dangers of Federal regulation.

This is the same Leonard McCollum who is president of Continental Oil, a member of the big four CATCO combine which tried to sell gas to Tennessee Gas Transmission for use in its Gulf-Canada pipeline at the high price of 22.4 cents per thousand feet. And despite McCollum's fears of Federal regulation, the Federal Power Commission OK'd this high price. It bowed to the gas industry.

One commissioner William Connole, the consumers' champion, dissented.

In the end and after a long battle through the courts, McCollum's fears proved justified. For Connole's lone dissent served as a guide for the ringing opinion by Justice Tom Clark of the Supreme Court against the gas companies. He warned that the 22.4-cent price created dangerous price plateaus, and that 17.5 cents was enough.

It was following this that the White House refused to reappoint Commissioner Connole, champion of the consumer, to the Federal Power Commission.

Sociologists And The 'Law Of The Land'

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — It is a rare thing for a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to discuss publicity at any time afterwards a case in the decision of which he has participated. It has always been the custom for Justices to stand on what they wrote in the opinion itself no matter what criticism came later.

Indeed, contrary to a general impression, the famous case of Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas, involved a state law, passed in 1949, that permitted but did not require cities of more than 15,000 population to maintain separate school facilities for Negro and white students. The Topeka board set up segregation only in elementary schools and operated all other public schools on a non-segregated basis. The lower court ruled that the facilities in both kinds of schools were equal and that the Fourteenth Amendment wasn't being violated.

The Supreme Court of the United States, however, based its judgment on a number of citations of a sociological nature, even though similar data were also available for use in the many cases decided in the period between 1896 and 1954 by eminent Justices, including Charles Evans Hughes and Oliver Wendell Holmes. Yet the 1954 decision said:

"Whatever may have been the extent of psychological knowledge at the time of Plessy v. Ferguson, this finding is amply supported by modern authority. Any language in Plessy v. Ferguson (1896) contrary to this finding is rejected."

When does authority become "modern"? The "separate but equal" doctrine was upheld by the Supreme Court as late as 1950. The very fact, that the Supreme Court did reverse decisions and precedents of long standing and base its judgment on "psychological" data is the reason why it has been severely criticized as having opened the way for a nine-man judicial autocracy to function. If there is to be a scrapping of the written Constitution and the substitution of an unwritten Constitution to be formulated out of the doctrines of poets, historians, economists and even business executives, there are many citizens who would favor a system such as prevails in Great Britain, where the parliament, elected by the people, is the body that writes the "law of the land."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ARTIFICIAL OCEAN — The Navy is building its own private, artificial ocean just outside Washington. Its purpose is to make better tests of ship-hull models in simulated wave and current conditions.

The "sea" will be housed indoors at the David Taylor model basin, an installation that has served ship designers for many years. Private designers have been permitted to use the facility and will receive the same privilege when the new installation is completed.

The new tank will be larger and wider than a football field. It will cover more than five acres, and measure 350 by 230 feet. It will hold 12 million gallons of water, which will be preheated to prevent damage to supporting walls by sudden changes in temperatures. The main body of the sea will be 20 feet deep with a 35-foot trench running down the center.

Cost will be about $12 million, or $1 for each cubic foot of water available for testing. However, experts calculate that the expenditure will actually save the government many millions by minimizing the chances of error in ship design.

Not only will the new basin be able to test surface vessels, it will be equipped with a circular tank deep enough to test the design of submarine hulls.

The entire installation will be equipped with wave-making apparatus to simulate anything from ripples to extreme storm and cross-current conditions, on order from an electronic brain.

As one example of how the basin will work, a ship designer thinking of building a vessel for the New York-to-Rio run will be able to have his test model experience all the oceanic conditions it will encounter on such a trip right at the basin.

Unneeded Daily Vitamins Are Waste Of Money

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Vitamins are needed by the body for the proper metabolism of food. They have no value unless consumed with food because they need something to work on. A barrel of multiple vitamin capsules would be virtually useless to a starving man on a desert island. Nature was plenty smart when she incorporated these substances in food as a package deal.

A person who consumes an adequate diet rarely needs additional vitamins. This applies to healthy persons and not to those suffering from disease, metabolic disorders, or injury. Individual variations occur in that some men and women require more vitamins whereas others could get along on less.

Many persons take a supplemental preparation daily, figuring it won't do any harm and might do some good. There is no objection to this practice except that it represents a waste of money, especially when excess vitamins are not needed and go in one end and out the other.

They might do some good, however, if the individual is under stress, eats erratically, or drinks a bit too much. Here the supplement is aimed at correcting nutritional deficiencies. Polyvalent products contain vitamins A. D. B6, B12, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, ascorbic and acid (C), pantothenic acid, and folic acid. They may or may not contain minerals and trace elements.

Supplemental vitamins are not to be confused with the therapeutic products containing much larger quantities per dose. They are of value in the treatment of deficiency states resulting from illness or general dietary inadequacies.

Most physicians prefer to treat a definite vitamin deficiency with the type that is lacking. In scurvy, for example, large amounts of vitamin C are used whereas vitamin B complex is utilized in certain types of neuritis and in alcoholism.

TOMORROW: Housewife's fatigue.

INFANT'S BAGGY LIDS

Mrs. M. P. writes: What causes my 3 months old infant to waken with puffy eyelids every morning? The swelling disappears by afternoon.

REPLY

Your physician should be consulted because examination will be needed to determine the cause. Eyelid puffiness occurs in normal infants but inflammation, allergy and kidney disease also must be considered.

GREASY FOODS

A. N. L. writes: If I eat fried or greasy food for dinner, I wake up in the night with heartburn and fluid backing into my mouth and nose. Can you make any suggestions in my problem?

REPLY

You could avoid fried foods but it is safer to pursue the problem more thoroughly to find the cause. X-rays of the gall bladder and stomach will show whether infection, ulcer, or hernia exists. The acid content of the stomach is determined by analyzing the secretions. Heartburn may stem from too little or too much acid or from an irritated esophagus (gullet) that is activated by fried foods or nervousness.

LOW PRESSURE IN AGED

L. P. writes: Is low blood pressure normal in a person pushing 80?

REPLY

Yes. Persons with high blood pressure seldom become octogenarians.

DENTED TIN CANS

J. J. W. writes: The Office of Civil Defense advises that no food in bent tin cans be stored in a shelter. I wonder what the reason is, as most stores sell dented cans.

REPLY

I assume this rule was made because there is a chance that a dented tin can may have a small break, through which contamination could reach the contents if stored for a long time.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A cute, little girl in Iowa was given a sizeable speech to memorize in time for the annual PTA meeting. Three days before the meeting, however, the elocution teacher received this note from the little girl's mother: "Dear Teacher. I'm sorry to say Audrey will not be able to recite Friday night. The goat ate her speech.

A gentleman farmer prepared a beautifully landscaped enclosure with an aluminum fence, a marble pool and a fountain in the center. Then he took his pigs out of their old sty and proudly prodded them into the new enclosure. A young sow grunted happily to her favorite hog. "Goody, goody! Just what I've always wanted! A fountain pen!"

Attributed to Red Skelton: "This morning I saw an automobile with a pair of old shoes hanging on the back. It was either a very fast wedding or a very slow pedestrian."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The difference between age 16 and age 52 is more than a matter of arithmetic. It is, I like to think, naivete vs. wisdom, experience vs. innocence, confidence vs. cowardice. Whatever it is, it is never more apparent than when Gayle and I leave home.

At home, I am vaguely conscious of her. She grows taller, a little more secretive, and conversely, a little freer with her advice to me. The morning and goodnight kisses used to be antiseptic pecks on the jowls. Now they last a whole half a second, and an arm around the neck goes with them.

Her room, sometimes, looks as though someone left the window open the night of the hurricane. At others, it is impeccably neat and I know then, without being told, that girl friends are coming. For her last birthday, she got her own telephone—for which she pays out of spending money and odd jobs around the house—and I wish that she would talk to me like she talks to it.

Now we are spending the Eastertide in Miami, and the difference between 16 and 52 becomes more apparent. Gayle wants to take a driver's test in Florida. My fears, she thinks, are a bit theatrical. She is ready to fly up Flagler Street at 15 miles per hour. So she says.

There are other signs. Many others. I've been using airplanes since 1929, but, when she gets in the big National Airlines DC-8, she checks my seat belt before takeoff and says: "Why don't you take a nap and I'll wake you up when we're coming in."

At Miami International she says: "Sit down and take it easy. I'll get the luggage." All of which is filial devotion at its finest, and most repulsive. Sometimes, when I am combing my hair, she says: "That's good. I can't even see the little bare spot in the back."

There must be a weapon with which to counteract this guff. Ginny, now an old lady approaching her 23rd birthday, has a different approach. Hers is one of genial camaraderie. She assumes now that both of us are adult and, in our bond of deepest affection, we kiss each other with our eyes even when we're talking about her youngsters, who now number three-and-a-half. A handshake between my son-in-law and me speaks volumes of understanding. He knows me. I know him.

Gayle sees herself as a shield of cast iron. She's going to protect the old man. At the Key Biscayne, she calls down for tea the moment we arrive, unpacks the typewriter, sets up the carbons, phones Robert Neal, the manager, to extend greetings, leaves a reminder note for me (in the tiniest script) to phone the Mackle Brothers, rents a car, and asks what day I have set aside to see Ray Stone.

Ray is her cousin and he sells lots up the coast at Port St. Lucie. While waiting for an answer, she is ready to hop into the swimming pool, advising me that it's a little too cool for old bones like mine, and that it would be better to toast myself in the sun. A good whack on the posterior might cure all this, but I doubt it.

Last year, she seemed surprised and a little hurt when I dressed in the evening to go out—alone. This year, she is pleased that she does not have to accompany me to the Barefoot Mailman, the Americana, and other such dens of the dissolute. She has her own crowd.

Gayle knows the rules, and the game. She and her girl friends giggle inordinately at the paddle-footed boys around the edge of the pool, swig colas, eat only between meals, and, with a smidge of lipstick, try to make themselves look like sophisticated women of the world.

That's another of the many differences. I watch them and all of it seems so stereotyped, so hackneyed. I remember the coltish games as though I wrote the script. There is no bashful move, no glance, no smile around the pool that I cannot see through squinting, half-closed eyes, and know exactly what it means.

She trades secrets with other girls and acts as though the whole purpose of life is to enslave the men. Perhaps that is the purpose. In any case, she has a lot of fun trying. Gayle is, on the surface, the complete extrovert — the laughing, joking, gay one.

Underneath, she seethes with hypersensitivity and the more she pretends not to be hurt by the slights of others, the more positive I become that she is wounded. This too is part of being 16, as opposed to 52. At the latter age, I can converse while the handles of two knives stick out of my back and, unless someone yanks them suddenly, I feel no pain.

Coin Containers Help Cancer Society Raise Funds During Drive

More than $700 was collected from containers during last year's Cancer Crusade, according to Herman L. Myers, chairman of the 1960 campaign, who said this year's total was given a healthy boost toward exceeding that amount.

The coin containers, he explained, had hardly been distributed when a call came to have a new one placed in one of the city's service clubs.

Myers said he was agreeably surprised to discover the container represented more than $200, the bulk of which was deposited by two individuals.

Myers said he doesn't expect to run into many such sizeable contributions, but pointed out that anything donated helps in the three aims of the American Cancer Society—research, education and service.

The county organization is patterned after the American Society, the chairman explained, with a portion of the amount realized from the campaign going for research on control of cancer. Major advances are being made in the battle, but it is only through the generosity of each individual that the fight will be won, Myers said.

A comprehensive program on education is carried on by the Cancer Chapter here, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, president. Various doctors and physicians have offered their services for talks and question and answer sessions following films that are made available through the county chapter.

Patient service is the leading objective of the county chapter, according to Mrs. Roeder, who added that the unit never has turned down a request for service from a qualified patient.

LONDON (UPI) — Londoners will be able to toast Princess Margaret on her wedding day until midnight in pubs and until 2 a.m. at "organized functions," Scotland Yard announced Thursday.

Licensing laws usually make it impossible to drink in London pubs after 11 p.m. But the wedding is being considered an occasion special enough to modify this.

Mrs. Jennie Grahame To Get Award

Mrs. Jennie J. Grahame, administrative assistant for the Allegany County Health Department, will be presented a merit award in recognition of 20 years of service at a dinner meeting next Wednesday at the State Health Department Office Building, Baltimore.

Mrs. Grahame will be one of 37 state and county Health Department members who will be presented merit awards by Dr. Perry F Prather, director of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, was experimenting with jet power flying propellers, which he called "winged flywheels," more than a decade before the Wright brothers made their first successful flight at Kitty Hawk.

Wonderful Oven Team

Celery Salmon or Tuna Loaf takes to special Tomato Casserole like "ducks take to water" in both flavor and preparation. The dishes are baked at the same temperature for the same length of time, and they use canned foods, making dinner easy to get. For eye-appeal and good eating, too, garnish the loaf platter with canned spiced pears.

Celery Salmon or Tuna Loaf

1 can (1 lb.) salmon
or
2 cans (6½ to 7 oz. each) tuna
1 beaten egg
1 can condensed cream of celery soup
1 cup tiny bread cubes

To drained and flaked salmon or tuna add egg, soup and crumbs; mix well. Bake in a greased and floured small loaf pan in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes, until firm. Four servings.

Special Tomato Casserole

3 slices day old bread
¼ cup butter, or margarine
1 medium size onion
½ cup thinly sliced celery
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes
Salt
Pepper

Cut bread into cubes and brown in butter. In a casserole combin- sliced onion, celery, tomatoes and bread cubes. Season with salt and pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 30 minutes. Four servings.

When pressing clothes, always press in the direction of the grain of the material, whether or not sems run with or across the grain. On bias skirts, move the iron diagonally across the seam and not up or down the seam.

For mixers, blenders and similar electrical appliances, the elementary rules for care usually are washing away food shortly after use, and drying, with a soft cloth before storing.

Roast Pork Shoulder With Raisin Stuffing

Select a 4- to 5-pound cured pork picnic shoulder, skin it, and remove the bones. Soak strongly cured meat overnight in cold water to cover, drain and wipe dry. Mildly cured meat need not be soaked.

Make raisin stuffing. Pile some of the stuffing into the shoulder, begin to sew the edges together to form a pocket, and gradually work in the rest of the stuffing, but do not pack tightly. Lay the stuffed shoulder, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow pan. Do not add water and do not cover.

Cook until tender at 300-325° F. (slow oven). A 4- to 5-pound shoulder will require about 4 hours. Turn the meat from time to time for even cooking. Remove the strings before serving.

A 9- to 10-pound, long-cut shoulder makes an excellent roast. Cook this cut at 300° F. for 5 to 6 hours, or until the meat is tender.

Raisin Stuffing

(For 4- to 5-pound cured pork shoulder)

1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 cup finely cut celery and leaves
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons fat
½ pound raisings
2½ cups soft breadcrumbs
Salt to taste

Cook the onion, celery, and parsley in the fat for a few minutes. Mix the raisins thoroughly with the breadcrumbs and stir into the cooked vegetables. Salt lightly if at all. If desired, add the grated rind of one-half lemon.

For a 9- to 10-pound, long-cut shoulder, double the quantity of stuffing.

Custard Pie Can Be Made In Several Variations, Coconut, Almond

Plain pastry for one 9-inch pie
4 eggs (or 2 eggs and 4 yolks) slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract
2½ cups milk, scalded
Nutmeg (optional)

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Be sure there are no bubbles under pastry and no holes in pastry. For best results have pastry slightly thicker than usual. Place in refrigerator while preparing filling.

Blend eggs, sugar, salt and flavorings. Slowly pour milk into egg mixture, stirring constantly. Pour custard mixture into pastry-lined pie plate. To avoid custard spilling over edges while transferring pie to oven pour in last cup of filling after pie is in position for baking. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400°F) until knife inserted halfway between outside and center of custard comes out clean, 25 to 30 minutes. Remove promptly to cooling rack. Do not cut pie until just before serving. If desired, sprinkle surface with nutmeg. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Almond Custard: Brown 1 cup chopped blanched almonds in 2 tablespoons of butter in the oven. Sprinkle over bottom of pastry.

Butter Custard: Add 2 tablespoons butter to milk before scalding. Makes a nicely browned top on finished pie.

Custard Coconut: Sprinkle 1 cup finely cut shredded coconut in unbaked pastry shell. Pour custard over coconut. Bake the same as plain custard pie.

Wonderful Oven Team

Celery Salmon or Tuna Loaf takes to special Tomato Casserole like "ducks take to water" in both flavor and preparation. The dishes are baked at the same temperature for the same length of time, and they use canned foods, making dinner easy to get. For eye-appeal and good eating, too, garnish the loaf platter with canned spiced pears.

Celery Salmon or Tuna Loaf

or
2 cans (6½ to 7 oz. each) tuna
1 beaten egg
1 can condensed cream of celery soup
1 cup tiny bread cubes

To drained and flaked salmon or tuna add egg, soup and crumbs; mix well. Bake in a greased and floured small loaf pan in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes, until firm. Four servings.

Special Tomato Casserole

3 slices day old bread
¼ cup butter, or margarine
1 medium size onion
½ cup thinly sliced celery
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes
Salt
Pepper

Cut bread into cubes and brown in butter. In a casserole combine sliced onion, celery, tomatoes and bread cubes. Season with salt and pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 30 minutes. Four servings.

When pressing clothes, always press in the direction of the grain of the material, whether or not seams run with or across the grain. On bias skirts, move the iron diagonally across the seam and not up or down the seam.

For mixers, blenders and similar electrical appliances, the elementary rules for care usually are washing away food shortly after use, and drying with a soft cloth before storing.

Roast Pork Shoulder With Raisin Stuffing

Select a 4- to 5-pound cured pork picnic shoulder, skin it, and remove the bones. Soak strongly cured meat overnight in cold water to cover, drain and wipe dry. Mildly cured meat need not be soaked.

Make raisin stuffing. Pile some of the stuffing into the shoulder, begin to sew the edges together to form a pocket, and gradually work in the rest of the stuffing, but do not pack tightly. Lay the stuffed shoulder, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow pan. Do not add water and do not cover.

Cook until tender at 300-325° F. (slow oven). A 4- to 5-pound shoulder will require about 4 hours. Turn the meat from time to time for even cooking. Remove the strings before serving.

A 9- to 10-pound, long-cut shoulder makes an excellent roast. Cook this cut at 300° F. for 5 to 6 hours, or until the meat is tender.

Raisin Stuffing

(For 4- to 5-pound cured pork shoulder)

1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 cup finely cut celery and leaves
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons fat
½ pound raisings
2½ cups soft breadcrumbs
Salt to taste

Cook the onion, celery, and parsley in the fat for a few minutes. Mix the raisins thoroughly with the breadcrumbs and stir into the cooked vegetables. Salt lightly if at all. If desired, add the grated rind of one-half lemon.

For a 9- to 10-pound, long-cut shoulder, double the quantity of stuffing.

Custard Pie Can Be Made In Several Variations, Coconut, Almond

Plain pastry for one 9-inch pie
4 eggs (or 2 eggs and 4 yolks) slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract
2½ cups milk, scalded
Nutmeg (optional)

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Be sure there are no bubbles under pastry and no holes in pastry. For best results have pastry slightly thicker than usual. Place in refrigerator while preparing filling.

Blend eggs, sugar, salt and flavorings. Slowly pour milk into egg mixture, stirring constantly. Pour custard mixture into pastry-lined pie plate. To avoid custard spilling over edges while transferring pie to oven pour in last cup of filling after pie is in position for baking. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400°F) until knife inserted halfway between outside and center of custard comes out clean, 25 to 30 minutes. Remove promptly to cooling rack. Do not cut pie until just before serving. If desired, sprinkle surface with nutmeg. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Almond Custard: Brown 1 cup chopped blanched almonds in 2 tablespoons of butter in the oven. Sprinkle over bottom of pastry.

Butter Custard: Add 2 tablespoons butter to milk before scalding. Makes a nicely browned top on finished pie.

Custard Coconut: Sprinkle 1 cup finely cut shredded coconut in unbaked pastry shell. Pour custard over coconut. Bake the same as plain custard pie.

Smoked Butt Stars With Spicy Apples

The Pennsylvania Dutch have a way of preparing meat dishes, particularly pork, with a different twist.

Many homemakers will probably be more than pleased to try this Pennsylvania Dutch recipe called Smoked Butt and Apples—Pennsylvania Style.

In this recipe a smoked shoulder butt combines with dried apples along with brown sugar and cinnamon to create a culinary selection that is bound for stardom.

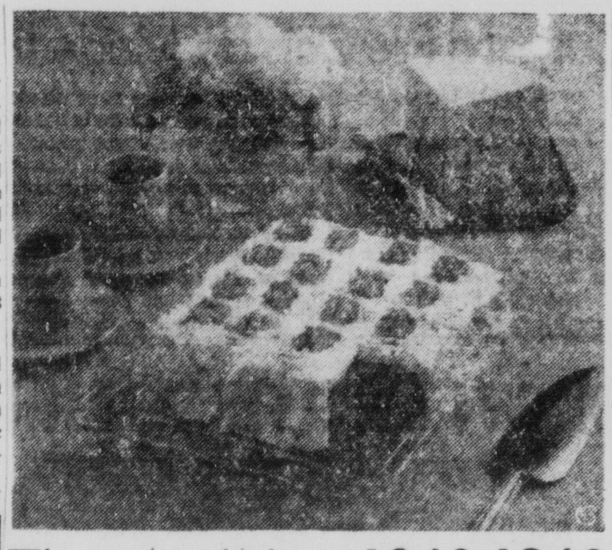
It was probably the German segment of the Pennsylvania Dutch community that brought this recipe over from Europe. So often in a recipe of this type, the word Schnitz is included in the title. Schnitz is the German word meaning dried apples.

Smoked Butt and Apples Pennsylvania Style

- 2 to 3-pound smoked shoulder butt
- 3½ cups water
- 2 cups dried apples
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch

Add 3½ cups water to shoulder butt. Cover tightly and simmer, allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound. Approximately 40 minutes before meat is done, add apples. When meat and apples are done, remove the meat. Add brown sugar, cinnamon and lemon juice to apples. Mix water and cornstarch. Add to apples and continue cooking until apple mixture is thickened. Serve with smoked shoulder. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Little used silver articles will remain bright and untarnished in storage if they are wrapped in self-sealing transparent plastic after being carefully dried to remove all moisture.



Then And Now: 1860-1960

In a delightful old cookbook published in London 100 years ago, the directions seem very amusing to the modern housewife. Her predecessors were admonished to take care lest the cakes be heavy and fall. She was warned that "It is indispensable that all ingredients be heated before mixing. . . flour thoroughly dried and warmed, currants, sugar and anything else the same way, butter and eggs beaten in basins which are fitted into pans of warm water. . .

"Sugar should be rolled with a rolling pin. . . Butter washed and weighed. . . Firkin butter cut in small pieces and washed. For a quick cake, beat whites of ten eggs for one hour. . ."

(Now, aren't you glad you live in the year 1960, in the days of cake mixes and quick frostings? For a truly luscious topping on a spice cake, try:

Danish Blue Cheese Frosting

- ½ cup heavy cream, whipped and mixed with
- ¼ cup Danish Blue Cheese
- ½ cup chopped California walnuts

Crab Salad In Puff Shells

- 1 pound crab meat
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons grated onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- ½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Remove any shell or cartilage from crab meat. Combine all ingredients. Cut tops from puff shells. Fill each puff shell with approximately 2 teaspoons salad. Makes approximately 3 cups salad or fills 60 puff shells.

PUFF SHELLS

- ½ cup flour
- Dash salt
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup boiling water
- 2 eggs

Sift flour and measure. Add salt and sift again. Combine butter and boiling water in saucepan; melt over low heat. Add flour all at one time and stir vigorously until mixture forms a ball and leaves the side of the pan. Remove from heat. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition; continue beating until a stiff dough is formed. Drop by teaspoonfuls on well-greased cooky sheets, 15½ x 12 inches. Bake in a very hot oven, 450° F., for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350° F., and continue baking about 10 minutes longer. Makes approximately 60 puff shells.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Honey Gold Cake

(All ingredients should be at room temperature)

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 3 teaspoons double action baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup sugar
- ¾ cup honey
- ½ cup shortening
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 4 eggs yolks, unbeaten (⅓ cup)

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar into mixing bowl. Add honey, shortening, ½ the milk, and the flavoring to dry ingredients. Stir lightly—just enough to blend ingredients. Beat 200 strokes (approximately 2 minutes by hand or on low speed of electric mixer). Scrape bowl and spoon 2 or 3 times during the mixing but do not count as beating. Add remaining milk and egg yolks. Stir lightly until liquid is blended into batter to avoid splashing when beating is started. Beat 200 strokes. Scrape bowl and spoon as above. Pour into two 8-inch (1¼ inch deep) greased layer cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) until top springs back when lightly touched, about 30 minutes. Let layers stand 10 to 15 minutes in pan. Loosen cakes from sides of pans with spatula, turn out, and turn right side up. Cool cakes completely before frosting. Frost with Fluffy Honey Frosting. Makes 2 8-inch layers.

Get Your Vitamins In Salad Every Day

By LYDIA BICKFORD
AP Newsfeatures

Even if your husband isn't the type that insists on supervising the tossing of the Caesar salad, he'll be better - fed if you put salad on the dinner menu every day in the week.

It's a good way to add needed vitamins to your diet; even though you are careful to see that fresh fruits and vegetables predominate in your meal-planning.

Salads can range from a simple green salad, with dressing of your choice, to a chef's salad, that crowds in meat and cheese strips as well as the greens.

If there's a touch of masculine distaste for the jellied salad, work up to it gradually, and concentrate first on crunchy apple, celery and lettuce combinations. Another variation is the mix-it-yourself salad, which offers a platter of sliced tomatoes, sliced cucumbers, celery sticks, sliced onion, olives and radishes for ready mixing to taste, or for eating individually.

There are endless variations of salads that you can prepare. Here are a few listed as suggestions:

Quick and easy: Mix lettuce, romaine, endive and watercress —serve with bottled French or Italian dressing.

Mix sliced peaches, bananas, pears and grapes. Serve with cream cheese diluted with concentrated orange juice till it is of dressing consistency. A touch of sugar and salt to taste.

Sliced tomatoes, celery and chive cheese. A sprinkle of grated raw cauliflower does something special here. A very tangy dressing is recommended.

Meal-size salad: Slice or cube bits of turkey, chicken, ham and tongue (or any portion thereof), grate American cheese, garnish with hard-boiled egg slices, serve with French or blue cheese dressing.

Potato salad: Pour French dressing over warm boiled chopped potatoes. Chill. Add diced hard-boiled egg and raw onion according to preference. Just before serving, add mayonnaise.

Mr. McKeon gets fooled!
Mr. McKeon doesn't like margarine. He insists on you-know-what. One day Mrs. McKeon served him Mrs. Filbert's Margarine —without telling him, of course.
He tried some and he liked it! It tasted cool and delicate sweet—a moment of sweet delight! He complimented her on buying a better grade of you-know-what these days.
She didn't say anything, because you always let your husband think he's right even when he's wrong. Right?
The fact is though that Mrs. Filbert's is that good—cool and delicate sweet, a moment of sweet delight!

Mr. McKeon gets fooled!
Mr. McKeon doesn't like margarine. He insists on you-know-what. One day Mrs. McKeon served him Mrs. Filbert's Margarine —without telling him, of course.
He tried some and he liked it! It tasted cool and delicate sweet—a moment of sweet delight! He complimented her on buying a better grade of you-know-what these days.
She didn't say anything, because you always let your husband think he's right even when he's wrong. Right?

Gene Mauch Appointed New Manager Of Phillies

Sawyer Quits, Didn't Want Job, He Says

Carpenter Shocked, Minneapolis Pilot Takes Over Today

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eddie Sawyer, unruffled and smiling, resigned Thursday as manager of the National League's Philadelphia Phillies with the simple explanation he didn't want the job.

A "shocked" Bob Carpenter, owner-president, and a "sorry" John Quinn, general manager, promptly announced that Gene Mauch, now managing Minneapolis in the American Association would succeed Sawyer.

Never before in major league history has any manager either quit or been fired so early in the regular season. The Phils played once, and lost, at Cincinnati. They open the home stand Thursday night at Connie Mack Stadium against Milwaukee.

Quits Second Time

Sawyer's resignation—it was the second time he's quit as Phil's manager during a season — and the naming of the 34-year-old Mauch was disclosed at a hastily-called news conference.

Sawyer's quitting, a surprise because it came so early, wasn't entirely unexpected. Many felt Carpenter wouldn't have waited too long to replace him.

But Mauch's hiring on a two-year contract was a surprise—"the most surprising thing that ever happened to me," Mauch said when reached in Florida.

Those rumored most likely to succeed Sawyer had been third baseman Alvin Dark or Kirby Farrell, manager of the Phils' Buffalo Club in the International League.

To Arrive Today

Mauch is expected in Philadelphia Friday. Coach Andy Cohen will direct the team Thursday night.

Mauch was asleep, he said, when Quinn's telephone awakened him. He quickly accepted the post.

"I don't want to be just another big league manager," Mauch asserted. "I want to be the best big league manager in the business.

"I figure I'm on the way because there are only 15 other guys with the same jobs."

As to the Phils, "I don't contemplate any changes. I'm going to have to adjust to the players before they adjust to me. I'll go to them before they come to me. I wouldn't be going there if I didn't think I could help the ball club."

Gets New Post

Braves Lose, 5-4 To Phils In 10th

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Shortstop Joe Koppe, hitless in five previous trips to the plate, singled home the winning run in the 10th inning Thursday night to give Philadelphia a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee in the Phillies home opener.

Koppe singled off reliefer Bob Giggie, the fourth Milwaukee pitcher, to bring home Bobby Del Greco from second base to clinch the game before 32,028 fans, the Phillies' largest crowd here in two years. The blow ended a show of masterminding between Andy Cohen, the Phils' manager for a night, and Chuck Dressen, the Milwaukee pilot.

Del Greco, who had a homer and a double to his credit, walked to open the 10th and stole second. Jim Coker flied out and then Ted Lepcio was sent up to bat for Don Cardwell, whose homer tied the game, 4-4, in the sixth.

Giggie replaced Juan Pizarro and Cohen sent up southpaw-swinging John Callison. The rookie was passed purposely and then Koppe singled past Johnny Logan to send home the winning run.

Cardwell, who pitched six innings in relief behind starter Curt Simmons and reliefer Reuben Gomez, was the winner with Pizarro the loser.

Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock rocked Simmons with homers in the first inning and the southpaw gave way to Gomez in the second after an error and a single put two men on base.

Rookie Stands Out In Cleveland Win

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Rookie Mike de La Hoz bade goodbye to Cleveland Thursday as the key man in a 5-1 exhibition victory over Boston. The game was marked by the first base debut of the Red Sox Bobby Thomson.

In the first inning, de La Hoz, assigned before the game to Mobile, walked, stole second and third and scored on Tito Francona's fielder's choice grounder.

De La Hoz singled in the third to touch off a two-run burst and in the fifth he singled in the midst of another scoring frame.

Thomson played the last five innings at first base using a fielder's glove. He had no difficult chances but did get signals crossed with pitcher Bill Monbouquette on a bunt play that could have wiped out Thomson, the base runner and the first base umpire all in one throw.

Avila Optioned

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Infielder Bobby Avila, who could not reach a salary agreement with the Milwaukee Braves, said Thursday he has been optioned to the Mexico City Tigers of the Mexican League for the coming season.

The action was taken at Avila's request. As a native Mexican, he preferred to play here this year.

Purple Heart Wins Shuffle League Title

Beats Peck's Cafe By Total 31 Points

The Purple Heart Club captured the championship of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League last night by defeating Peck's Cafe at Frostburg in the last three games of their six-game series by 15 points, 71 to 56.

Purple Heart Club took the series a total of 32 points for the six games, 140 to 109.

It was Purple Heart's third championship in the 13-year history of the league. Cumberland teams have won ten of the 13 championships.

Franklin Defeats Wardensville, 11-5

Franklin High School's Panthers moved into the .500 circle in the Potomac Valley Conference by beating Wardensville yesterday at Franklin by the score of 11-5.

Coach Gus Smith's team collected 14 hits, including a triple by Jerry Miller and two-baggers by Rich Bennett, Ken Nelson and Joe Dahmer.

Floyd Propst who hurled the first four innings for Franklin got credit for the win. Ken Nelson finished for the Panthers, pitched hitless ball and fanned seven.

The win gave Franklin a 2-2 record. Wardensville is 1-4 in conference play.

Allegany Dethrones LaSalle's Dux Team

Campers Cop League Title Rolloff By Margin 37 Maples

Pin spillers from Allegany High School became the new champions of the Bi-State Interscholastic Duckpin League when they dethroned LaSalle High School yesterday on the Club Recreation alleys.

The Campers beat the Explorers by 15 pins in the last three games of the season and increased their margin to 37 maples, 4802 to 4765, for six games.

Allegany—Bill Kelly 956, Larry Peters 914, "Sonny" Kompanek 819, Steve Kornblatt 814, Ed Hasenbuhler 593 (five games), Russ Kuykendall 139 (one game). Allegany's handicap was 567.

LaSalle — Bob Painter 958, "Skip" Merritt 958, John Stevens 920, Dave Burke 904, Emil Krampf 331 (3 games), Bill Leasure 308 (3 games). LaSalle's handicap was 386.

Palmer And Snead To Vie In Ireland

NEW YORK (UPI) —Masters champion Arnold Palmer and Slammin' Sammy Snead Thursday were named as the two-man team to represent the United States in the 8th annual Invitational International Trophy and Canada Cup matches at Portmarnock, Ireland, June 23-26.

Both players have accepted the invitation, IGA President Frank Pace Jr., announced following telephone conversations with the Golfing Union of Ireland, which is co-sponsoring the 30-nation "world series" of golf.

Arcaro Suspended, Will Miss Wood

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Arcaro drew a 10-day suspension for careless riding Thursday from the stewards at Aqueduct. The suspension begins Saturday.

Arcaro was set down for tactics in the fifth race Wednesday aboard Petkens. The suspension means that Arcaro will not be able to ride the Maine Chance Farm's Never Give on April 23 in the $75,000-added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

Wood Is Leader As Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI)—Thorne Wood, a left-handed pro from Asheboro, N. C., fired a sizzling five-under par 66 Thursday to take the first round lead in the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open.

PGA officials said it was one of the first times, if not the first, on record where a left-hander has led a PGA-sponsored tournament.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., the defending champion, and Len Woodward, a newcomer on the PGA circuit from Sydney, Australia, were one stroke back of Wood at the end of the first 18 holes of the 72-hole, 23rd annual tourney.

Signs With Ottawa

OTTAWA (UPI)—Gus Graziano, University of Scranton lineman, has signed a 1960 contract with the Ottawa Rough Riders of Canada's Big Four football league, it was announced Tuesday.

He is the ninth new import announced by Riders for the coming season.

Montreal Cops Hockey Crown

Toronto Drops 4th In Row, 4-0

TORONTO (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens wrapped up an unprecedented fifth straight National Hockey League Stanley Cup Thursday night by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0 for an eight-game sweep of their two playoff series.

The Canadiens became the second team in NHL history to make a sweep of the playoff series. Detroit did it in 1952. Montreal first eliminated Chicago 4-0 with Jacques Plante, the league's No. 1 goalie, turning in two shutouts, and then beat Toronto 4-2, 2-1, and 5-2 before Thursday night's clincher.

Jean Beliveau led the Montreal attack with two goals. He sent the league champions off in front at 8:16 of the first period and scored the final goal at 1:21 of the last session.

In between, Doug Harvey scored at 8:45 of the opener and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard came through a5 16:40 of the second when he flicked the puck past Toronto goalie Johnny Bower after passes by brother Maurice Richard and Dickie Moore had trapped most of the Leafs down the ice.

Gene Mauch Appointed New Manager Of Phillies

Sawyer Quits, Didn't Want Job, He Says

Carpenter Shocked, Minneapolis Pilot Takes Over Today

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eddie Sawyer, unruffled and smiling, resigned Thursday as manager of the National League's Philadelphia Phillies with the simple explanation he didn't want the job.

A "shocked" Bob Carpenter, owner-president, and a "sorry" John Quinn, general manager, promptly announced that Gene Mauch, now managing Minneapolis in the American Association would succeed Sawyer.

Never before in major league history has any manager either quit or been fired so early in the regular season. The Phils played once, and lost, at Cincinnati. They open the home stand Thursday night at Connie Mack Stadium against Milwaukee.

Quits Second Time

Sawyer's resignation—it was the second time he's quit as Phil's manager during a season — and the naming of the 34-year-old Mauch was disclosed at a hastily-called news conference.

Sawyer's quitting, a surprise because it came so early, wasn't entirely unexpected. Many felt Carpenter wouldn't have waited too long to replace him.

But Mauch's hiring on a two-year contract was a surprise—"the most surprising thing that ever happened to me," Mauch said when reached in Florida.

Those rumored most likely to succeed Sawyer had been third baseman Alvin Dark or Kirby Farrell, manager of the Phils' Buffalo Club in the International League.

To Arrive Today

Mauch is expected in Philadelphia Friday. Coach Andy Cohen will direct the team Thursday night.

Mauch was asleep, he said, when Quinn's telephone awakened him. He quickly accepted the post.

"I don't want to be just another big league manager," Mauch asserted. "I want to be the best big league manager in the business.

"I figure I'm on the way because there are only 15 other guys with the same jobs."

As to the Phils, "I don't contemplate any changes. I'm going to have to adjust to the players before they adjust to me. I'll go to them before they come to me. I wouldn't be going there if I didn't think I could help the ball club."

Braves Lose, 5-4 To Phils In 10th

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Shortstop Joe Koppe, hitless in five previous trips to the plate, singled home the winning run in the 10th inning Thursday night to give Philadelphia a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee in the Phillies home opener.

Koppe singled off reliefer Bob Giggie, the fourth Milwaukee pitcher, to bring home Bobby Del Greco from second base to clinch the game before 32,028 fans, the Phillies' largest crowd here in two years. The blow ended a show of masterminding between Andy Cohen, the Phils' manager for a night, and Chuck Dressen, the Milwaukee pilot.

Del Greco, who had a homer and a double to his credit, walked to open the 10th and stole second. Jim Coker flied out and then Ted Lepcio was sent up to bat for Don Cardwell, whose homer tied the game, 4-4, in the sixth.

Giggie replaced Juan Pizarro and Cohen sent up southpaw-swinging John Callison. The rookie was passed purposely and then Koppe singled past Johnny Logan to send home the winning run.

Cardwell, who pitched six innings in relief behind starter Curt Simmons and reliefer Reuben Gomez, was the winner with Pizarro the loser.

Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock rocked Simmons with homers in the first inning and the southpaw gave way to Gomez in the second after an error and a single put two men on base.

Rookie Stands Out In Cleveland Win

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Rookie Mike de La Hoz bade goodbye to Cleveland Thursday as the key man in a 5-1 exhibition victory over Boston. The game was marked by the first base debut of the Red Sox Bobby Thomson.

In the first inning, de La Hoz, assigned before the game to Mobile, walked, stole second and third and scored on Tito Francona's fielder's choice grounder.

De La Hoz singled in the third to touch off a two-run burst and in the fifth he singled in the midst of another scoring frame.

Thomson played the last five innings at first base using a fielder's glove. He had no difficult chances but did get signals crossed with pitcher Bill Monbouquette on a bunt play that could have wiped out Thomson, the base runner and the first base umpire all in one throw.

Avila Optioned

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Infielder Bobby Avila, who could not reach a salary agreement with the Milwaukee Braves, said Thursday he has been optioned to the Mexico City Tigers of the Mexican League for the coming season.

The action was taken at Avila's request. As a native Mexican, he preferred to play here this year.

Purple Heart Wins Shuffle League Title

Beats Peck's Cafe By Total 31 Points

The Purple Heart Club captured the championship of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League last night by defeating Peck's Cafe at Frostburg in the last three games of their six-game series by 15 points, 71 to 56.

Purple Heart Club took the series a total of 32 points for the six games, 140 to 109.

It was Purple Heart's third championship in the 13-year history of the league. Cumberland teams have won ten of the 13 championships.

Franklin Defeats Wardensville, 11-5

Franklin High School's Panthers moved into the .500 circle in the Potomac Valley Conference by beating Wardensville yesterday at Franklin by the score of 11-5.

Coach Gus Smith's team collected 14 hits, including a triple by Jerry Miller and two-baggers by Rich Bennett, Ken Nelson and Joe Dahmer.

Floyd Propst who hurled the first four innings for Franklin got credit for the win. Ken Nelson finished for the Panthers, pitched hitless ball and fanned seven.

The win gave Franklin a 2-2 record. Wardensville is 1-4 in conference play.

Allegany Dethrones LaSalle's Dux Team

Campers Cop League Title Rolloff By Margin 37 Maples

Pin spillers from Allegany High School became the new champions of the Bi-State Interscholastic Duckpin League when they dethroned LaSalle High School yesterday on the Club Recreation alleys.

The Campers beat the Explorers by 15 pins in the last three games of the season and increased their margin to 37 maples, 4802 to 4765, for six games.

Totals yesterday were: Allegany—764, 780, 874—2418. LaSalle, 841, 789, 773—2403.

The scores of the players for six games were as follows:

Allegany—Bill Kelly 956, Larry Peters 914, "Sonny" Kompanek 819, Steve Kornblatt 814, Ed Hasenbuhler 593 (five games), Russ Kuykendall 139 (one game). Allegany's handicap was 567.

LaSalle — Bob Painter 958, "Skip" Merritt 958, John Stevens 920, Dave Burke 904, Emil Krampf 331 (3 games), Bill Leasure 308 (3 games). LaSalle's handicap was 386.

Palmer And Snead To Vie In Ireland

NEW YORK (UPI) —Masters champion Arnold Palmer and Slammin' Sammy Snead Thursday were named as the two-man team to represent the United States in the 8th annual Invitational International Trophy and Canada Cup matches at Portmarnock, Ireland, June 23-26.

Both players ahve accepted the invitation, IGA President Frank Pace Jr., announced following telephone conversations with the Golfing Union of Ireland, which is co-sponsoring the 30-nation "world series" of golf.

Arcaro Suspended, Will Miss Wood

Arcaro was set down for tactics in the fifth race Wednesday aboard Petkens. The suspension means that Arcaro will not be able to ride the Maine Chance Farm's Never Give on April 23 in the $75,000-added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

Never Give In is considered a good Kentucky Derby prospect, having won two races here impressively in recent weeks.

Wood Is Leader As Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI)— Thorne Wood, a left-handed pro from Asheboro, N. C., fired a sizzling five-under par 66 Thursday to take the first round lead in the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open.

PGA officials said it was one of the first times, if not the first, on record where a left-hander has led a PGA-sponsored tournament.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., the defending champion, and Len Woodward, a newcomer on the PGA circuit from Sydney, Australia, were one stroke back of Wood at the end of the first 18 holes of the 72-hole, 23rd annual tourney.

Signs With Ottawa

OTTAWA (UPI)—Gus Graziano, University of Scranton lineman, has signed a 1960 contract with the Ottawa Rough Riders of Canada's Big Four football league, it was announced Tuesday.

He is the ninth new import announced by Riders for the coming season.

Montreal Cops Hockey Crown

Toronto Drops 4th In Row, 4-0

TORONTO (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens wrapped up an unprecedented fifth straight National Hockey League Stanley Cup Thursday night by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0 for an eight-game sweep of their two playoff series.

The Canadiens became the second team in NHL history to make a sweep of the playoff series. Detroit did it in 1952. Montreal first eliminated Chicago 4-0 with Jacques Plante, the league's No. 1 goalie, turning in two shutouts, and then beat Toronto 4-2, 2-1, and 5-2 before Thursday night's clincher.

Jean Beliveau led the Montreal attack with two goals. He sent the league champions off in front at 8:16 of the first period and scored the final goal at 1:21 of the last session.

In between, Doug Harvey scored at 8:45 of the opener and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard came through at 16:40 of the second when he flicked the puck past Toronto goalie Johnny Bower after passes by brother Maurice Richard and Dickie Moore had trapped most of the Leafs down the ice.

Pirates Open At Home With 13-0 Rout Of Cincinnati

Buccos Clout Five Hurlers For 11 Blows

Vern Law Scatters 7 Hits; Cal McLish Kayoed In Third

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

Vernon Law

The Pirates battered five pitchers for 11 hits, six good for extra bases. Roberto Clemente drove in five runs with a pair of doubles, a sacrifice fly and a single. Bill Mazeroski, who trimmed down his excessive weight after a disappointing season in 1959, responded with a double and a homer that accounted for four runs. Gino Cimoli made his Forbes Field debut with two RBI's.

The first five Pirate safeties went for extra bases and paved the way for the eventual removal of loser Cal McLish in the third inning when Pittsburgh stretched its lead to 5-0.

Score Six In Fifth

Ten batters went to the plate in the fifth inning as the Pirates scored six runs on three singles, a double and three walks off reliever Brooks Lawrence. Cimoli singled home two runs and Mazeroski doubled home a pair to cushion the big inning.

Law, an 18-game winner last year, allowed no walks as he went the distance. The only extra-base hits off him were a pair of doubles by second baseman Billy Martin.

The Pirates' big righthander actually was in trouble only once. Martin opened the eighth inning with a double and Eddie Kasko beat out a hit to deep short. But Law got pinchhitter Jerry Lynch to fly out and disposed of Roy McMillan and Vada Pinson on a pop-up and a grounder, respectively.

34,064 Attend Game

An opening day crowd of 34,064 sat in perfect, 80-degree baseball weather to watch the home team atone for a close 4-3 league opener loss at Milwaukee Tuesday.

In an anti-climax Clemente singled home the last pair of Pirate runs in the sixth inning.

The Pirate scoring got off to a flying start in the second inning with back-to-back doubles by Clemente and Smoky Burgess, and then Mazeroski lofted the ball over the clock on the left field scoreboard for the only homer of the game.

It was a sad return to the National League for McLish who won 19 games for the Cleveland Indians last year before being traded to the Reds during the winter.

An Even Dedication

GARY, Ind (AP)—Things were confusing in the first minute of a basketball game dedicating Tolleston High School's new gymnasium. Bob Wilson scored the first basket for Whiting's visitors. Bob Wilson (no relation) scored the first basket for Tolleston. Things were simpler after that. Neither Wilson made another basket.

Trout Season Opens Today In Maryland

Anglers Have 200 Miles Of Streams

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ten thousand fishermen are expected to cast into chilly Maryland streams at daybreak Friday for the opening of the annual battle of wits with trout—browns, brooks and rainbows.

The anglers will have about 200 miles of officially recognized trout streams to try their luck.

The Game and Inland Fish Commission has upped the odds by stocking some 40,000 fish of legal size and some 4,000 over 12 inches in the fishing waters.

The season opens at 5:30 a.m. Fishermen can enjoy themselves until 8 p.m. daily through next March 14.

Early spring rains following late winter snows have put trout waters in the best shape for opening day in many a year, reported Ed Barry, head of the fisheries management for the commission.

The commission has stocked about 300 brook trout—most weighing two to three pounds—in several areas. And there are a few running to eight pounds. They have outlived their usefulness at the Bear Creek Hatchery in Garrett County.

The commission will stock 70,000 more 8 to 10 inch trout before May 31.

The commission will make a survey along the streams Friday to determine whether the trout expenditures are in line with the fishing pressure. Creek checks will be made from 6:30 to 7:30 a.m. and from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. on every stream.

Those in the know recommend worms as the best bait. The garden variety or night crawlers should do the trick.

Ira E. Rodgers, WVU Grid Great, Is Hospitalized

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Former West Virginia football star and coach Ira E. (Rat) Rodgers is undergoing tests in a Pittsburgh hospital to ascertain the extent of an apparent internal ailment.

Rodgers' wife said Thursday that her husband, a member of the National Football Hall of Fame, will remain in Mercy Hospital at least through Easter week end.

Earlier this week, Rodgers said he had lost about 40 pounds since the first of the year. He said he was down to 210 pounds, five pounds above his playing weight when he was an All-America fullback at West Virginia in 1919.

Rodgers said he had been dieting but that part of the loss in weight was due to illness.

Miteff, Warner Fight Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Don (Shotgun) Warner, rising Philadelphia heavyweight, meets Argentine Alex Miteff Friday night in a 10-round nationally televised bout that promises to be a duel of heavy artillery.

Warner, a hard-hitting 20-year-old former tailor, has stopped nine opponents in compiling a 10-1-2 record and hopes to use the eighth-ranked busy-boy of Buenos Aires as a stepping stone to national recognition.

But the 25-year-old Miteff, who boasts 12 knockouts in the course of a 21-5-1 career, plans to capitalize on superior experience and a proven punch to beat the young knockout artist at his own game.

Yanks Win Game Of Eight Homers

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The New York Yankees hit five home runs Thursday and shelled the Richmond Virginians 15-10.

Richmond, a Yankee farm club in the International League, hit three homers off Art Ditmar.

Ditmar, scheduled to go six or seven innings, lasted only three and apparently lost any opportunity he might have had to pitch the season opener in Boston Tuesday.

Teams Practice

The Barrelville Old Exports of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will hold practice sessions Saturday and Sunday at 1 p. m. at Barrelville. New uniforms will be distributed among the players following Saturday's drill.

Manager Jim Ellsworth of the Cardinals of the Dapper Dan Little League requests last season's regulars and farm team players to report Saturday at 10 a. m. at Post Playground.

Corriganville's Old Hermans of the County Softball League will practice today at 5:30 p. m.

The V.F.W. of the Rocking Chair Softball League will report for practice today at 5:30 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field.

Colts Sign Burkett

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts Thursday announced the signing of Jackie Burkett, center-linebaker from Auburn, one of the most highly regarded rookies in the club's history.

The 6-foot-4, 225-pound Burkett was the number one draft choice of the Colts in 1959, although he was not available until this year.

Hyndman Twirlers Lose 1-Hitter, 5-0

Northern Bedford County High School obtained only one hit from the offerings of Roger Cook and Jim Miller yesterday but that one blow coupled with an error, three bases on balls and a fielder's choice produced four runs in the fourth frame and enabled the Hopwell team to defeat Hyndman High School in a Bedford County League game at New Enterprise by the score of 5-0.

Cook, who twirled 4⅓ innings was charged with the loss, the second in a row for the Hornets.

Orioles' Pappas Blanks A's, 3-0

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Milt Pappas, Baltimore right-hander, overpowered the Kansas City Athletics with a 3-hitter today and the Orioles scored a 3-0 exhibition victory.

Pappas became the first Baltimore pitcher to go the route this spring.

The Orioles tagged Bud Daley for two runs in the second inning on consecutive doubles by Brooks Robinson, Willie Tasby and Ron Hansen. Bob Boyd homered against Don Larsen in the eighth to conclude the scoring.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics sold utility fielder Joe Morgan to Louisville of the American Assn. Thursday, trimming their roster to the 28-player limit. The price was not disclosed.

Bill Maphis Among 30 Named On All-America

Buckley, Leftwich Of Bladensburg And John Carroll Picked

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 30-man all-America high school basketball team, topped by three players each from New York and California, was named Thursday by Scholastic Magazines, the national educational weeklies.

The squad, which included 28 seniors and two juniors, drew players from 19 different states and the District of Columbia.

From Philadelphia's Overbrook High School, which produced Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain a few years ago, came Walt Hazzard. And from Oakland McClymonds in California, which started Bill Russell on his way toward the Boston Celtics, came Paul Silas.

JAY BUCKLEY, Bladensburg, Md.; Mel Counts, Coos Bay, Ore.; James Barnes, Stillwater, Okla.; Gene Lane, Cleveland, Ohio; Bill Vincent, Omaha, Neb.; George Wilson, Chicago; Tom Dose, Glendale, Calif.; Garry Garrison, Clayton, Mo.; Bernie Mills, Chicago; Connie Hawkins, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Ray Brown, Dayton, Ohio; Bill Bradley, Crystal City, Mo.; Roger Brown, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Dennis Dairman, North Phoenix, Ariz.; Dave Hicks, New Haven, Conn.; Barry Kramer, Schenectady, N. Y.; Charles Nash, Lake Charles, La.; Ron Bonham, Muncie, Ind.; Joe Caldwell, Los Angeles; Don Frye, Monticello, N.Y.; BILL MAPHIS, Romney, W. Lindskog Chosen Waterfield Aide

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Los Angeles Rams head coach Bob Waterfield announced Thursday the signing of ex-Stanford and Philadelphia Eagle center Vic Lindskog as offensive line coach.

Locke Optioned To Indianapolis

Locke had been counted on as a starter in the Indians' pitching rotation, but he was ineffective in spring training. He had a 6-4 record at San Diego last season. He was brought up to Cleveland in mid-season and won 3 and lost 2, compiling a 3.21 earned run average in 24 games, mostly in relief.

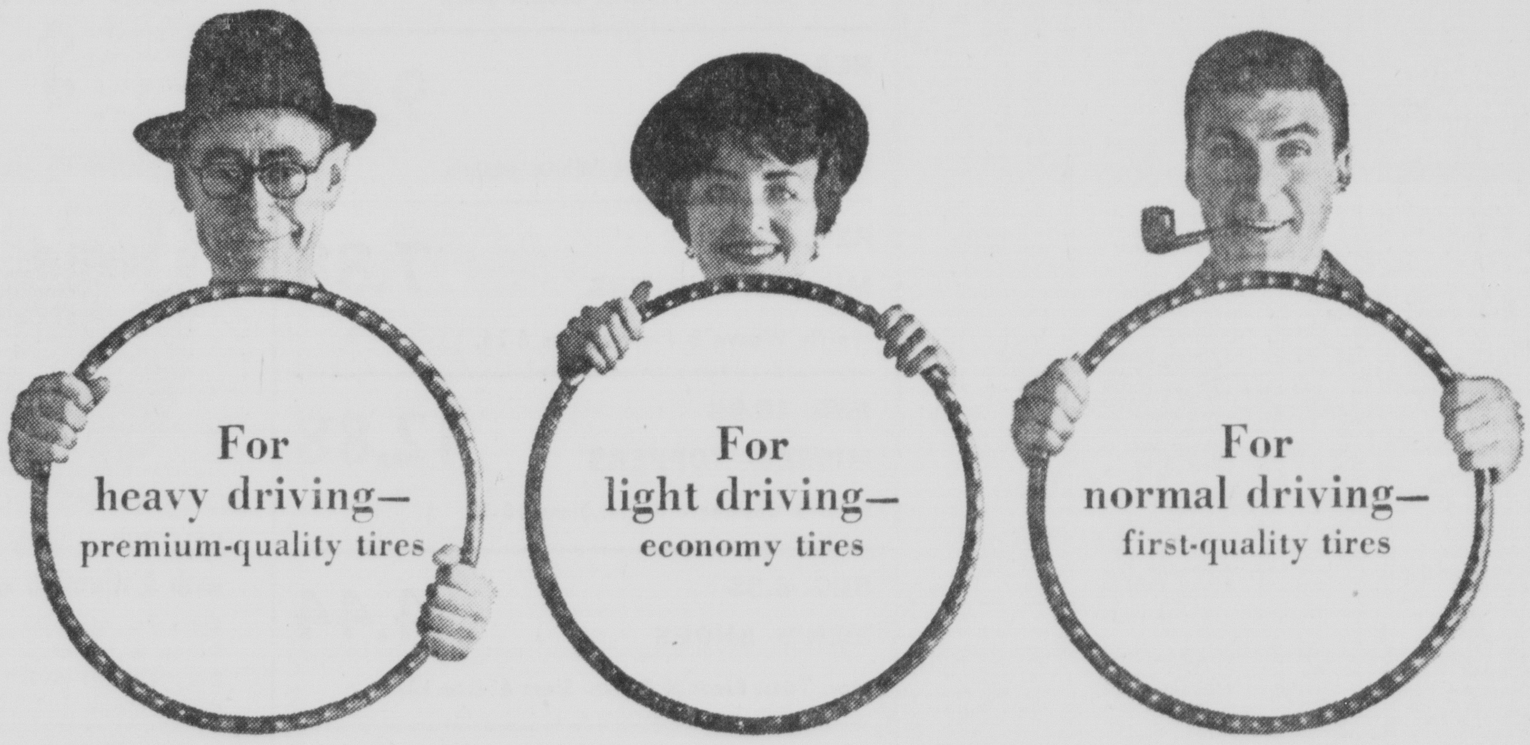
Bewildered about tire claims and grades? Confused about how much to spend? Don't be!
Basically there are 3 kinds of tires for 3 kinds of driving (heavy driving, light and normal).

Buying the right tire is as easy as B-F-G



If you travel the turnpikes, piling up mileage at superhighway speeds — you need a premium-quality tire like the "HT". This new tire has an extra-wide, extra-deep tread on top of 4 plies of extra-strong nylon cord. The "HT" gives 22% more mileage than a regular, first-quality tire... yet costs only about $3 more!

$24.60 B. F. Goodrich "HT" 6.70-15 or 7.50-14, BLACKWALL TUBELESS
Plus tax and your retreadable tire

If you do mostly light driving—like just around town—then you can save real money with economy tires like the BFG "Safety-S". This tire is fine for downtown shopping and short distance trips. With a 7-rib, safe-stopping tread, we believe there's no better economy tire value available anywhere.

$12.95 BFG "Safety-S" 6.70-15, BLACKWALL TUBE TYPE
Plus tax and your retreadable tire

If you're like most drivers, you make hundreds of short trips around the city and a few long ones each year. You need the BFG "Silvertown", the tire chosen for 1960 cars. New "Quiet Rubber" takes the hum out of highways, the squeal out of corners, gives the smoothest ride ever.

$22.35 BFG "Silvertown" 6.70-15 or 7.50-14, BLACKWALL TUBELESS

Pirates Open At Home With 13-0 Rout Of Cincinnati

Buccos Clout Five Hurlers For 11 Blows

Vern Law Scatters 7 Hits; Cal McLish Kayoed In Third

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

Vernon Law

The Pirates battered five pitchers for 11 hits, six good for extra bases. Roberto Clemente drove in five runs with a pair of doubles, a sacrifice fly and a single. Bill Mazeroski, who trimmed down his excessive weight after a disappointing season in 1959, responded with a double and a homer that accounted for four runs. Gino Cimoli made his Forbes Field debut with two RBI's.

The first five Pirate safeties went for extra bases and paved the way for the eventual removal of loser Cal McLish in the third inning when Pittsburgh stretched its lead to 5-0.

Score Six In Fifth

Ten batters went to the plate in the fifth inning as the Pirates scored six runs on three singles, a double and three walks off reliever Brooks Lawrence. Cimoli singled home two runs and Mazeroski doubled home a pair to cushion the big inning.

Law, an 18-game winner last year, allowed no walks as he went the distance. The only extra-base hits off him were a pair of doubles by second baseman Billy Martin.

The Pirates' big righthander actually was in trouble only once. Martin opened the eighth inning with a double and Eddie Kasko beat out a hit to deep short. But Law got pinchhitter Jerry Lynch to fly out and disposed of Roy McMillan and Vada Pinson on a pop-up and a grounder, respectively.

34,064 Attend Game

An opening day crowd of 34,064 sat in perfect, 80-degree baseball weather to watch the home team atone for a close 4-3 league opener loss at Milwaukee Tuesday.

In an anti-climax Clemente singled home the last pair of Pirate runs in the sixth inning.

The Pirate scoring got off to a flying start in the second inning with back-to-back doubles by Clemente and Smoky Burgess, and then Mazeroski lofted the ball over the clock on the left field scoreboard for the only homer of the game.

It was a sad return to the National League for McLish who won 19 games for the Cleveland Indians last year before being traded to the Reds during the winter.

An Even Dedication

GARY, Ind (AP)—Things were confusing in the first minute of a basketball game dedicating Tolleston High School's new gymnasium. Bob Wilson scored the first basket for Whiting's visitors. Bob Wilson (no relation) scored the first basket for Tolleston. Things were simpler after that. Neither Wilson made another basket.

Trout Season Opens Today In Maryland

Anglers Have 200 Miles Of Streams

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ten thousand fishermen are expected to cast into chilly Maryland streams at daybreak Friday for the opening of the annual battle of wits with trout--browns, brooks and rainbows.

The anglers will have about 200 miles of officially recognized trout streams to try their luck.

The Game and Inland Fish Commission has upped the odds by stocking some 40,000 fish of legal size and some 4,000 over 12 inches in the fishing waters.

The season opens at 5:30 a.m. Fishermen can enjoy themselves until 8 p.m. daily through next March 14.

Early spring rains following late winter snows have put trout waters in the best shape for opening day in many a year, reported Ed Barry, head of the fisheries management for the commission.

The commission has stocked about 300 brook trout—most weighing two to three pounds—in several areas. And there are a few running to eight pounds. They have outlived their usefulness at the Bear Creek Hatchery in Garrett County.

The commission will stock 70,000 more 8 to 10 inch trout before May 31.

The commission will make a survey along the streams Friday to determine whether the trout expenditures are in line with the fishing pressure. Creek checks will be made from 6:30 to 7:30 a.m. and from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. on every stream.

Those in the know recommend worms as the best bait. The garden variety or night crawlers should do the trick.

Ira E. Rodgers, WVU Grid Great, Is Hospitalized

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Former West Virginia football star and coach Ira E. (Rat) Rodgers is undergoing tests in a Pittsburgh hospital to ascertain the extent of an apparent internal ailment.

Rodgers' wife said Thursday that her husband, a member of the National Football Hall of Fame, will remain in Mercy Hospital at least through Easter week end.

Earlier this week, Rodgers said he had lost about 40 pounds since the first of the year. He said he was down to 210 pounds, five pounds above his playing weight when he was an All-America fullback at West Virginia in 1919.

Rodgers said he had been dieting but that part of the loss in weight was due to illness.

Miteff, Warner Fight Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Don (Shotgun) Warner, rising Philadelphia heavyweight, meets Argentine Alex Miteff Friday night in a 10-round nationally televised bout that promises to be a duel of heavy artillery.

Warner, a hard-hitting 20-year-old former tailor, has stopped nine opponents in compiling a 10-1-2 record and hopes to use the eighth-ranked busy-boy of Buenos Aires as a stepping stone to national recognition.

But the 25-year-old Miteff, who boasts 12 knockouts in the course of a 21-5-1 career, plans to capitalize on superior experience and a proven punch to beat the young knockout artist at his own game.

Yanks Win Game Of Eight Homers

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The New York Yankees hit five home runs Thursday and shelled the Richmond Virginians 15-10.

Ditmar, scheduled to go six or seven innings, lasted only three and apparently lost any opportunity he might have had to pitch the season opener in Boston Tuesday.

Teams Practice

The Barrelville Old Exports of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will hold practice sessions Saturday and Sunday at 1 p. m. at Barrelville. New uniforms will be distributed among the players following Saturday's drill.

Manager Jim Ellsworth of the Cardinals of the Dapper Dan Little League requests last season's regulars and farm team players to report Saturday at 10 a. m. at Post Playground.

The V.F.W. of the Rocking Chair Softball League will report for practice today at 5:30 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field.

Tigers Win Over Washington, 8-3

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit broke a four-game losing streak Thursday with an 8-3 victory over Washington.

Scoring all their runs off Pedro Ramos, the Tigers rapped out 13 hits with Harvey Kuenn and Neil Chrisley getting three each. Frank Lary went seven innings for the Tigers and gave up all the Senator runs and five hits. Hank Aguirre finished up and kept the Senators from scoring.

Colts Sign Burkett

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts Thursday announced the signing of Jackie Burkett, center-linebaker from Auburn, one of the most highly regarded rookies in the club's history.

Hyndman Twirlers Lose 1-Hitter, 5-0

Northern Bedford County High School obtained only one hit from the offerings of Roger Cook and Jim Miller yesterday but that one blow coupled with an error, three bases on balls and a fielder's choice produced four runs in the fourth frame and enabled the Hopwell team to defeat Hyndman High School in a Bedford County League game at New Enterprise by the score of 5-0.

Orioles' Pappas Blanks A's, 3-0

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Milt Pappas, Baltimore right-hander, overpowered the Kansas City Athletics with a 3-hitter today and the Orioles scored a 3-0 exhibition victory.

Pappas became the first Baltimore pitcher to go the route this spring.

The Orioles tagged Bud Daley for two runs in the second inning on consecutive doubles by Brooks Robinson, Willie Tasby and Ron Hansen. Bob Boyd homered against Don Larsen in the eighth to conclude the scoring.

Joe Morgan Sold

Bill Maphis Among 30 Named On All-America

Buckley, Leftwich Of Bladensburg And John Carroll Picked

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 30-man all-America high school basketball team, topped by three players each from New York and California, was named Thursday by Scholastic Magazines, the national educational weeklies.

From Philadelphia's Overbrook High School, which produced Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain a few years ago, came Walt Hazzard. And from Oakland McClymonds in California, which started Bill Russell on his way toward the Boston Celtics, came Paul Silas.

Lindskog Chosen Waterfield Aide

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Los Angeles Rams head coach Bob Waterfield announced Thursday the signing of ex-Stanford and Philadelphia Eagle center Vic Lindskog as offensive line coach.

Locke Optioned To Indianapolis

Locke had been counted on as a starter in the Indians' pitching rotation, but he was ineffective in spring training. He had a 6-4 record at San Diego last season. He was brought up to Cleveland in mid-season and won 3 and lost 2, compiling a 3.21 earned run average in 24 games, mostly in relief.

Bewildered about tire claims and grades? Confused about how much to spend? Don't be!

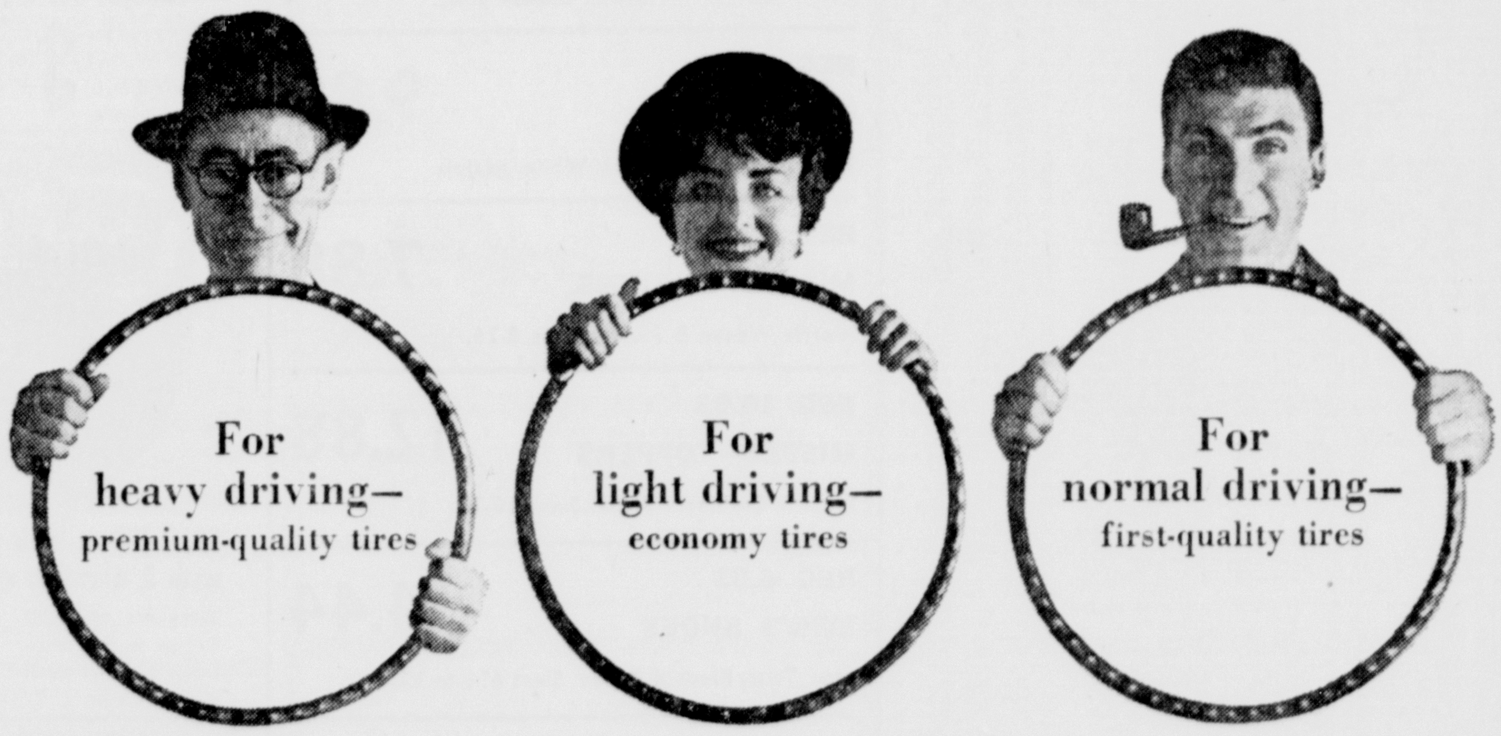
Buying the right tire is as easy as B-F-G



If you travel the turnpikes, piling up mileage at superhighway speeds — you need a premium-quality tire like the "HT". This new tire has an extra-wide, extra-deep tread on top of 4 plies of extra-strong nylon cord. The "HT" gives 22% more mileage than a regular, first-quality tire... yet costs only about $3 more!

$24.60 B. F. Goodrich "HT" 6.70-15 or 7.50-14. BLACKWALL TUBELESS
Plus tax and your retreadable tire

If you do mostly light driving—like just around town—then you can save real money with economy tires like the BFG "Safety-S". This tire is fine for downtown shopping and short distance trips. With a 7-rib, safe-stopping tread, we believe there's no better economy tire value available anywhere.

$12.95 BFG "Safety-S" 6.70-15. BLACKWALL TUBE TYPE
Plus tax and your retreadable tire

If you're like most drivers, you make hundreds of short trips around the city and a few long ones each year. You need the BFG "Silvertown", the tire chosen for 1960 cars. New "Quiet Rubber" takes the hum out of highways, the squeal out of corners, gives the smoothest ride ever.

$22.35 BFG "Silvertown" 6.70-15 or 7.50-14. BLACKWALL TUBELESS

Market Closes Higher On Late Buying Activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market advanced on a burst of late buying activity Thursday.

Leadership in the late rally was provided by some of the steels and motors, leading electronics and scattered blue chips. The list showed a generally irregular price trend before buyers moved into the market in volume an hour before the close.

The concentration of favorable first quarter reports brought gains in a wide number of issues. R. J. Reynolds set new peaks in sales and earnings in the first period and the stock rose ⅝ to 64. Universal Match jumped 8¼ to 110¾ on sharp gains in sales and profits, while Revlon, with record results, rose 2⅞ to 55⅞.

Industrials closed at 630.12 up 3.62 in their average chiefly on gains of 1⅞ in Eastman Kodak, a point each in American Telephone and International Nickel, 1⅜ in General Electric and 2¼ in Owens-Illinois.

Electronics extended their early firmness in the late buying with gains of 2 or more in Magnavox, Texas Instruments and Amphenol, Borg Litton added around 1 and Raytheon more than 1. Motorola lost a point.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures were steady to moderately lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to up ⅛; corn unchanged to off 1¼; oats off ¼ to up ¼; rye off ⅜ to up ¼; and soybeans off ½ to up ⅛.

Much of Thursday's trade consisted of evening up prior to the weekend. The exchange will be closed Good Friday. Trading was very light.

May wheat rallied from an early-morning low of $2.05¼, more than 4 cents down from the season's high. The grain firmed on cash house buying before settling back near the close.

Local traders and commission houses sold wheat, and some stop loss orders were executed. The general trade was light. No export sales were reported, but Brazil was said to be in the market.

Corn futures were steady to weak. Export houses and some local traders, who had sold earlier, moved to the buying side. The September fell more than a cent. Export subsidies were granted on 1,593,000 bushels.

Oats were mostly steady. Commission houses and locals sold early but offerings soon diminished. Cash receipts were small. Unsettled weather was reported in parts of the grain belt, and some farmers were said to be three weeks behind in seeding operations.

Market Closes Higher On Late Buying Activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market advanced on a burst of late buying activity Thursday.

Leadership in the late rally was provided by some of the steels and motors, leading electronics and scattered blue chips. The list showed a generally irregular price trend before buyers moved into the market in volume an hour before the close.

The concentration of favorable first quarter reports brought gains in a wide number of issues. R. J. Reynolds set new peaks in sales and earnings in the first period and the stock rose ⅜ to 64. Universal Match jumped 8¼ to 110¾ on sharp gains in sales and profits, while Revlon, with record results, rose 2⅞ to 55⅞.

Industrials closed at 630.12 up 3.62 in their average chiefly on gains of 1⅞ in Eastman Kodak, a point each in American Telephone and International Nickel, 1⅜ in General Electric and 2¼ in Owens-Illinois.

Electronics extended their early firmness in the late buying with gains of 2 or more in Magnavox, Texas Instruments and Amphenol, Borg Litton added around 1 and Raytheon more than 1. Motorola lost a point.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures were steady to moderately lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to up ⅛; corn unchanged to off 1¼; oats off ¼ to up ¼; rye off ⅜ to up ¼; and soybeans off ½ to up ⅛.

Much of Thursday's trade consisted of evening up prior to the weekend. The exchange will be closed Good Friday. Trading was very light.

May wheat rallied from an early-morning low of $2.05¼, more than 4 cents down from the season's high. The grain firmed on cash house buying before settling back near the close.

Local traders and commission houses sold wheat, and some stop loss orders were executed. The general trade was light. No export sales were reported, but Brazil was said to be in the market.

Corn futures were steady to weak. Export houses and some local traders, who had sold earlier, moved to the buying side. The September fell more than a cent. Export subsidies were granted on 1,593,000 bushels.

Oats were mostly steady. Commission houses and locals sold early but offerings soon diminished. Cash receipts were small. Unsettled weather was reported in parts of the grain belt, and some farmers were said to be three weeks behind in seeding operations.

Rye prices were little changed. A midwest house was a seller.

Exporters reported France took 4,000 tons and West Germany 1,000 tons of soybeans.

Cosmetic Camouflage

Most blemishes can be eliminated, or at least minimized, by modern methods and careful, intelligent treatment. But even those that cannot be cured can be artfully camouflaged by applying cosmetics correctly.

Broken veins under the surface of the cheek is one of the most common of these. And yet, surprisingly few women know the proper way to conceal them — suffering unnecessary grief as a result.

1. Never apply very hot water or ice to your face. Temperature extremes are dangerous. Content yourself with warm water for bathing your face and tepid for rinsing.

2. For you, both home and professional facials and massage are taboo. In lieu of them, to keep your skin smooth and line free, apply all your cosmetics and skin-care aide with light, upward and outward strokes, avoiding the veined areas whenever possible.

3. Never handle your face carelessly or roughly. Nothing but the feather touch is suitable for your skin.

Learn to apply your cosmetics as an expert camouflage that will tone down the unnatural flush resulting from the veins and cause them to retreat into the background.

Start with a base that has an opaque quality. By applying it sparingly and smoothing it evenly, it will not look as heavy as it is.

And here's a surprise! Next, camouflage the most insistent veins with rouge. Using a light shade of cream or fluid rouge and a lipstick brush, fill in the spaces between the veins on the upper cheek. Never touch the color to the veins themselves. You'll be astonished to see how this technique blends the veins with the rest of the cheek coloring.

Now blot your entire face with one layer of tissue spread over it like a mask. Firm it to every area of your face with the flat of your hands; then peel it off from the top downward in one piece. Press your powder on lavishly and remove the excess with light downward strokes.

Take a good look in your mirror. All your self-consciousness over those veins will vanish — because they have!

Of course, proper skin care in the first place will prevent your having to worry about blemish woes. An excellent epidermis is yours by following the simple steps in my booklet, "Secrets of Skin Care." To get your copy now, write me, c/o this paper, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Neely Deplores Conditions In State's Schools

KEYSER, W. Va. (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Harold Neely said here Thursday night the Legislature must solve West Virginia's educational problems.

Neely said it is the state's obligation to provide high standards and maximum incentive under which its schools and children can reach a high level of individual accomplishment.

"There is no full solution to our basic school problem except through Legislative action," Neely said. "It is urgently necessary for the incoming governor and Legislature to provide for these problems."

He cited the large number of public school teachers leaving the state for higher pay. Neely said less than 400 of the 1,000 new teachers graduating each year from the state's colleges elect to remain in West Virginia.

Ellerslie Plant To Be Rebuilt

A building permit for a new $10,000 manufacturing plant at Ellerslie was issued yesterday by the Allegany County assessment department to Harold's Kitchens Incorporated.

The 210 by 80 foot concrete block building will be constructed on a 3-4 acre tract at Ellerslie. This factory, operated by Harold Waingold, was destroyed April 1 by a spectacular $100,000 fire which attracted several hundred volunteer firemen from 10 companies.

Also issued Thursday was a permit for a new $5,500 frame house on Williams Road in Election District 3. Marshall Lee Fletcher Jr., RFD 1, Flintstone, obtained this permit for the 24 by 36 foot house.

$50,000 Warehouse Will Be Built On Wineow Street

The City of Cumberland yesterday issued a permit to Abraham Feldstein, LaVale, to build a $50,000 warehouse building on Wineow Street.

The one-story warehouse will front 210 feet on Wineow Street and will be 96 feet deep. It will be of concrete block construction with a built up roof.

The John I. Vandegrift Company, the contractor, plans to begin work immediately.

Church To Present Cantata Sunday

Living Stone Church of the Brethren, North Cedar and Second streets, will present the Easter cantata "The Risen King" at the 11 a.m. service Sunday, according to Rev. Connell T. Chaney, pastor.

Mrs. Chaney will direct the cantata and Miss Mary Ann Ludwick will be organist.

Those who will take part are Mrs. Earl Ashenfelter, Mrs. Orrie Royce, Mrs. Nello Caporossi Sr., Mrs. Lester Weimer, Miss Betty Abbott, Miss Delores McDonald, Miss Patty Weimer, Mrs. Clifton Shaffer, Mrs. Marguerite Snoberger, Miss Geraldine Weimer, Miss Rita Daniels, James Bowman, Eldridge Saville, Roy Bennett, Dan Cooper, Larry Royce, James Roby and Clifton Shaffer.

ACEI Selects Officer Slate

A new slate of officers of Allegany Branch, Association of Childhood Education, International has been approved and the installation will be made at the annual spring meeting to be held May 5, at 6:30 p. m. at the Clary Club.

The new officers include Ray Ralston, Parkside School, president; Norma Nelson, Hill Street School, Frostburg, first vice president; Mary Straw, Ellerslie School, second vice president; Mae Matthews, Penn Avenue School, corresponding secretary; Margaret King, Pennsylvania Avenue School, recording secretary; Amy Meek, Pennsylvania Avenue School, treasurer; and Margaret Doak, elementary supervisor, advisor.

The retiring officers are Mary Straw, president; Veronica Simpson, Central School, Lonaconing, first vice president; Ray Skidmore, Northeast, second vice president; Thomas Wagner, Centre Street School, recording secretary; Helen Kreiling, West Side School, corresponding secretary; Agnes Davis, Midland School, treasurer; Betty Flake, elementary supervisor, advisor.

Sign Is Planned At Traffic Island

The Maryland State Roads Commission will erect a sign at the traffic island built at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and North Mechanic Street, according to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Plans for the sign were made this week as City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, at Mr. Fleming's request, contacted John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer.

SRC officials told Mr. Nuzum they will plan, build and erect the sign at the intersection, directing traffic to Route 40 and Route 220.

151 Attend Polio Clinic

Free polio shots were given to 151 persons Wednesday at a clinic sponsored by the Allegany County Health Department, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

Included were 91 children, most of whom secured booster shots, and 60 adults, most of whom started the immunization course.

The next free polio immunization clinic will be held Wednesday, May 11, from 1 to 4:30 p. m. at the Health Department quarters in the Union Street county biulding.

Cancer Drive Chairmen Are Listed For Area

Community chairmen for the 1960 Cancer Crusade have been announced by Mrs. Lucile Roeder, president of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Robert Poling has been appointed chairman of the house-to-house solicitation for the campaign here. Heading the same project in Frostburg are Mrs. Charles Hill and Miss Christine Williams.

The appeal in the Westernport-Luke region is being handled by Mrs. Virgil Raines, who in addition to the house-to-house project, also is handling the solicitation of business firms. The overall project in the LaVale territory also is being handled by but one person, Mrs. Stella Twigg.

Mrs. Roeder said the chairmen are recruiting their own aides, but she issued an appeal for volunteers because of the vast scope of the County Crusade. She pointed out that many workers are needed as neighborhood and block captains, as well as for the house-to-house visitation.

There also is an urgent need for volunteers to assist with the other work connected with the campaign, Mrs. Roeder stated, explaining that help is needed with office and clerical duties as well as related obligations.

Herman L. Myers, general chairman of the county campaign, said a study of statistics should convince anyone of the importance of supporting the Cancer Crusade.

He points out that cancer strikes in two out of three households at one time or another. With prompt and proper treatment, he continued, half of those who get cancer can be saved. Mr. Myers said the unfortunate truth is that treatment isn't always prompt, with the consequence that only one in three patients are being saved.

Support of the Cancer Crusade with "a checkup and a check," the national slogan, not only can help save afflicted persons, but also can make funds available for research of the dread disease, Mr. Myers said in explaining that he hopes to double the approximately $11,000 that was contributed last year.

The music contains many of the hymns of the Passion of Jesus and of Easter. Mrs. Leon C. Hammond will provide organ accompaniment. Rev. Harold L. May, pastor, will give a brief Good Friday meditation.

Rejects Partitioning

CAIRO (UPI) — A spokesman for the Algerian rebel "government" has rejected "categorically and vehemently" any partitioning of Algeria. He referred to a television and radio speech made Wednesday in Algiers by French Premier Michel Debre.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Mozart's Masterpiece Comes To TV

Now and then, lightning flashes out of the twenty-one inch screen and illuminates the countryside. One of those occasions came Sunday when the NBC Opera company performed "Don Giovanni," Mozart's greatest opera and one of the imperishable masterpieces of all music and all literature.

I am an indifferent scholar of opera but you need bring very little but an open heart to Mozart's great work. It means different things to different people, but to anyone it's an overwhelming experience. It was presented in colors in its entirety. Well, there were some small excisions and the final anticlimactic passage, which ought to be cut anyhow, came out. Cesare Siepi sang the title role, heading a brilliant case. Peter Herman Adler conducted.

"Don Giovanni" is, of course, a stage piece of great glamour and splendor with its palaces and feasts and merry-making. On a small screen, some of the splendor fell away but the tremendously tight cumulative power of the dramatic narrative remained, under Kirk Browning's direction, as intense and explosive as ever. I can barely remember two and a half hours that fled past so rapidly on television.

The opera was sung in English, as all the NBC Operas are, the English translation being the work of W. H. Auden and Chester Kallman. It was a prosy if ingenious translation but it seemed eminently singable. (For me, it might as well be in Italian anyhow. I can hardly understand a word that is sung. Fortunately, NBC gave us English scripts.)

"Don Giovanni" ends NBC Opera's season of four operas, the others being "Fidelio," "Amal and the Night Visitors" (for the tenth time), and "Cavalleria Rusticana." Next year, NBC will again do four operas. (Might we get "Don Giovanni" again, please, and maybe some Puccini?)

NBC Opera, which has had its good seasons as well as its indifferent ones, is one of the small shining cultural beacons in particular of NBC and of television generally. I'm afraid I missed "Cavalleria Rusticana" but I saw "Fidelio," which is not a very good opera, but is frequently an ennobling experience musically.

But even if it had presented "Don Giovanni" all by itself it would have been a smash season. I think—after due consultation with the Restraint Editor—that "Don Giovanni" ranks right up there among one of the three or four of the greatest emotional thrills television has ever given me.

Incidentally, "Don Giovanni" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" were sponsored by the Florists Telegraph Delivery Association. Opera lovers may have been slightly horrified at the commercials intruding into their beloved score but the fact is that this sort of sponsorship is terribly important for a number of reaons. For one, it is part of a brand new awareness and support of good programming by sponsors and this has gained great impetus this year, largely as a result of the quiz scandals.

But more importantly, it means the opera is carried on many, many stations that would drop it if it were sustaining. The sponsored "Don Giovanni" was carried on 150 television stations to what was almost certainly the largest audience it ever played to.

Under our system of television that is the way things have to be. As between having commercials and not having "Don Giovanni" at all I think there is no question as to which is preferable. That's a great argument for pay television, too.

"Don Giovanni," as presented, is also an imposing argument on behalf of important and memorable and noble television as opposed to popular triviality. Long after, the viewer has forgotten what questions he heard on "I've Got a Secret" or what quiz show he saw, or even that he looked at television that night, he'll remember "Don Giovanni." In a more earthy sense, there is the impact on the press and all the good will the sponsor and network has won with the public and the FCC.

A fertile valley at the western end of the Grand Canyon shelters the most isolated Indian reservation in the United States, the National Geographic Society says. About 200 Havasupai Indians live there. An easy-going people, they till their fields no more than they have to, enjoy rodeos, card games, sweat baths and idle conversation.

Television and Radio

Mozart's Masterpiece Comes To TV

Now and then, lightning flashes out of the twenty-one inch screen and illuminates the countryside. One of those occasions came Sunday when the NBC Opera company performed "Don Giovanni," Mozart's greatest opera and one of the imperishable masterpieces of all music and all literature.

I am an indifferent scholar of opera but you need bring very little but an open heart to Mozart's great work. It means different things to different people, but to anyone it's an overwhelming experience. It was presented in colors in its entirety. Well, there were some small excisions and the final anticlimactic passage, which ought to be cut anyhow, came out. Cesare Siepi sang the title role, heading a brilliant case. Peter Herman Adler conducted.

"Don Giovanni" is, of course, a stage piece of great glamour and splendor with its palaces and feasts and merry-making. On a small screen, some of the splendor fell away but the tremendously tight cumulative power of the dramatic narrative remained, under Kirk Browning's direction, as intense and explosive as ever. I can barely remember two and a half hours that fled past so rapidly on television.

The opera was sung in English, as all the NBC Operas are, the English translation being the work of W. H. Auden and Chester Kallman. It was a prosy if ingenious translation but it seemed eminently singable. (For me, it might as well be in Italian anyhow. I can hardly understand a word that is sung. Fortunately, NBC gave us English scripts.)

"Don Giovanni" ends NBC Opera's season of four operas, the others being "Fidelio," "Amal and the Night Visitors" (for the tenth time), and "Cavalleria Rusticana." Next year, NBC will again do four operas. (Might we get "Don Giovanni" again, please, and maybe some Puccini?)

NBC Opera, which has had its good seasons as well as its indifferent ones, is one of the small shining cultural beacons in particular of NBC and of television generally. I'm afraid I missed "Cavalleria Rusticana" but I saw "Fidelio," which is not a very good opera, but is frequently an ennobling experience musically.

But even if it had presented "Don Giovanni" all by itself it would have been a smash season. I think—after due consultation with the Restraint Editor—that "Don Giovanni" ranks right up there among one of the three or four of the greatest emotional thrills television has ever given me.

Incidentally, "Don Giovanni" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" were sponsored by the Florists Telegraph Delivery Association. Opera lovers may have been slightly horrified at the commercials intruding into their beloved score but the fact is that this sort of sponsorship is terribly important for a number of reaons. For one, it is part of a brand new awareness and support of good programming by sponsors and this has gained great impetus this year, largely as a result of the quiz scandals.

But more importantly, it means the opera is carried on many, many stations that would drop it if it were sustaining. The sponsored "Don Giovanni" was carried on 150 television stations to what was almost certainly the largest audience it ever played to.

Under our system of television that is the way things have to be. As between having commercials and not having "Don Giovanni" at all I think there is no question as to which is preferable. That's a great argument for pay television, too.

"Don Giovanni," as presented, is also an imposing argument on behalf of important and memorable and noble television as opposed to popular triviality. Long after, the viewer has forgotten what questions he heard on "I've Got a Secret" or what quiz show he saw, or even that he looked at television that night, he'll remember "Don Giovanni." In a more earthy sense, there is the impact on the press and all the good will the sponsor and network has won with the public and the FCC.

A fertile valley at the western end of the Grand Canyon shelters the most isolated Indian reservation in the United States, the National Geographic Society says. About 200 Havasupai Indians live there. An easy-going people, they till their fields no more than they have to, enjoy rodeos, card games, sweat baths and idle conversation.

B&O Furloughs 90 Men At Keyser

The B&O Railroad announced that effective yesterday 90 workers in the shops at Keyser were furloughed.

Calvary Choir Program Today

The Calvary Methodist Choir under the direction of Miss Kathleen High, will sing the sacred cantata, "Hail the Victor" by Norman Stewart, today at 7:30 p. m.

The music contains many of the hymns of the Passion of Jesus and of Easter. Mrs. Leon C. Hammond will provide organ accompaniment. Rev. Harold L. May, pastor, will give a brief Good Friday meditation.

Rejects Partitioning

CAIRO (UPI) — A spokesman for the Algerian rebel "government" has rejected "categorically and vehemently" any partitioning of Algeria. He referred to a television and radio speech made Wednesday in Algiers by French Premier Michel Debre.

GOING CAMPING?
I'VE GOT THE ANSWER
"57"
WAGON
FORD DEL-RIO

Just picture yourself driving to camp in Thunderbird styling from front to rear, big car room and luxury. Enough room for Mom and the Kiddies plus all the camping equipment you would hope to take. This beautiful blue & ivory sweetheart is immaculate to the very last detail. True riding ease and comfort with road hugging performance with the revolutionary wide-contoured Ford frame. Ball joint suspension makes this sleek-winged beauty fly over roads smoother than the rest. Power plus with the unequaled T-BIRD engine. Equipment includes the positive Fordomatic transmission, radio, heater and defrosters, clock, padded dash and visors, safety steering wheel plus the fabulous Del-Rio deluxe interior.

Nothing short of the best in this rare show piece including all new tires to start with.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all our neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our Mother, Mrs. Christina McDonald. We also want to thank Rev. Wesley Harris, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

GOING CAMPING?
I'VE GOT THE ANSWER
"57"
WAGON
FORD DEL-RIO

Just picture yourself driving to camp in Thunderbird styling from front to rear, big car room and luxury. Enough room for Mom and the Kiddies plus all the camping equipment you would hope to take. This beautiful blue & ivory sweetheart is immaculate to the very last detail. True riding ease and comfort with road hugging performance with the revolutionary wide-contoured Ford frame. Ball joint suspension makes this sleek-winged beauty fly over roads smoother than the rest. Power plus with the unequaled T-BIRD engine. Equipment includes the positive Fordomatic transmission, radio, heater and defrosters, clock, padded dash and visors, safety steering wheel plus the fabulous Del-Rio deluxe interior.

Nothing short of the best in this rare show piece including all new tires to start with.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals, addressed to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, will be received at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, until 10:00 o'clock A. M., Local Time, April 25, 1960, at which time they will be publicly opened and read, for the improvement of the following streets:

The work consists of the leveling, patching and resurfacing of each street with a two (2) inch asphaltic concrete wearing course, all as shown on the contract plans which may be obtained at the office of the City Engineer, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the City. Each proposal must be accompanied by a Certified Check drawn to the order of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, in the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), which check will be forfeited as liquidated damages in the case of an award being made and the contract not properly executed within ten days after the mailing of the notice of award.

The checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned after the contract is awarded.

Each proposal must clearly indicate on the outside of the envelope the street or streets for which the bid is submitted.

County Sewage Problem Is Termed Urgent

Rating Based On Health Unit Study

CHEVERLY, Md. (AP) — Six Maryland counties have sewerage problems which are of "major severity and urgency," the State Board of Health was told Thursday.

The counties were identified as Anne Arundel, Harford, Allegany, Garrett, Somerset and Worcester by Robert M. Brown, chief of the State Health Department's Bureau of Environmental Hygiene.

The report was submitted at a meeting of the board, the policy-making group of the health department, in the Prince Georges County Health Center.

Conditions called important but under reasonable control existed in Baltimore, Calvert, Charles, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Queen Annes and Talbot counties.

Counties with problems of "minor nature" were Frederick, Kent and St. Marys.

The rating system was developed after several months of study, Brown explained. Counties were judged on the proportion of urban population needing sewers, raw sewerage discharges, problems caused by individual sewage disposal systems, obstacles in sewerage-work financing, and plans for meeting sewerage problems.

The "major severity and urgency" rating was listed as the worst.

1958 Graduates Are Studied In State Survey

All 953 of the 1958 graduates of Allegany County's eight public high schools are being asked to cooperate in a state-wide survey, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Beginning Wednesday, questionnaires were mailed to all of the high school graduates of two years ago. Included were 304 from Fort Hill, 225 from Allegany, 135 from Beall, 101 from Valley, 83 from Bruce, 62 from Mt. Savage, 23 from Flintstone and 20 from Oldtown High School.

Mr. Rizer explained that the clerical staff in each high school spent about three weeks checking to get the proper addresses for all of the graduates of 1958. They were about 98 per cent successful.

The first objective of the survey is to obtain the ocupational distribution of the 1958 graduates including those attending college and engaged in military service. Secondly, the survey directors want to find the relationship of the present occupation of each graduate with the course taken in high school.

Finally, the third objective is an evaluation of courses taken in high school in terms of those which have been most beneficial and those which have been least helpful.

Mr. Rizer emphasized that the data which will be obtained will be used in developing policies and standards for high schools throughout the state. All counties in Maryland are participating.

All 1958 graduates are requested to fill out and return the questionnaires as soon as possible to the school from which they were graduated. Each principal will classify the questionnaires returned to his school and return them to the Board of Education office by May 15.

Each student is urged to participate as state school authorities feel the results obtained will be very important in shaping high school standards and programs in future years.

Franklin Street Work Slated Today

The second quarterly meeting of the United Lutheran Men of Allegany County will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Frostburg, on Friday, April 22 at 6:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Glenn L. Archer, executive director for the past 11 years of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

A native of Kansas, Mr. Archer was educated in schools of Kansas, Colorado, Illinois and Iowa and graduated from Greenville (Ill.) College. Later he did graduate work in education at the University of Colorado.

He received his law degree from Washburn University, Topeka, Kans., and became dean of the Law School there. He did graduate work in corporation law at Northwestern University.

Mr. Archer has been listed in "Who's Who in America," and in other education and legal honorary groups.

179 Sign Up For Voting In County

Some 179 Allegany County citizens became qualified voters by registering yesterday — the next to last day to register before the May 17 primary election.

Of the new registrants, 111 or 62 per cent signed up as Republicans, to 68 Democrats. Only at the County Board of Election Supervisors' headquarters in the Court House basement did the Democrats gain the edge. There 35 Democrats and 22 Republicans were registered.

Figures submitted to John R. Kelly, Democratic registrar and chief clerk of the County Board of Election Supervisors, showed that Republicans heavily outregistered Democrats in Lonaconing, Westernport, Mt. Savage and Frostburg.

Lonaconing city hall had the heaviest registration activity outside of Cumberland and there 45 Republicans and 10 Democrats were added. Mt. Savage registered 16 Republicans and 10 Democrats. Frostburg counted 14 Republicans and nine Democrats while those registered at Westernport included 14 Republicans and four Democrats.

There will be no registration activity today because of the Good Friday state holiday.

Tomorrow will be the final day to sign up until 10 days after the May 17 primary election. The Board of Election Supervisors' office in the Court House basement will be open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. The hours at the city halls in Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport and the Mt. Savage community building are 1 until 5 p. m. and 6 until 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Will Visit Corps

Major Sven Ruthstein, Baltimore, will take part in Easter Sunday services at the Salvation Army Citadel. He is public relations secretary for the Salvation Army's Maryland and Northern West Virginia division.

13 High School Teachers Get Scholarships

Will Spend Summer Attending Colleges

At least 13 and possibly as many as 17 high school teachers in Allegany County public schools have been granted college scholarships for this summer in the areas of science, mathematics, foreign languages and guidance, according to Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools.

Principals of the various county schools have notified Mr. Petry which of their teachers have been awarded scholarships for summer study. These scholarships have been awarded on the basis of background, experience and present teaching assignment.

There is considerable competition for most of these scholarships for advanced work in a particular field.

Among the scholarship recipients is John R. Garrett, teacher at Cresaptown Junior High School, who will do graduate study in physics and chemistry at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. Two Fort Hill teachers who have won summer scholarships are Miss Christine F. Alderton, mathematics teacher, Ohio Wesleyan, Delaware, Ohio, and John L. Reed, science teacher, Pennsylvania State University.

Leslie C. Amtower, Mt. Savage mathematics teacher, George Washington University, Washington, D.C.; Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, Valley biology teacher, West Virginia University; Mrs. Hilda B. Byers, Valley mathematics teacher, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J.; J. Paul Frase, Valley science teacher, California (Pa.) State Teachers College. Raymond R. Pomeroy, Beall High science teacher, Randolph - Macon College, Ashland, Va.

Also, Eugene C. Harris, Flintstone science teacher, Agricultural and Technical College, Greensboro, N.C.; James T. Jeffries, Flintstone mathematics teacher, University of Vermont; Daniel S. Evans Jr., Allegany mathematics teacher, Michigan State University, East Lansing; James G. Neilson, Allegany algebra teacher, Bowling Green (Ohio) State University, and Edward J. Schwarz, Allegany mathematics teacher, George Washington University.

Those who have been named alternates for summer scholarships include William M. Leeson, Fort Hill science teacher, first alternate at Virginia Polytechnic Institute; Ralph P. Wimer, Fort Hill guidance director, alternate at University of Maryland; Ronald L. Sheally, guidance director at Oldtown, alternate at University of Maryland, and Donald F. Garlitz, Allegany science teacher, alternate at West Virginia University.

Traffic Islands Are Built At Y Intersection

Traffic islands were built yesterday at Cumberland's most vexing traffic maze — the Central YMCA intersection.

The blacktop islands were laid yesterday by Street Department crews according to a plan made by the City Engineering Department and approved by the State Roads Commission.

The plan was set in motion Monday when Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming asked the Engineering Department to expedite the traffic control plan.

The intersection has been pretty much a free-for-all since a metal marker of the "iron policeman" type was taken down a number of years ago.

Moose Lily Parade Officials

Shown above are five members of the committee from Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, which will sponsor and direct the city's second "Lily Parade" Saturday in connection with the Easter Seal campaign sponsored by the Allegany County League For Crippled Children. The paper lilies, worn by committeemen and displayed by Joseph McFarland, center, chairman, will be offered the public for whatever it wishes to donate. Girls in bunny costumes will assist. Seated, left to right, are Kenny Wise, Mr. McFarland, and Arthur Gellner. Standing, same order, are Ed Roberts and George Thomas.

Tax Limit Is Extended To Monday

If you haven't filed your 1957 Maryland state income tax return or your federal income tax return, relax and enjoy the Easter weekend—the filing date for both has been extended through Monday.

The office of Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller, has notified the local office managed by Edward V. Welsh, that the extension was granted since Good Friday, a state holiday, falls on the 15th of April, the usual date for filing.

Mr. Welsh said his office at 9 Market Street will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday to assist those taxpayers who wait until the last minute to file.

State income tax returns must be mailed by midnight, Monday, April 18, according to Mr. Welsh, who said that during the past two weeks over 200 persons came to the office each day to get assistance or pay their taxes.

During the final week last year the daily average was about 400 persons. Those with refunds this year filed early, he said, causing quite a rush in January.

You can file your federal income tax return and pay it at the offices of the Internal Revenue Service at the Post Office all day Monday. The offices will close at 5 p.m.

Cresaptown Aerie Host To FOE Meet

The visit will be in conjunction with the April district meeting. At noon Sunday the officers will meet in session and at 2 p. m. the district meeting will be called to order.

Steve Thomas, past state president of the Pennsylvania state aerie and a member of the "Jobs After 40" committee of the Grand Aerie, will be the main speaker at the district meeting.

Civil Service Unit To Give Four Exams

Will Be Offered Early In May

The Allegany County Civil Service Commission is completing plans to give four examinations during the first week of May, according to Mrs. Joan S. Burke, secretary.

Three of the four examinations concern positions in the office of Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff. The commission, which now includes W. Eric Gibbs, chairman; Woodward D. Pealer and Charles L. Kopp, has ruled that these positions should now be brought under civil service.

Plans call for the examinations for deputy collector and chief tax clerk to be conducted at 7:30 p. m. Monday, May 2. Both positions require that the applicant be a high school or business college graduate and in both positions the appointee must be able to furnish bond. For deputy collector, the bond will be $50,000 and for chief tax clerk $25,000.

Tests Scheduled

Isaac J. Smith is now the deputy collector and Mrs. Grace F. Wilson is the chief clerk.

Examinations for positions as tax clerks in the collector's office and for roads department mechanic will be given at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 4, at Fort Hill High School. The tax clerks also must have a high school or business college education, must be able to keep books and handle cash. Their required bonds are $15,000.

The mechanic requirements include two years' experience in the mechanical repairs of motor vehicles and gasoline and diesel-powered road equipment. Applicants must have lived in Allegany County at least two years. This job carries with it a $3,200 annual salary.

Forms Available

Present clerks in the tax collector's office are Miss Barbara Hall, Miss Janet Wilhelm and Mrs. Anne C. Perdew.

Mrs. Burke explained that applications for all four of these examinations are available from her office in the law library on

Moose Lodges To Sponsor 'Lily Parade' Tomorrow

Moose lodges in Cumberland and Frostburg will conduct "Lily Parades" tomorrow in connection with the annual Easter Seal Sale campaign of the Allegany County League For Crippled Children.

Locally, Lodge 271 will be sponsoring the parade for the sixth straight year. It will be staged between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. and for the second Saturday, girls from Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools, attired in bunny costumes, will assist. Last Saturday, the girls were on hand when Aerie 245 Fraternal Order of Eagles was in charge of the "Lily Parade" and helped to set a record of $683.40 for the event.

Joseph McFarland, chairman of the Cumberland Moose committee, said in the past five years the lodge has collected $1,316.32 for the benefit of the League. White, paper lilies are offered the public for whatever it wishes to contribute.

Largest amount collected by the Moose was in 1955 when it reported $348. It collected $343.50 in 1958; $251.30 in 1956; $192.50 in 1957 and last year $181.22.

Assisting McFarland in Saturday's drive are Arthur Gellner, William Carroll, Kenneth Wise, Russell Minnicks, Lonnie Jackson, John Angellatta, Jim Angellatta, George Thomas, Edward Roberts, Jack Vernall, Jim Mulligan and Francis Becker.

Simultaneously, Frostburg Moose Lodge 348, directed by Rudolph B. Lewis, lodge governor, assisted by his wife, will be conducting that town's Lily Parade. Assisting will be Fuller Davis, Elmer Smith, Clyde Harden and Andrew Hargosh, lodge members. Several boys from the community will also participate, Lewis said.

The Easter Seal Sale campaign continues through Easter Sunday.

George A. Schwarzenbach, Seal Sale chairman for the county, urged those who have not sent in contributions for Easter Seals or those who would desire to give "Lucky Bucks" to do so as soon as possible.

"We are highly gratified at the Lily Parade response last Saturday and hope that the public will once again be as generous as possible this week. I wish to express my appreciation to all volunteers who have and are conducting the campaign for us.

"Money contributed to the Easter Seal campaign accounts for one-third of the League For Crippled Children's income annually and provides necessary services and therapy for handicapped children and adults with the cooperation of local and state health departments," Schwarzenbach said.

Watershed Bill Is Broadened

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Thursday passed a House bill to broaden the federal aid for 11 watershed improvement projects.

Under present law, the U.S. assistance is limited to flood prevention aspects of the projects.

The bill would end this limitation on federal costs and also would make it possible for states or local governments to borrow from Washington their share of the improvement costs.

The watersheds include the Potomac River, Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

It goes back to the House for consideration of a Senate amendment designed to make it clear the loans to finance the local share of costs could cover both flood prevention and other types of improvement work.

Economic Study Slated For Area

Preliminary plans for an economic development survey of Western Maryland were made at a meeting held here yesterday.

The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce offices and was attended by officials of the Maryland Department of Economic Development, the Cumberland Industrial Development Corporation, Allegany County and the Chamber of Commerce.

The Department of Economic Development was represented by Robert C. Snyder, who conferred with J. L. Towler, Leonard C. Neff Jr., CIDC director; Frank T. Powers, director, and James H. Close, of the Bureau of Mines, County Commissioner John T. Mason; Robert C. Petersen, C Of C manager; Francis A. Kenney, DES manager, and Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

The meeting was called primarily for gathering information about Western Maryland, officials said.

Officials said the session is expected to result in a survey of this area's economic development possibilities sponsored by the recently created Department of Economic Development.

Three Youths Are Arrested In Larcenies

All Will Face Juvenile Action

Three youngsters, 12 and 13 years of age, who were arrested by local authorities in connection with three cases of larceny and later released in the custody of their parents, will face Juvenile Court action, police said.

With the arrest of the youngsters, police cleared up thefts of a bicycle, a large rabbit, two bantam chickens, and a bubble gum vending machine which had been taken from a local business establishment.

The three youngsters were later arrested by City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van, who said the bicycle was in their possession.

The bike, he said, had been stripped of a horn, light, pump, grips and other accessories, and the gear shift controls were broken.

The same youngsters reportedly took the rabbit and two chickens from Moses Bennett, 300 Willowbrook Road. The animals were found later on the property of the father of one of the boys, police said.

They are also reported implicated in the theft of the gum vending machine which was taken from a store on Marion Street. Bubble gum and $5.13 were missing from the machine, which was recovered.

A Frostburg resident, Ronald D. Folk, told police that someone removed two black fender skirts from his car while it was parked on Washington Street near the library.

A Pine Avenue resident reported to police that someone removed several dozen items of women's underclothing from the clothes line in the yard between 4 a.m. and 6 a.m.

Company 'C' Gets Summer Training Dates

Company "C" First Medium Tank Battalion, 115th Armor, 29th Infantry Division has been assigned its summer training dates at the Army Armor Training Center at Fort Knox, Ky.

Capt. Eugene M. Light, commanding officer of the local unit, said Company "C" will train at Fort Knox from June 25 to July 9.

Capt. Light also announced no drill will be held at the new Armory next Wednesday and the next weekly training session will be conducted April 27.

In personnel changes within the local unit, J. O. Wilson, Company "C" first sergeant announced that Pvt. Jerry J. Fletcher has been relieved of assignment in Headquarters Company of the First Medium Tank Battalion and has been transferred to Company "C".

Pvt. Robert E. Brant was relieved of assignment in Company "C" and reassigned to Headquarters Company, and Arthur G. Byrl was sworn in recently as a recruit.

The local unit announced there are six vacancies available and veterans or men without prior service may enlist.

Landowners Cooperating To Open Fishing Areas

In an effort to improve public relations between landowners and fishermen, the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, with the cooperation of its Fish Division personnel in Region 1, has adopted a new program.

Instead of posting property with "No Trespass" signs, landowners are agreeing to permit the posting of "Welcome" signs and the erection of stiles at strategic places to keep their fences from being torn down.

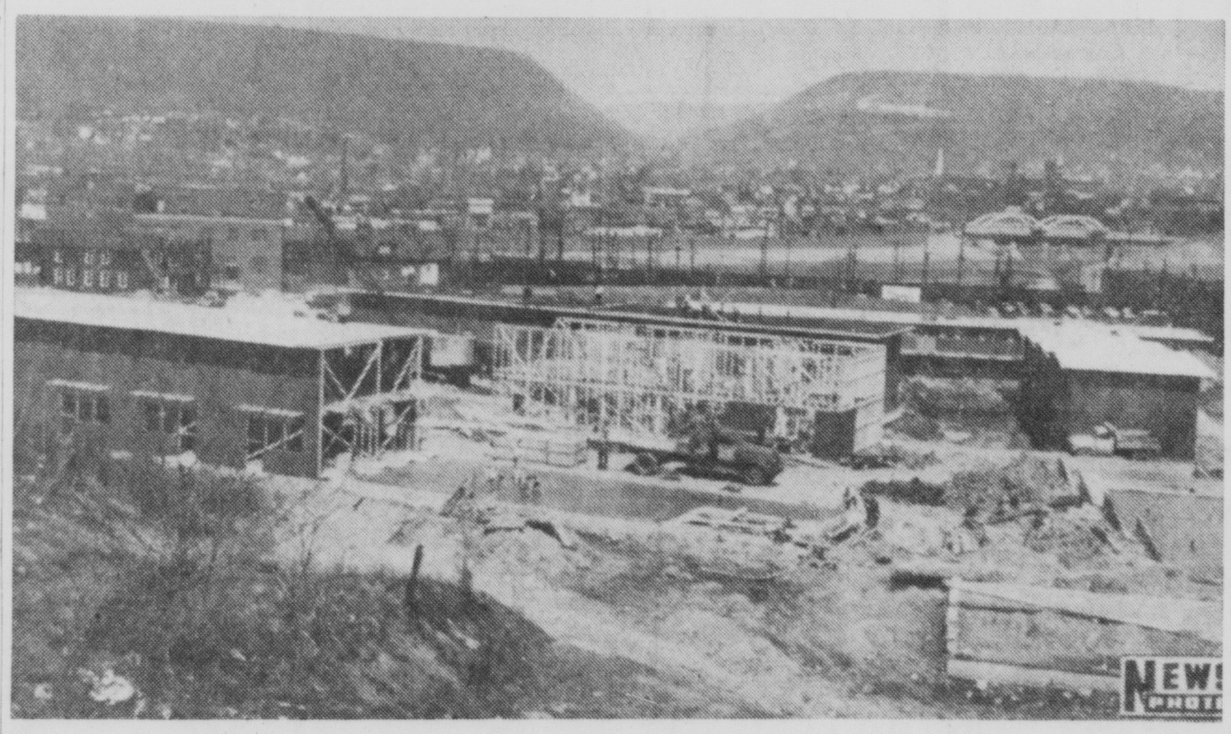
Twenty-seven stiles and signs have been erected at several points and more are planned. The stiles are painted a bright yellow and serve as an easy means of crossing fences. Adjacent to each stile is a sign asking fishermen to respect the private property they are passing over and requesting that fishermen not become "litterbugs."

The signs and stiles were erected by William E. Harmon, regional fish culturist, with the help of Cecil Edwards, his assistant, and Dennis Margroff.

The streams which are made accessible as a result of these stiles and signs are all on private property, and without this cooperation would have been posted against trespassing. Mill Run near Oldtown is now open to fishermen.

Game and Inland Fish representatives said they believe this new step may help remind fishermen that they have a responsibility to property owners on whose property they practice their sport. If they do, then the property owners will be inclined to permit fishing and to extend them a welcome. The reason land and streams are frequently posted, they point out, is that fences are broken down, land is littered, and other damage is often thoughtlessly done.

With the opening of trout season today, fish and game personnel urged that all anglers cooperate with this program and exercise all the rules of courtesy and good sportsmanship.



Fort Cumberland Homes Go Up

Units of the Cumberland Housing Authority's third low-rent housing project are popping up like spring bulbs in the area between Oldtown Road and Thomas Street. Crews in the center have almost completed the balloon-type framing of one unit and are starting to apply insulated sheeting on the sides. Plywood panels are being used to support a built-up roof on the unit to the left. Another crew is completing the concrete slab foundation for the partly completed unit in the foreground. Brick veneer is being used to complete the walls and aluminum windows will provide light and ventilation.

County Sewage Problem Is Termed Urgent

Rating Based On Health Unit Study

CHEVERLY, Md. (AP) — Six Maryland counties have sewerage problems which are of "major severity and urgency," the State Board of Health was told Thursday.

The counties were identified as Anne Arundel, Harford, Allegany, Garrett, Somerset and Worcester by Robert M. Brown, chief of the State Health Department's Bureau of Environmental Hygiene.

The report was submitted at a meeting of the board, the policy-making group of the health department, in the Prince Georges County Health Center.

Sewerage conditions described as "severe with need for prompt attention" were noted for Howard, Carroll, Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Washington and Wicomico counties.

Conditions called important but under reasonable control existed in Baltimore, Calvert, Charles, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Queen Annes and Talbot counties.

Counties with problems of "minor nature" were Frederick, Kent and St. Marys.

The rating system was developed after several months of study, Brown explained. Counties were judged on the proportion of urban population needing sewers, raw sewerage discharges, problems caused by individual sewage disposal systems, obstacles in sewerage-work financing, and plans for meeting sewerage problems.

The "major severity and urgency" rating was listed as the worst.

1958 Graduates Are Studied In State Survey

All 953 of the 1958 graduates of Allegany County's eight public high schools are being asked to cooperate in a state-wide survey, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Beginning Wednesday, questionnaires were mailed to all of the high school graduates of two years ago. Included were 304 from Fort Hill, 225 from Allegany, 135 from Beall, 101 from Valley, 83 from Bruce, 62 from Mt. Savage, 23 from Flintstone and 20 from Oldtown High School.

Mr. Rizer explained that the clerical staff in each high school spent about three weeks checking to get the proper addresses for all of the graduates of 1958. They were about 98 per cent successful.

Each of the nearly 1,000 graduates has been sent a three-way folder with a self-addressed, stamped section.

The first objective of the survey is to obtain the ocupational distribution of the 1958 graduates including those attending college and engaged in military service. Secondly, the survey directors want to find the relationship of the present occupation of each graduate with the course taken in high school.

Finally, the third objective is an evaluation of courses taken in high school in terms of those which have been most beneficial and those which have been least helpful.

Mr. Rizer emphasized that the data which will be obtained will be used in developing policies and standards for high schools throughout the state. All counties in Maryland are participating.

All 1958 graduates are requested to fill out and return the questionnaires as soon as possible to the school from which they were graduated. Each principal will classify the questionnaires returned to his school and return them to the Board of Education office by May 15.

Each student is urged to participate as state school authorities feel the results obtained will be very important in shaping high school standards and programs in future years.

Last Saturday, the girls were on hand when Aerie 245 Fraternal Order of Eagles was in charge of the "Lily Parade" and helped to set a record of $683.40 for the event.

Joseph McFarland, chairman of the Cumberland Moose committee, said in the past five years the lodge has collected $1,316.32 for the benefit of the League. White, paper lilies are offered the public for whatever it wishes to contribute.

Largest amount collected by the Moose was in 1955 when it reported $348. It collected $343.50 in 1958; $251.30 in 1956; $192.50 in 1957 and last year $181.22.

Assisting McFarland in Saturday's drive are Arthur Gellner, William Carroll, Kenneth Wise, Russell Minnicks, Lonnie Jackson, John Angellatta, Jim Angellatta, George Thomas, Edward Roberts, Jack Vernall, Jim Mulligan and Francis Becker.

Simultaneously, Frostburg Moose Lodge 348, directed by Rudolph B. Lewis, lodge governor, assisted by his wife, will be conducting that town's Lily Parade. Assisting will be Fuller Davis, Elmer Smith, Clyde Harden and Andrew Hargosh, lodge members. Several boys from the community will also participate, Lewis said.

The Easter Seal Sale campaign continues through Easter Sunday.

George A. Schwarzenbach, Seal Sale chairman for the county, urged those who have not sent in contributions for Easter Seals or those who would desire to give "Lucky Bucks" to do so as soon as possible.

"We are highly gratified at the Lily Parade response last Saturday and hope that the public will once again be as generous as possible this week. I wish to express my appreciation to all volunteers who have and are conducting the campaign for us.

"Money contributed to the Easter Seal campaign accounts for one-third of the League For Crippled Children's income annually and provides necessary services and therapy for handicapped children and adults with the cooperation of local and state health departments," Schwarzenbach said.

Economic Study Slated For Area

Preliminary plans for an economic development survey of Western Maryland were made at a meeting held here yesterday.

The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce offices and was attended by officials of the Maryland Department of Economic Development, the Cumberland Industrial Development Corporation, Allegany County and the Chamber of Commerce.

The Department of Economic Development was represented by Robert C. Snyder, who conferred with J. L. Towler, Leonard C. Neff Jr., CIDC director; Frank T. Powers, director, and James H. Close, of the Bureau of Mines. County Commissioner John T. Mason; Robert C. Petersen, C Of C manager; Francis A. Kenney, DES manager, and Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

The meeting was called primarily for gathering information about Western Maryland, officials said.

Subjects included area industries, mineral reserves, water supply and educational facilities, including vocational subjects.

Officials said the session is expected to result in a survey of this area's economic development possibilities sponsored by the recently created Department of Economic Development.

Fort Cumberland Homes Go Up

Watershed Bill Is Broadened

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Thursday passed a House bill to broaden the federal aid for 11 watershed improvement projects.

Under present law, the U.S. assistance is limited to flood prevention aspects of the projects.

The bill would end this limitation on federal costs and also would make it possible for states or local governments to borrow from Washington their share of the improvement costs.

It goes back to the House for consideration of a Senate amendment designed to make it clear the loans to finance the local share of costs could cover both flood prevention and other types of improvement work.

Landowners Cooperating To Open Fishing Areas

In an effort to improve public relations between landowners and fishermen, the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, with the cooperation of its Fish Division personnel in Region 1, has adopted a new program.

Instead of posting property with "No Trespass" signs, landowners are agreeing to permit the posting of "Welcome" signs and the erection of stiles at strategic places to keep their fences from being torn down.

Twenty-seven stiles and signs have been erected at several points and more are planned. The stiles are painted a bright yellow and serve as an easy means of crossing fences. Adjacent to each stile is a sign asking fishermen to respect the private property they are passing over and requesting that fishermen not become "litterbugs."

The signs and stiles were erected by William E. Harmon, regional fish culturist, with the help of Cecil Edwards, his assistant, and Dennis Margroff.

The streams which are made accessible as a result of these stiles and signs are all on private property, and without this cooperation would have been posted against trespassing. Mill Run near Oldtown is now open to fishermen.

Game and Inland Fish representatives said they believe this new step may help remind fishermen that they have a responsibility to property owners on whose property they practice their sport. If they do, then the property owners will be inclined to permit fishing and to extend them a welcome. The reason land and streams are frequently posted, they point out, is that fences are broken down, land is littered, and other damage is often thoughtlessly done.

With the opening of trout season today, fish and game personnel urged that all anglers cooperate with this program and exercise all the rules of courtesy and good sportsmanship.
